President's Scheme for Inheritance and Income Tax Expected to Convulse the Country.

AIMS AT GREAT FORTUNES

Purpose Is Not to Gain Revenue, but to Prevent Transmission of Big Estates from Father to Son.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—There is every reason to believe that within the next week or two the country will be convulsed with a financial and economic discussion which will so far overshadow other things that it will occupy the attention of congress and the people to the exclusion of many other topics of perhaps greater importance.

Congressmen arriving here within the last few days say there is extraordinary interest manifested throughout the country in the stand to be taken by the president regarding the proposed legislation to strike at exaggerated fortunes. His speeches last spring and later at the dedication of the Pennsylvania statehouse foreshadow the recommendations he will make to congress.

An inheritance tax and an income tax, graduated in such a way as to operate harshly against great fortunes and most leniently against moderate incomes, seem to have aroused interest from diverse points of view and largely according to the section of the country. A system of taxation not on a revenue basis but on a punitive basis is what President Roosevelt expects to propose to congress, and the proposal is so radical, it attacks so many vested interests, that in the opinion of shrewd observers here it will provoke a discussion in and out of congress of far greater proportions than that which was stirred up by the president's unexpected demand for railroad rate legislation.

Strikes a Popular Chord.

It will be remembered that the president's recommendation for reform in the railroad situation so as to give the interstate commerce commission power to fix rates came like a thunderbolt from a clear sky. In less than a week the country was in a ferment because a popular chord had been struck, although the agitation before that time in the same direction seemed to arouse no popular enthusiasm.

There was a suspicion of socialism about that proposition which was seized upon at once by the railroads and by all their allied interests. But the people looking the situation in the face determined that governmental regulation was not governmental ownership, and from the day that paragraph in the message was made public until the rate law was finally passed by congress there was no time during which the demand for such reform showed any signs of diminishing.

The railroads resorted to delay, they established literary bureaus, they went to immense expense in their endeavor to educate the public to their point of view, but without the slightest indication of success at any time.

More Socialistic than Rate Idea.

According to congressmen who have returned to Washington for a few days, and who had their ears to the ground during the campaign, the country is in a frame of mind to lash itself into a condition of perhaps hysteria by the proposition to limit the size of great fortunes by preventing their descending from one generation to another and by attacking living incomes, without which fortunes cannot easily increase.

The proposition is perhaps much more socialistic than that for the regulation of railroad rates, but the indications are that it will prove even more popular. On the other hand, there will be a great outcry from people who have swollen fortunes, from the great corporations, and from all those allied interests which have been knit together nowadays in such a way as to consolidate railroads and build up the all powerful trusts.

This coming fight between the man of moderate means and the rich man promises to take on extraordinary proportions. Representatives of the people who come from the west say that an inheritance tax and an income tax are by no means unpopular even in cities and among a certain class of moderately rich men.

New England May Rebel.

On the other hand, reports from New England, and particularly Boston, indicate that people in that vicinity are becoming badly frightened over the possible results of the president's proposed attack on unhealthy fortunes. New England people fear that he will rouse the greedy spirit among the people and that when they once learn that they can constitutionally tax fortunes and incomes, there will be no bounds to the exercise of their power.

New England people, it is said, will bombard the president the remainder of this week with letters and telegrams, urging him not to present this subject to congress or to do so only in such vague form that it will not become necessary to take action.

It should be understood distinctly in the first place that President Roosevelt has not advocated and will not advocate any mere scheme of taxation for revenue only. He wants to prevent the accumulation of great fortunes, on the theory that wealth beyond a certain measure, when concentrated in the hands of any one man, is a danger to the community, and should be prevented by an exercise of police power or the taxing power of the government.

How Income Tax Works.

This kind of an inheritance tax and this kind of an income tax is a novelty. Many states like Illinois and New York tax inheritances and derive a large income in that way. The country had an income tax under the Wilson law passed in 1894, and it gave promise of rolling up an enormous revenue without being seriously burdensome on the people. Great Britain has an income tax today which includes rents as well as ordinary incomes, and which produces approximately now nearly $5,000,000,000 a year.

But that is not what President Roosevelt is aiming at. Great Britain is the greatest capitalistic country in the world. Its monarchy and its parliament are controlled absolutely by the great wealthy middle class, and yet it submits to an income tax as a fair means of raising revenue. The president's notion is much more radical. If he has an income tax, he wants it so devised that it will bear lightly upon men of moderate incomes but will "soak" those who measure their annual gain by hundreds of thousands and even by millions or tens of millions.

An income tax depends on its rate. If

TILLMAN TO TALK AS POLICE GUARD.

WILL HAVE BIG ESCORT.

Committee of Colored Men Vainly Offers $5,000 for Abandonment of Meeting and Lecture.

Senator Ben Tillman, who will speak tonight at Orchestra hall on "The Annexation of Cuba," will be guarded vigilantly against any possible negro uprising or any individual violence from the moment of his arrival in the city.

Detectives, uniformed policemen commanded by Assistant Chief Schuettler, and volunteer guards will escort him from the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train that will bring the senator from Platteville, Wis., at 1:05 in the afternoon. They never will leave him until he has delivered his lecture and entered the train on which he is to depart.

C. A. Coey will meet Mr. Tillman at the station with an automobile. The escort will be composed of Mrs. Adele J. Keeler, financial agent of the Chicago Union hospital, for the benefit of which the lecture will be given, and Mrs. Warren Springer. The volunteer guards will be "Texas" Rickard, the impresario of the Gans-Nelson fight, and G. W. Levin, who works in the city hall. Mr. Levin formerly was a confederate trooper, and he will be armed after the fashion of Mosby's cavalry.

Offer of $5,000 to Call Lecture Off.

A guarantee of $5,000 made by a committee representing Chicago negroes to the hospital fund if the lecture were abandoned was spurned by Mrs. Keeler. It had no more effect than threats of violence or of legal proceedings or Mayor Dunne's refusal to act as chairman of the meeting.

After Col. J. Hamilton Lewis, following the example of the mayor, also had sidestepped the offer to act as chairman, saying that he had to be in Springfield to look after the city's interests in the tax litigation, Attorney Miles S. Bacon agreed to act as chairman. He has an office in the Association building, came from Georgia, and is a friend of Senator Tillman.

A committee composed of the Rev. A. J. Carey of Bethel church, Dr. Charles E. Bentley, a State street dentist, and Julius F. Taylor, editor of the Broadax, went over to the office of Mrs. Keeler on the ninth floor of the Tacoma building in the afternoon to see if she would take $5,000 and call the lecture off. Mr. Taylor is as black as Booker T. Washington and the other two look like white men.

Quotes Mayor Dunne.

"You understand Mayor Dunne's position. Can't we induce you to abandon this lecture?" began Mr. Carey. Mrs. Keeler had the mayor's letter before her, in which he declined to act because Senator Tillman, in a recent speech, was reported to have said: "I believe in shotgun practices and assassination to maintain white supremacy," and, "I would at any time lead a mob to lynch a man who had attacked a woman," and "lynch law is the only law we have left."

Mayor Dunne said he wasn't in sympathy, personally or officially, with mob law, lynch law, or assassination.

"Play for Negro Vote."

"O, yes, I've read the mayor's letter," said Mrs. Keeler, "and this morning I told him what I thought of it. He wants to play for the negro vote. It's immaterial, anyway. We've a real southern gentleman, a former confederate officer and an orator, to introduce the senator."

"We are prepared to offer the hospital an indemnity of $5,000," said the Broadax editor.

"Couldn't consider such a proposition for a minute," Mrs. Keeler said, decisively. "I wouldn't insult Senator Tillman for $25,000. Besides, we expect to make $7,000 or $8,000 out of this lecture. You're the man who started all this trouble," and she looked daggers at the editor.

She's a short, busy little woman, who speaks her mind. Her husband, a quiet man with long chin whiskers, was in another office of the suite.

Negro Hurt in Brawl.

"Look at that colored man who was hurt," said the editor, referring to a local brawl, due, it was alleged, to the Tillman controversy.

"O, you colored people always are getting into some brawl," Mrs. Keeler answered. Dr. Bentley to hide his emotion went out into the hall. He threatened an injunction.

"It intensifies the feeling between the races," pleaded Mr. Carey. "The senator's speeches do us injury. He is opposed to the negro exercising the right of franchise and he has said he would fill the negro voter full of lead and bury him face downward."

There was some more talk, but no moving Mrs. Keeler. She said the tickets all had been sold except a few that had been returned by women who feared to go because there might be shooting.

Thinks Money Offer a Bluff.

"I think that offer of $5,000 was just a bluff, anyway," said Mrs. Keeler afterwards. "I had a talk with the hospital management and they said, 'Go ahead with the lecture.' Senator Tillman is not here to talk on lynch law. He's to talk on the annexation of Cuba, and, of course, anyone of intelligence knows that will bring out the race question.

"I'm not anticipating any violence. Chief Collins has told us we can have 1,500 policemen if necessary, including all the mounted officers. Every negro who goes into the hall will be watched, except men like Mr. Carey, or Mr. Taylor, or Mr. Bentley. Of course, they won't do any harm. The gallery especially will be watched. There's where the trouble will come if there is any."

Plenty of Chance to "Differ."

"Will any intelligent, respectful negro who wants to answer Senator Tillman be allowed to speak?" Mrs. Keeler was asked.

"O dear, yes. I expect there'll be plenty found to differ with the senator."

While she was speaking, Mrs. Keeler was opening some letters.

"Here's Ald. Powers sending his box tickets back!" she exclaimed. "Isn't he cheap! He's a trimmer, just like the mayor."

The next letter contained the box seats of Maclay Hoyne, also returned. She made no comment other than that Mr. Hoyne perhaps had taken his cue from the mayor.

"Would you sell any of these box seats to negroes?" she was asked.

"If I thought he was a negro who wouldn't

EXPOSES 'PULL' IN SCHOOLS.

TRIES TO FORCE PROMOTIONS

Vice President of Board of Education "Defends" Himself.

A deliberate attempt to override Superintendent of Schools Edwin G. Cooley's civil service list and secure the appointment of three teachers by the use of "pull" and threats was the charge made yesterday against Dr. Wladyslaw A. Kuflewski, vice president of Mayor Dunne's reform school board, following the discovery of documentary proof in the vault of the board.

The "evidence" was in the shape of a letter written by Assistant Superintendent of Schools Charles P. Megan and addressed to Supt. Cooley. In this letter Assistant Superintendent Megan relates in detail the efforts made by Vice President Kuflewski to secure the appointment of three evening school teachers and Dr. Kuflewski's subsequent threats.

Disclosed Under Dawes Rule.

The letter written by Supt. Megan is one of the documents turned over to the committee on school management Nov. 16, together with Supt. Cooley's "pull list," containing the names of board members and politicians who had violated the Dawes anti-pull rule.

Immediately after the meeting the letter was placed for safe keeping in the school board's vaults and the strictest secrecy regarding its existence was maintained by board members and by school employés.

The letter bore the date of Nov. 10 of last year and the teacher in whom Trustee Kuflewski interested himself did not receive her appointment until Nov. 16 of this year, a full year later. This fact will be used as an argument by Supt. Cooley's friends in contradiction of the charge made by Trustee Post that the present merit system exists in name only.

Megan's Letter to Cooley.

The letter, which is self-explanatory, follows:

Nov. 10, 1905.—Mr. E. G. Cooley, Superintendent of Schools—My Dear Mr. Cooley: A few days ago Dr. Kuflewski called at the office and told me to appoint Mrs. Nellie M. Hubbard to a position which he understood would soon be vacant in the Hamline evening school, and also to appoint Miss Skora to a position as teacher in the Wells evening school, and asked that Miss Louise Gildemeister be assigned to a position in the evening schools. I explained to him where these teachers stood on the list, and he said he did not care about that, that he wanted them appointed. I told him that all appointments to positions in the evening schools were made in strict order from the head of an eligible list. He said he did not care about that, that he wanted these teachers appointed to the positions he had mentioned.

This afternoon Dr. Kuflewski called again at the office and asked me if those teachers were appointed. I told him we had not reached them on the list. He then said he would get even with me in some way. Sincerely,

CHARLES P. MEGAN,
Assistant Superintendent of Schools.

When, on Nov. 15 of this year, Miss Gildemeister's name was reached on the eligible list, Supt. Cooley recommended her appointment to the school management committee and she was assigned to the Tuley evening school.

"I have nothing to say except that I was obliged to obey the Dawes rule and make my report to Mr. Cooley," declared Mr. Megan. "All the facts are contained in my letter and I have nothing to add to it."

Dr. Kuflewski Explains It All.

Dr. Kuflewski's explanation was somewhat incoherent, but well worth reading. Here it is, verbatim:

"Megan is a perfect gentleman and he can be assistant superintendent forever so far as my vote is concerned. I didn't do it, I didn't do it, I didn't do it! I did go to see Megan and I talked with him about Miss Gildemeister and Miss Skora, but I didn't know any more about Mrs. Hubbard than you do.

"If Megan said I wanted to get even—I don't want to get even with anybody. I haven't any enemies. If Megan says I wanted to get even, he is a very small man, but I think not. I think he is a perfect gentleman.

"I haven't any enemies. I went into Supt. Cooley's office five years ago and he ordered me out."

"Why, how was that, doctor?"

"Well, I wanted a girl to be a kindergarten teacher. She was the daughter of a county commissioner, a German county commissioner on Ogden avenue. Cooley said she was not on the eligible list and that I didn't have any right to come to him and make such a proposal when I knew it was against the rules. And so I got mad and then he got mad. Then I went out. That's all I have to say."

Dr. White Attacks Teachers' Union.

The Rev. R. A. White, school trustee, in an address before the Methodist ministers at their forenoon weekly meeting, charged that the crux of the whole present school situation is that the teachers' union wants to gain control of the school system.

"This organization, comprising from 3,000 to 3,500 teachers, including about half of the public school teaching force, presumes to speak for all," said Dr. White.

"I approve of the Post report in as far as it emphasizes things in existence and things that have been in practice for years, but I disagree with its method for the appointment of an examining board. There will be too much 'butting in' by the teachers' federation."

He said that Supt. Cooley can do nothing without authority from the board, and that at any time the board can take all power away from that official, should he abuse it.

Dr. White also attacked the teachers' federation for having affiliated with the Chicago Federation of Labor.

It became known during the day that almost every clergyman and speaker who has attacked the teachers' union or Mayor Dunne's board has been assailed in anonymous letters, signed "A School Teacher."

FIRE BURNS BIG WAREHOUSE AND THREATENS RESIDENTS.

T. W. Jones Furniture Storage Plant in Twenty-ninth Street Destroyed, Loss $100,000.

Fire at 2 o'clock this morning practically destroyed the Jones Storage warehouse, a four story brick structure in Twenty-ninth street, between Princeton and Shields avenues. The warehouse was owned by the T. W. Jones company, which has offices at 2209 Cottage Grove avenue.

The building was partly filled with furniture, which also was destroyed. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Many residents in the vicinity were aroused by the fire, and those in houses immediately adjoining hastened to move their household goods into the streets.

A general alarm, followed by a special call, brought a strong fire force to the scene. No one was reported injured. The police said the same warehouses were on fire less than a year ago.

Today a new order was issued against chewing and spitting. Members of the law classes are threatened with expulsion if they persist in chewing and spitting tobacco around the corridors and in the corners of the class rooms.

ROOSEVELT HOME FROM TRIP

President in White House After 18 Days Out of Country.

AVERTS WAR WITH URUGUAY

Smooths Ruffled Plumage of Diplomat Who Welcomes Him.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt is back in Washington. He arrived tonight from his trip to Panama and Porto Rico, after an absence of eighteen days from the capital. He said he never felt better in his life. Mrs. Roosevelt also was in good health and spirits.

The president's first act after arrival was to adjust an international incident. A marine sentry had refused to permit Señor Don Pedro Requena, Bermudez, first secretary and charge d'affaires of Uruguay, to approach the president's yacht, Mayflower, and formally congratulate the chief executive upon his return. The dignity of Señor Bermudez had been put to a severe test, and he was wroth. The president succeeded, however, in smoothing down the ruffled feathers of the angry diplomat, and the country will breathe a sigh of relief to know that there is no danger of war with Uruguay.

Mayflower Takes No Chances.

The Mayflower arrived at the Washington navy yard at 10:40 o'clock, after having received the president and his party from the battleship Louisiana at the mouth of the Potomac river. The yacht came up slowly, using the searchlights all the time and picking its way with the greatest care through the tortuous channel.

It took the Mayflower about fifteen minutes to make the landing. The instant the gangplank was thrown out Miss Ethel Roosevelt, who had been waiting at the wharf, rushed over it eagerly and reached the deck just in time to meet her father as he came from below. There was nothing conventional about the young girl's greeting to the president. When she was through with showing her father how glad she was to see him back Miss Ethel dashed down below to greet her mother.

Welcomed by Angry Diplomat.

The president had hardly been released from the embraces of Miss Ethel when he came face to face with Señor Bermudez. Señor Bermudez was the second person over the gangplank and carried aboard the Mayflower a breast swelling with indignation.

It seems that Señor Bermudez had determined it was only right and proper for him to be at the navy yard on the president's arrival as the representative of the diplomatic body in the American capital. When he got to the yard gate it was unfortunately after tattoo, and the stiffbacked young sentinel was not impressed with Señor Bermudez's explanation of who he was and what he was there for.

Finally an officer was called and the matter having been adjusted, Señor Bermudez sprinted for the wharf, several hundred yards away, and reached it as the Mayflower came up to the dock.

Ruffled Plumage Smoothed.

Standing on the Mayflower's deck, President Roosevelt listened to the tale of woe the emissary from Uruguay unfolded. Those on the wharf were near enough to hear the word "outrage" many times through the teeth of Señor Bermudez. Evidently the president managed to mollify in some degree the injured feelings of his South American welcomer, for they shook hands cordially and the diplomat, leaping ashore, went rapidly out of the yard and boarded a street car.

Then the president and Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel got in the waiting White house carriage and were rattled out of the yard, followed by the carriages of the other members of the Panama party.

The president was asked later if he expected to say anything about his trip. He replied that he had had an enjoyable time and was deeply impressed with the United States navy, with Panama, and with Porto Rico. He said also that he intended to make the canal the subject of a special report.

VOTE FOR WIDER HALSTED STREET

OPPOSITION HAS 34 MEN.

Property owners bent on crushing the movement toward the widening of Halsted street suffered defeat in a preliminary skirmish last night at the meeting of the city council. On two test votes the aldermen refused to fall in with the tactics of the objectors and decided that the board of local improvements should continue the formulation of plans for the work.

On an attempt to call off the improvement board from further consideration of the plan the opposition mustered only thirty-four votes and on a subsequent attempt to refer the order to a friendly committee the support dwindled to twenty-eight. On the other hand, it is by no means assured that the improvement will have the approval of the council. Thirty-four aldermen voted to let the board proceed with its plans. Ald. Conlon and Hunter being absent. Whether thirty-six votes in favor of the ordinance can be had is a matter of speculation.

The prospect, however, is that the whole proposition will be held up for one year by the protest of the property owners as provided by law.

Gallery Packed with Objectors.

When the council convened the gallery was packed with protesting property owners carrying paper pennants inscribed:

"Let Halsted Street Alone."

These were kept under cover until the matter came up for discussion, and then the gallery suddenly bloomed forth with fluttering flags and deafening applause greeted the speeches of the aldermen representing their cause. The bars against lobbying on the floor also were let down, and the leaders of the opposition were allowed to mingle with the aldermen throughout the evening.

The question came before the council in a resolution by Ald. Cullerton. The resolution set forth that a majority of the property owners were opposed to the widening of the street on the plea that the enabling assessment would be inequitable and that the agitation of the project is interfering with the making of leases. The order proposed was:

"That the city council of the city of Chicago hereby instructs and directs the board of local improvements to make no further expenditures looking to the future widening of Halsted street from the fund heretofore appropriated for that purpose, and the said board of local improvements is hereby to abandon all further proceedings relating to the proposed widening of the said Halsted street."

Cullerton Moves Suspension.

When the resolution had been read there were numerous calls for its reference to committee, but Ald. Cullerton moved a suspension of the rules and the immediate passage of the order. As a two-thirds majority is required for a suspension of the rules the motion failed by a vote of 34 yeas to 34 nays. Those voting affirmatively were in favor of the order to block the improvement. The vote was:

Says Hardship Would Result.

"I fail to understand why the board of local improvements insists on pushing this proposition for the widening of the street in the face of a majority of the property owners and indisputable arguments that it would result in great financial hardship and injustice," said Ald. Cullerton in speaking to his resolution. "My constituents in the neighborhood of Center avenue and Throop street are up in arms over the proposal that they shall be assessed for the benefit of Halsted street."

The gallery loudly applauded the alderman and Mayor Dunne with difficulty preserved sufficient order for the roll call. One after another of the aldermen rose to explain their votes. Ald. Foreman thought a committee ought to be required to report on the merits of the plan and Ald. Bennett said that while he had grave doubts of the city's financial ability to put through the improvement, the board of local improvements ought to be allowed to submit its proposition. Ald. Scully voiced the objections of the "poor people of the Tenth ward" and proposed that other streets be widened.

Further Fight Ensues.

The motion to suspend the rules and pass the obstructing order having failed, there ensued a fight over the reference of the resolution to a committee. The enemies of the improvement wanted the order sent to the committee on streets and alleys west, a majority of the members of which are against the plan. Ald. Powers led this movement. He was opposed by Ald. Brennan, who moved the reference to the committee on special assessments, where it is likely the order will be buried. Ald. Brennan represents the west side property owners favoring the improvement.

Ald. Powers' motion to refer to the streets and alleys committee was defeated by a vote of 28 yeas to 40 nays. The order was then referred to the special assessments committee by a viva voce vote. The gallery immediately adjourned amid general expressions of disgust.

Phone Knocks Referred.

Three knocks on the Chicago Telephone company were referred to the council committee considering the franchise question. One was the set of resolutions of the Grocers' and Butchers' association favoring the offer of the Manufacturers' company. Another was a resolution introduced by Ald. Herlihy urging haste in the negotiations so that a new company would have time to construct a plant, and making it imperative that "no ordinance shall be granted for any telephone privileges in this city unless that ordinance contains a provision giving the right to any and all telephone companies, on a basis of equality, to have long distance connection to and with and over the wires of such telephone company as may be granted an ordinance."

Knock No. 3 was delivered by Ald. Derpa of the Eighth ward in a maiden resolution, in which he declared that the telephone company is illegally exacting excessive tolls within the city limits. The corporation counsel was instructed to report what ordinances the company is thus violating. Upon Ald. Derpa's insistence the council adopted this resolution on the spot.

City Electrician Carroll reported that the Illinois Tunnel company has no more than 5,708 telephones in operation at present. He was given thirty days to investigate and see if all of these are in operation. The company is required to have 20,000 phones in service by 1908.

"Something Rotten in Bridges."

Ald. Richert had referred to the committee on harbors, wharves, and bridges a resolution providing for an inquiry into the condition of bridges constructed and turned over to the city by the sanitary district.

"There is something rotten in this matter," said the alderman. "These bridges, which are invariably accepted by the city under protest, wear out in twenty years, whereas they ought to last fifty years. The city is compelled to spend large sums on them in repairs. On the Taylor street bridge, opened in 1890, the city now has spent 50 per cent of its cost in repairs and maintenance. This is a real scandal and should be investigated."

Would Rule Out Lumpy Jaw.

Ald. Dailey had referred to the committee on health an ordinance prohibiting the slaughter and sale within the city of lumpy jaw and otherwise diseased cattle. The measure provides that all such diseased animals brought to the city shall be slaughtered and the carcasses condemned and destroyed by the meat inspectors. Slaughter houses violating the ordinance may be fined from $50 to $200.

"All the lumpy jaw meat in the west is unloaded on Chicago and sold in Chicago meat markets," said Ald. Dailey in explaining his ordinance. "Lumpy jaw cattle are condemned by the government inspectors at the stockyards. The animals are sent to the Standard Slaughtering plant, where they are slaughtered and the meat sent principally to Fulton market. The shippers of lumpy jaw cattle recover only the value of the lard and hide, but the Standard Slaughtering company gets full price for the beef."

Crossing Without Watchman.

In reply to Ald. Bihl's complaint of the unsafe condition of the One Hundred and Thirteenth street crossing of the Illinois Central tracks, Public Works Commissioner O'Connell reported that the map showed no open street at that place. Ald. Bihl said the commissioner might have learned from the board of local improvements that the street was opened across the tracks two years ago and that it is without lights or watchman and extremely unsafe.

Other Business.

On account of the revelations of short weight coal sales Ald. Burne had referred to the finance committee a proposal to build thirty-five public weighing scales at a cost of $35,000 where citizens can have purchased coal weighed. Several amendments proposed by City Sealer Grein to compel produce dealers to give full measure were adopted.

The fire department double platoon ordinance, in the same shape as last year, reappeared, with Ald. Uhlir as sponsor. It was referred to the finance committee, the alderman declaring that it was now only a question of money, the efficacy of the double shift having been proved by the experiment in the loop district.

Ald. Moynihan had passed an order on the corporation counsel to draft an ordinance providing for the licensing of vehicles, $3 for two horses and $1 for one horse.

On motion of Ald. Bennett the resignation of Ald. Hunter from the council was accepted.

An amended wide tire ordinance presented by Ald. Badenoch was referred to the judiciary committee. The ordinance creating rules of the road, with its amendments, was made a special order for next week's meeting.

SLAYER HOLDS MINE A DAY; MAKES UNDERGROUND ESCAPE

Aged Coal Digger Who Killed Man in Poker Game Dodges Sheriff—May Be Headed Toward Illinois.

Linton, Ind., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—After holding officers and posses at bay from the bottom of a mine shaft for nearly two days, Louis Shulley, a coal miner, aged 71 years, who killed William Walters, a merchant, over a poker game yesterday, escaped late tonight. He made his way through the underground workings from Tower Hill mine, where he took refuge, to the Midland mine adjoining, where he gained the surface through a manhole.

Shulley's escape became known when news was carried to the sheriff, who was still keeping watch at the mouth of Tower Hill mine, that the slayer was seen about two miles west of Linton. It is believed he intends to escape into Illinois.

The sheriff's posse is being strengthened to go in pursuit.

Shulley held up work in the Tower Hill mine for a whole day, forced 300 miners to remain in idleness, and threatened the workings with flooding.

Armed with a shotgun and a revolver, supplied with a large amount of ammunition, he stationed himself at the foot of the shaft and declared he would kill any who descended. All of the workmen, including those who man the pumps, dared not risk death to go to work.

Attempts to smoke Shulley out were unavailing, as straw and other combustibles fired in the shaft sent their smoke upward instead of downward.

Then an effort was made to fan smoke down the shaft from the furnace under the boilers, but this, too, was abandoned shortly. Little of the smoke seemingly entered the mine, and possibly none of it reached Shulley.

The inquest has been postponed until next Monday. Fraser's father, who lives in Geneseo, N. Y., arrived here today to take the body home.

DEATH ON 'L' ROAD STIRS THE COUNCIL

VICTIM IS IDENTIFIED.

Girl Who Fell to Pavement Is Found to Be Magdelena de Tomaso; Accident on Q.

The shocking death of a young Italian girl yesterday morning, as a result of the overcrowding of the Metropolitan elevated trains, stirred the city council to action last night.

Early in the evening the victim was identified as Magdelena de Tomaso, 489 West Ohio street. She fell headlong from a Humboldt park train on the Metropolitan as it pulled out of the Grand avenue station and was killed instantly when her head struck the concrete pavement sixty feet below.

At about the same time in the morning another girl, later identified as Polly Katerna, 743 West Seventeenth street, was struck by an inbound Burlington suburban train on the tracks between Sangamon and Green streets. She was hurled through the air several feet and her skull fractured. Physicians at the county hospital, where she was taken, say there is slight chance of her recovery.

Council Orders Investigation.

The council was aroused to action by Miss de Tomaso's death. It ordered Police Chief Collins to investigate the overcrowding of elevated and surface street railroads and use his police powers to prevent dangerous condition of this kind.

The action was taken as the result of a resolution offered by Ald. Race of the Thirty-fifth ward. The resolution, which was adopted unanimously, was:

"Whereas, The overcrowding of elevated and surface lines in this city is a most revolting and deplorable nuisance; and

"Whereas, Such conditions have contributed directly and indirectly to the loss of life and limb as well as discomfort and inconvenience of the people of the city of Chicago; and

"Whereas, As a climax to the result of this crying evil the life of one of Chicago's fair ones has been sacrificed;

"Therefore, The chief of police is requested to investigate said overcrowding of the 'L' cars and proceed under the police powers of said city to prevent said overcrowding."

Many See Young Woman Killed.

The death of Miss De Tomaso at 7 o'clock was witnessed by scores of persons, yet it was not until twelve hours later that she was identified. There is no clear account of the accident, but the one accepted by the police is told by Fred. Murphy, 122 Wood street, a machinist, who was standing next to the girl and made an ineffectual effort to save her life.

According to Murphy, the gate of the car was not closed when A. B. Senaca, the guard, gave the signal to go ahead. This is denied by Senaca, who is held at the West Chicago avenue police station, pending the result of the coroner's inquest this morning. Senaca said the gate was closed and the girl was standing on the car platform outside of it.

Platform Is Overcrowded.

"The platform was crowded, but I jumped in just as the guard gave the signal and this girl was close behind me," said Murphy. "The gate stuck and the guard told us we'd have to get off. There was plenty of room for the girl to stand there. I should say she had at least a foot, but she evidently became frightened and attempted to get out. By that time the car was moving at a fair rate of speed and as she stepped out we whizzed past the end of the station platform. As she fell I tried to seize her dress, but did not get a good grasp on it and it slipped through my fingers."

After the girl fell the train was stopped and Andrew Garg, 608 West Erie street, and Martin Munson, 229 Grand avenue, ran down the steps to learn the extent of the girl's injuries. The train was gone when the police reached the scene.

Both Girls Are Identified.

The fact that the girl could not be identified aroused the fears of hundreds of parents whose girls work downtown. Hundreds of people went to the county morgue, where the body lay, but could not identify it. Shortly after 7 o'clock in the evening Salvatore de Tomaso heard of the accident and went to the residence of a girl who worked in a shop in Jefferson street, where his daughter was employed. From this girl he learned that his daughter had not been at work, and a trip to the morgue confirmed his fears. De Tomaso moved to his present address last Saturday.

It was at almost the same time that Polly Katerna was injured. She was walking east along the tracks when the train struck her and it is believed was on her way to catch a car at Halsted street. The engineer declares he blew his whistle, but the girl did not heed it. No marks were found on her clothing to reveal her identity and her name and address were not learned until after 9 o'clock in the evening.

CAR IN COLLISION: FIVE INJURED

Trolley Crashes Into Wagon—Slippery Rails and Defective Brake Said to Be Causes.

Five persons were injured last night when an eastbound Forty-seventh street car collided with a heavily loaded wagon at Sangamon street. The motorman told the police that slippery rails and the failure of the brakes to operate quickly caused the accident. The wagon was overturned and the front vestibule of the car was partly demolished. The names of the injured, three of whom were passengers, are:

BURKE, JAMES, 33 years old, 748 West Forty-eighth street; cut and bruised about the head, shoulders, and arms; taken home.

MURGOY, FRANK, 30 years old, driver of wagon; cut and bruised about head and body; taken to the Englewood Union hospital.

Murgoy attempted to turn out of the track with the wagon, but it slid along the rails and the car crashed into it.

POSTPONE TRIAL OF M'CARREN.

New York Democratic Chairmen Indefinitely Adjourn Hearing of Treachery to Party Charge.

New York, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—The trial of State Senator Patrick H. McCarren, the democratic leader in Kings county, has been indefinitely postponed. Senator McCarren is charged with treachery to the head of the democratic state ticket at the last election.

Chairman Conners of the Democratic state committee has appointed a subcommittee of seven members of the state committee to investigate the charges. This committee met today and after a protracted secret session held a brief open session, to which Daniel J. Dillon, counsel for Senator McCarren, was admitted. He asked for an adjournment of the hearing for a week or ten days on the ground that Senator McCarren is absent from the city and state and will not be back until that time.

The adjournment not only was granted but the committee adjourned subject to call of the chairman.

McCarren Not Afraid of Result.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 26.—"I am not afraid of the result of the effort to oust me as a member of the New York state democratic state central committee," said Senator Patrick H. McCarren of Brooklyn, N. Y., who is visiting in this city today. "The charge that I scratched Hearst is untrue. I question the right of the organization to act in the matter at all under the circumstances."

MONEY WILLED TO UNIONS

THREE CIGARMAKERS MAKE BEQUESTS AGGREGATING $1,150.

Two of Them Give $550 Apiece to Their Organization and the Third Sets Apart $50 for Use of the Members to Have a Good Time at His Funeral—Long Fight of Carpenters and Woodworkers Has Come to an End.

An unusual devotion to the labor union in which they have served as members for a long term of years caused three cigarmakers to draw up their wills yesterday with special bequests in favor of the organization. The value of the bequests amounts to $1,150. The proceeding is said to be unparalleled in the labor movement.

John McNamee took this method of celebrating the seventieth anniversary of his birth. Calling in George J. Thompson, secretary of local No. 14 of the Cigarmakers' union, McNamee asked the official to witness the signature of his last will and testament. When Thompson read the document he was surprised to find in it the following clause:

"Since I owe much of my success and satisfaction in life to a long membership in the Cigarmakers' union, I do hereby bequeath upon my death the sum of $550 to said organization, the money to be paid to the treasurer of the union and to be used for the purpose of furthering unionism in Chicago."

Example Followed by Others.

McNamee has been in the union forty years. There are several other members having nearly as good records for long service. When they heard of McNamee's action they decided to follow his example. One of the men was William Foster, who bequeathed a similar sum to the organization. The third benefactor is John Porter, who left the members of the union $50, but stipulated that the sum should be used to "have a good time" at his funeral.

"If this custom of leaving wealth to the union grows," said Secretary Thompson, "we will have enough money soon to pension off the living members, and they need not work any more."

Union Man "Christened."

National labor leaders, including Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, George W. Perkins, president of the Cigarmakers' International union, and Thomas F. Tracey of Boston, were present at the "christening" of a union man last night. The initiate was Samuel Straus, who had served a three years' apprenticeship as a cigarmaker and was presented with a journeyman's credentials. Straus also was given a gold watch in honor of the occasion. A banquet, given by John J. Lynch, a cigar manufacturer at 32 West Jackson boulevard, followed the ceremonies.

Strife of Rival Unions Ended.

It was announced that the bitter fight between the woodworkers' and carpenters' unions, out of which developed many strikes in Chicago which even officials of the American Federation of Labor were unable to settle, has been patched up. The woodworkers accepted the ukase of the national federation to join the carpenters' union.

One of the largest Chicago firms to suffer from the controversy was the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company. Following a conference during the day between General Manager Schank of the firm and President W. D. Huber of the carpenters' brotherhood, the latter issued orders for all strikers to return to work today. Other strikes will be called off within a day or two.

The strike arising from jurisdictional disputes on the Commercial National Bank building also was adjusted. Marble workers brought here from New York, against the employment of whom the local union protested, were sent back, it was said, and Chicago men put in their places.

D. A. R. MEMBERS AT A BENEFIT.

The Chicago Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution were given a benefit performance at the Colonial theater by George Cohan and his company last evening, the proceeds to be used in the building of Continental hall in Washington, D. C.

The cost of the hall to the various chapters is estimated at more than $500,000. When completed the building will serve as a museum, library, and the main office of the order. It will also serve as a monument to the ancestors of the organization.

The main section of the theater was taken almost exclusively by the members of the organization. Among those seen in the boxes were Mrs. La Verne W. Noyes, Mrs. Parry Wright, Mrs. Madison B. Kennedy, and Mrs. Henry C. Lytton.

TILLMAN TO TALK AS POLICE GUARD.

shoot, and he was willing to pay enough, I would," she answered.

Wants to Answer Tillman.

Theodore F. Linde, a real estate dealer at 2178 West Twelfth street, has asked Senator Tillman to allow him ten minutes in which to answer the senator's views on the negro question.

Mr. Linde was a private soldier in Gen. N. B. Forest's command and has lived in Chicago for the last twenty-three years. He thinks that Senator Tillman has no right to come to Chicago and stir up hatred between the white and colored races.

Telegrams to Mayor Dunne.

Mayor Dunne's course in declining to act as chairman was approved in two telegrams that he received in the afternoon, as follows:

New York, Nov. 26.—The Hon. Mayor Dunne: Your manly, dignified refusal to preside over the meeting addressed by the leading advocate of the murder trust is applauded by every true American who believes in the supremacy of the constitution and lawful procedure. It is a disgrace to Chicago and civilization that any man should be permitted to publicly advocate the killing of American citizens who only seek the rights guaranteed to them by the organic law of the nation.

IRISH-AMERICAN.

JAMES M. BYNES.

Mr. Bynes is a lawyer and is white.

Mayor Dunne said he wouldn't try to stop the lecture, because he believed in free speech and was sure there would be no violence.

Paul E. Wood, a 14 year old church soloist who was to have sung at the lecture, canceled the engagement at the request of his father. Another soloist was secured.

Discharged Negro Soldiers Here.

Discharged negro soldiers of the B, C, and D companies of the Twenty-fifth regiment are beginning to arrive in Chicago from El Reno and it is expected that many will remain here.

Six of the soldiers reached here yesterday and were furnished employment by the Rev. A. J. Carey, pastor of the Bethel church. Fifteen of their comrades are expected to arrive this morning.

"There is a demand for labor here," said Mr. Carey last night, "and I anticipate no difficulty in finding employment for all who care to remain. Some, however, have passed through on their way to their various homes. I found places for three of the men as janitors this afternoon and three others were furnished with general labor."

One of the discharged soldiers turned out to be Cicero Hawkins, a former pupil of Mr. Carey's when he was principal of the colored schools at Athens, Ga.

"From every account that I have been able to secure," said Mr. Carey, "not one of the colored soldiers fired a shot on that night, Oct. 13. All but four were in the fort and the whereabouts of the four were accounted for. The trouble was due to some white and colored people of the town. I have it direct from Col. Smith, formerly of the regiment, who went from Lowell, Mass., to investigate the affair that the colored soldiers were innocent. They were not given a chance by Inspector General Garlington, himself a South Carolinian, who naturally would sympathize with the townspeople in their determination that the colored battalion should leave the fort."

Boston, Mass., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Resolutions indorsing Mayor Dunne of Chicago for his attitudes with regard to Senator Tillman were passed unanimously at a meeting of the Boston Literary association in its rooms at 1042 Tremont street, Roxbury, last night. The resolutions follow:

"Resolved, That the members of the Boston Literary and Historical society hereby congratulate Mayor Edward F. Dunne of Chicago upon his respect for decency in public speech and for law and order in refusing to sanction, even by his presence, the attempt to raise money for a public charity by the use of a speaker, Benjamin Ryan Tillman, the open and present advocate of lynching and the shotgun; and we hereby publicly thank him for his refusal to indorse the insulting of millions of American citizens by a United States senator."

NEGRO VOTE STOPS INDUSTRY?

John Sharp Williams Declares South's Rapid Development Is Due to Disfranchisement of Blacks.

Walthall, Miss., Nov. 26.—The south's rapid industrial development tonight was attributed by Congressman John Sharp Williams to the substantial political disfranchisement of the negro. As a solution of the negro problem, Mr. Williams advised importing white laborers.

SLOWLY POISONS RICH HOUSEHOLD

Methodical Attempt Made to Kill by Putting Arsenic in Cake Frosting.

KEPT UP FOR TWO YEARS.

Twelve Persons Rendered So Ill That Nine Are in Extremely Serious Condition.

Auburn, N. Y., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—A seeming attempt to kill an entire household by slow, methodical poisoning has been revealed by the discovery that William F. Walt of the carpet making firm of Nye & Walt, president of the Cayuga County Savings bank, is so desperately ill in the city hospital that his recovery is uncertain.

Altogether twelve persons were poisoned. Of these all are seriously ill except three, whose presence in the household was intermittent.

In the same institution with his father is W. Byron Walt, reputed one of the wealthiest young men in town. He is undergoing treatment for symptoms similar to those of his father.

Son-in-Law Too Ill to Go Abroad.

The Rev. Harvey Clements, son-in-law of the elder Walt, a graduate of the Auburn Theological seminary, the most noted young Presbyterian clergyman in this section, is in a similar condition. He is so seriously affected that his intended trip to Europe with his wife has been postponed indefinitely.

Frederick Hancock, coachman for the Walt family; Margaret Hartnett, cook; Anna Flynn, waitress; Mrs. Josephine Meekins, a negro washerwoman; Miss McFadden of Auburn, and Miss Harris of Skaneateles, trained nurses, are recovering slowly from an illness precisely like that with which their employer was stricken.

Aged Servant Is Recovering.

Catherine Walsh, an elderly woman, who helps out when the domestic service in the Walt mansion is overtaxed, is the only one stricken who has regained her normal condition.

All these persons, together with a woman guest at the summer cottage of the Walts at Lake Owasco, and a boy of all work are victims of arsenic. In every instance pulverized or granulated sugar was poisoned.

Through lack of chemical knowledge the poisoner defeated his or her purpose. The greater part of the poisoned sugar was used in making frosting for cakes. In this the whites of eggs acted as an antidote. Otherwise not one who partook of the cake could have escaped death.

The elder Walt is emaciated and his complexion is like that of one suffering from jaundice. Professional opinion is that he is a victim of cumulative arsenical poisoning extending over a period which may have been anywhere from fifteen months to two years.

Robbery of $1,000 Reported.

In addition to the poisoning a robbery of $1,000 worth of articles is reported to have been committed in the house less than a month ago. Whoever has poisoned the family has done so persistently, because the same symptoms have appeared even when the family moved.

KILLED BETWEEN TWO CARS; BOTH SPEED UP AND GET AWAY

Shot like a cannon ball from between two Indiana avenue cars between which he was caught squarely as he was crossing the roadway at Wabash avenue and Twelfth street early last night, an unidentified man was crushed almost beyond recognition, and died as he was being hurried to a hospital in a police ambulance. Up to a late hour this morning the body had not been identified, but it is thought he was a teamster and lived in the neighborhood.

According to the police, both conveyances were going at top speed. As the man made an effort to avoid being struck by the southbound car he was struck by the other, and, after being hurled back, was caught and mangled between the vehicles. Passengers on both cars heard his screams for help and saw his danger just before he was caught.

The police charge that the car crews, instead of slackening their speed, hurried away from the spot, and no trace of them was obtained at the time.

Pedestrians who saw the body hurled from between the cars hurried to the unfortunate man's assistance, but before Dr. J. F. Mattman, 1205 Wabash avenue, arrived he was dead. W. W. Russell of the Grace hotel and P. Peterson, 2108 Wabash avenue, carried the body to a drug store and waited for the police. The body then was taken to McNally & Duffy's undertaking rooms, 504 Wabash avenue.

The police are looking for the crews of both cars. The victim was about 26 years old, and was poorly dressed.

CAN'T DEPORT AMERICAN WHO IS LEADING STRIKE IN CANADA

Fred Fay of Ypsilanti Assured by Legal Lights That He Can Safely Ignore Authorities' Orders to Leave.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Fred Fay, who came from Ypsilanti, Mich., to conduct the street railway employes' strike, is still here and is likely to remain as long as he wants to, despite the fact that he was ordered by Chief of Police Smith and Sheriff Middleton to leave the country. Lawyers have advised him that he cannot be deported or arrested as long as he refrains from inciting a riot or from taking any part in disturbances.

United States Vice Consul Butler promises to take immediate action as soon as the matter is brought before him in the proper way.

The sympathies of all classes of citizens are with Fay, and indignation at the action of the authorities is expressed on all sides.

Cars are not running in Hamilton tonight, but there is no sign of trouble. Cars ran all day and up till 6 o'clock this evening without being stoned or otherwise interfered with.

Ready When Congress Gives Word.

Whenever congress shall indicate a willingness to entertain a proposition to form an organization under national control and supervision and to furnish ample sureties for the faithful performance of the terms of an agreement Boyce states that he and his associates are prepared to act.

Boyce asserts it is his conviction that because of the great increase in the density of population and the great increase that will be made again in first and second class mail because of reductions in the rate of postage the time has come for a further reduction in postage to enable the establishment of a fixed set of rules and regulations.

Wants Commission Like Interstate.

He says he and his associates would require that congress enact a law providing for the appointment of a commission for control of the postal service, similar in importance and power to that the interstate commerce commission now has in matters of transportation.

Boyce asserts his scheme is entirely feasible. But it is difficult for serious minded persons in Washington, who understand the broad powers the government must exercise in distributing mails, to regard it as even worthy of consideration.

MAY CLEAR SHULTZ MYSTERY; MAN THOUGH DEAD ALIVE?

Police of Decatur, Ill., Informed by Wife That Their Home Life Was Not Ideal—No Claim for Insurance.

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—A statement made to Chief of Police Albert today by Mrs. Mont W. Shults leaves no doubt that her husband is living and was not drowned in the Sangamon river on the night of Oct. 6, as has been generally believed. She asked the chief to help locate him.

Mrs. Shults said her husband did not leave his money at home when he left and that if he did not care to live with her she did not care to live with him, indicating for the first time that their home life had not been pleasant. When Shults disappeared it was claimed he had left all of his money at home and that his domestic life was ideal.

Shultz was for twenty years a printer in this city. On the night of Oct. 6, accompanied by Charles Catlin, he started for the Sangamon river to prepare a camp for his family and Catlin's for an outing. That was the last seen of Shults.

Shults was a member of the Modern Woodmen and the White Cross society, carrying insurance in each of them. No effort has yet been made to collect this money by his wife.

SWEPT OVER NIAGARA IN BOAT.

Unknown Man Drowned Despite Efforts to Save Him—Others Have Narrow Escape.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Nov. 26.—An unknown man was swept over the Horseshoe falls in a small boat this afternoon after a daring attempt had been made to save him.

An employe of the Ontario Power company first saw the little craft, and two rowboats started out to attempt a rescue.

The rescuers went beyond the danger line, but a cross current carried the unfortunate man away. The would-be rescuers with great difficulty succeeded in reaching shore.

WINDOW WASHER STEALS DIAMONDS.

Up to Date Thief Robs Lillian Russell of $1,500, Anna Held of $40,000.

SLEUTH GETS BACK ALL.

One of Crooks, Being Out on Suspended Sentence, They Restore Plunder.

A new kind of crook has risen from the "under world" to compete with the yegg-man, the confidence man, the second story worker and other criminals skilled in the unlawful art of relieving wealthy individuals of their jewels and money in large quantities.

The newcomer to the ranks of evildoers is known as "the window washer," and thus far the record of most of his exploits has been confined to the "squeal" books in the police stations and the notebooks of hotel detectives.

But the arrest in New York of Frank Varrel charged with stealing $1,000 worth of jewelry while posing as a window washer at the Great Northern hotel in Chicago, has aroused much interest among actresses and other women who carry large amounts of valuables and live much in hotels.

And following the arrest of Varrel a story has leaked out which may prove a revelation to people who have come to regard all men who wear overalls and perch on window sills as bona fide window cleaners.

Two Actresses Robbed.

The story, from which only a few carefully concealed links are missing, tells how two actresses recently were robbed of money and diamonds aggregating $50,000 by a clever pair of thieves posing as window washers. It also tells how the bulk of the property was recovered although the "robbing" of actresses is a time-honored press agent joke.

The first chapter in the story to a certain extent became public in Cleveland, O., a few months ago, when Lillian Russell reported to Chief of Police Koehler that she had been robbed on a train of diamonds which her agents said were worth $40,000. The story really began in a hotel in another Ohio town last spring, when the actress entered her room and discovered two men in blue jumpers acting in a suspicious manner.

The "window washers" departed, but Miss Russell was so disturbed over the incident that she related it to the specialist, who will be known here as Sherlock Holmes. Mr. Holmes thought he recognized something familiar about the description of the window washers. He advised Miss Russell to send all her valuables to New York and perhaps to use paste gems for stage purposes. She followed his advice, retaining only about $1,000 worth to carry with her. A short time later she was robbed of the $1,500 worth.

"Mr. Holmes" located the thieves. They were the "window washers" who had been found in Miss Russell's room. One of them had a five years' suspended sentence hanging over him, and the other had equal reason to dread arrest. They returned the valuables.

Anna Held Robbed of Fortune.

Anna Held was the next to play the part of leading lady in the drama of the window washers. Again the scene was Cleveland. Between $30,000 and $40,000 worth of valuables and $6,000 in cash made up the booty. When Florence Ziegfeld, her husband, went to report the robbery the authorities and the newspapers said "press agent."

Ziegfeld almost wept. The show was not reputed to be heavily interested financially anyway, and a large interest in it had passed into the hands of the Tri-State managers, it is said.

Anna reported her loss to the same "Mr. Holmes" who had recovered the lesser amount lost by Lillian Russell. "Mr. Holmes" decided that it was the work of the same "window washers." After some work he located the men.

"Ain't you ever going to give us a chance to pull a job?" they demanded sorrowfully. They knew a good job of robbing when they did it and hated to have the work of "artists" set at naught.

Some kind of an arrangement was entered into with the robbers. They agreed to return everything except the cash.

Stolen Gems Returned.

Anna and her husband then came to Chicago. While here Mr. Ziegfeld received notice to sit in a certain room in the Stratford hotel at a certain hour on a certain day about two weeks ago. Mr. Ziegfeld followed instructions. He sat with a loaded revolver in his lap. Somebody entered the room and delivered the valuables which had been stolen, in accordance with the agreement made with the robbers.

Now, as far as is known, the "window washers" are yet at large and may be heard from again in the future. No theory has been advanced to the effect that Varrel, the man arrested for the Great Northern robbery, is one of the pair who robbed the actresses.

Incidentally it may be mentioned that Lawrence d'Orsay, the actor, lost about $600 worth of valuables recently while en route to Chicago from the east. The robbery had some of the earmarks of the "window washers'" methods.

CAN'T PRODUCE DEAD HUSBAND.

Mrs. William Mern's Pathetic Story Devised to Recover Deposit of $6.50 Proves to Be Fiction.

When William Mern, 18 Burling street, objected because his wife had made a deposit of $6.50 on the purchase price of a piano, the woman devised an ingenious but unsuccessful plan to recover the money.

She went to the piano firm and reported that her husband was attacked Friday night and beaten so severely that he died a few hours later, hence she needed the money to pay part of the funeral expense.

Members of the piano firm inquired at the North Halsted street police station and learned that no such robbery had been reported. Lieut. Schlau sent two policemen to the woman's house last night and she repeated the story of the robbery and her husband's subsequent death. When asked to show her husband's body, she broke down and confessed. She was not arrested.

CHARTER MAKERS MEET FRIDAY

Chairman M. J. Foreman Believes the Work Can Be Completed in Time for Next Legislature.

A meeting of the Chicago charter convention for Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock was called yesterday by Chairman Milton J. Foreman. The convention will take up the report of the steering committee presenting optional suggestions for a unified government.

"The convention is now ready to buckle down to its work," said Mr. Foreman. "I am in favor of having a meeting every day and we will finish thrashing out the various theories presented.

"It will be up to the convention to decide this point, but I should say there is no reason why we can't have the proposed legislation drafted before the legislature gets down to work in the middle of January."

MARRIAGE "FAILS"; FLEES

Husband Tells His Wife That a 12 Year Probation Is Sufficient for Him—Little Daughters in the Harlem Home Suffering for Lack of Comforts—Two Sisters Seek Divorce on Simultaneous Trial—Other Marital Difficulties Brought to Light.

A charge that one Chicago husband had adopted the marriage on probation system came to light yesterday. The convert to this theory is Fred Berndt, 75 Ferdinand avenue, Harlem. After being married thirteen years he deserted his wife and three small children last week, leaving them without money. The wife is selling her furniture to buy food. The oldest child, Anna, is 12 years old, the second daughter, Frieda, 5 years old, and the baby, Myrtle, is 5 months old. The youngest child has just recovered from an attack of pneumonia.

Before leaving home Berndt asserted that he believed in Mrs. Parsons' theory of trial marriage, but the time of probation did not enter into the question. Mrs. Berndt asserts her husband told her he was tired of married life after thirteen years' probation, and that, since it was a failure, he intended to live a single life.

Sisters Seek Two Divorces.

Clara Sarah Huber and Anna Webster, sisters, sought divorce yesterday from their respective husbands in Judge Gibbons' court. Clara Huber, whose maiden name was Shonfeld, married Willard H. Huber. Her sister married Willard Webster. The girls now live with their parents at 3633 Dearborn street. They are respectively 17 and 18 years old.

Mrs. Huber was the first witness. Both cases were tried at the same time. She said that on April 16 she and her sister left their place of employment at noon and went to the Drexel cafe, Thirty-ninth street and Cottage Grove avenue, in company with Huber and Webster.

"They gave us something to drink," said Mrs. Huber, "and we became kind of dizzy. They then told us to say yes to the questions asked us and took us to a place which we later learned was a justice court.

"When we got outside again they told us we had been married. We realized then what had happened, for, although we were drugged, we had a faint recollection of a ceremony of some kind. We became indignant and left them immediately, going directly home."

Mrs. Webster gave similar testimony. She said also that two weeks ago "the husbands called at our house one night, and when they left we noticed a bureau drawer was open and some money, two lockets, and a diamond ring were missing."

Judge Gibbons ordered the evidence written up but did not say whether he would grant the decrees.

Tells of Series of Beatings.

Almost fiendish cruelty at the hands of Martin Lyons, 1539 Lexington street, was endured for four years by Mary E. Lyons, according to her bill for divorce filed yesterday. They were married in 1902 and lived together until ten days ago. She says her husband owns property worth $10,000. Less than a month after the marriage Lyons is said to have beaten her, and then on July 2, 1904, Lyons and his 20 year old son of another marriage are said to have beaten Mrs. Lyons and her sister, who was a visitor at the house. On the day of the separation Lyons is said to have beaten her on the head with a wash stick.

Other Matrimonial Troubles.

Judge McEwen enjoined William Hoge from threatening his wife or children or from injuring their home at 816 George street. The order was in answer to a prayer by Ottilie Hoge in her bill for divorce just filed.

Mrs. Minnie L. Lapiner, who was given a divorce from Louis Lapiner, an insurance adjuster, on Oct. 10, appeared before Judge Brentano with a petition to set aside the decree on the ground that it had been obtained through conspiracy between Lapiner and Dr. William H. Rubovits.

ITALIANS ATTACK AN AGENT OF AN EMPLOYMENT OFFICE.

George Dubari, Accused of Swindling Laborers, Is Rescued by Police and Placed Under Arrest.

George Dubari, who said he is employed by the Dean Employment agency, 100 Van Buren street, was rescued from a crowd of angry Italians in a saloon at 415 Clark street last night and taken to the Harrison street station by Detectives Rieck and McCarthy.

The officers and their prisoner were followed to the station by twenty-eight men, who declared Dubari had swindled them. One of the Italians said Dubari promised to give the men employment on a railroad in Texas if each would pay a fee of $5. Accompanied by twenty-eight men Dubari left the city Saturday night, but left the train when it was less than twenty-five miles out of the city. When the laborers awoke they were stranded on a cross line at Danville Junction, Ill.

They returned to the city in a body, and began a search for Dubari. After they had found him three of the alleged victims hurried to the police station and told Justice Caverly of their troubles. The others stood guard and waited for the arrival of the police.

Dubari denied that he had taken money from any of his accusers, and said that he would "beat them in court."

FIELD BEQUESTS ARE PAID.

The distribution of minor bequests amounting to $100,000 to employés, as provided in Marshall Field's will, has been completed. More than 200 employés received amounts ranging from $250 to $1,000.

In all Mr. Field bequeathed $300,000 to the men who had worked for him. The largest amount given was $100,000 to Arthur B. Jones, for many years Mr. Field's private secretary. James Simpson, the assistant general manager of the Field stores, who is only 30 years old, received $50,000.

Among others who received large amounts were: Edward Nevers, the oldest employé, $10,000; A. H. Hawxhurst, insurance manager, $10,000; Chapin A. Day, confidential clerk, $10,000; R. M. Hitchcock, head of the shipping department, $5,000; and Richard Maher, a driver, $3,000.

ATTORNEY MUST SHOW CAUSE.

Nathan Neufeld Summoned Before Judge Landis to Explain Bankruptcy Transaction.

A 10 per cent commission for collection charged certain creditors of a bankrupt by Nathan Neufeld, an attorney, who is asserted to have attempted to represent both the bankrupt and the creditors, is being investigated by order of Judge Landis of the United States District court.

Neufeld was summoned before Judge Landis yesterday afternoon and directed to show cause for his action by Friday.

The case in which Neufeld is involved is that of the Chicago Straw works, a millinery supply business, which filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy Sept. 25, signed by Neufeld as attorney.

After the creditors had agreed to accept 20 per cent it is alleged Neufeld sent them remittances, retaining 10 per cent for collecting their claims.

"Silver Trust" Wins Suit.

The International Silver company won part of its suit against Samuel Lyons, a Chicago merchant, yesterday when a jury in the court of Judge Landis was directed to find a verdict in its favor. The company sued to collect payment for silverware purchased by Lyons. He set up the defense that the company was a trust.

Brakes Fail; Nine Persons Hurt.

Elgin, Ill., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Failure of the air brakes to work today caused an interurban car, bound for Carpentersville, to jump the track on a curve and overturn, injuring nine Elgin residents. All will recover.

Well Known Actresses Whose Secret Marriages Become Public Coincidently.

It was announced from New Orleans yesterday that Blanche Walsh was married there on Nov. 15 last to W. M. Travers, a member of her company. At New York Harry B. Smith, the librettist, announced that he and Irene Bentley were married in Boston on Friday last.

NEW DEPOT PLAN FAVORED

ORDINANCE PROVISIONALLY RECOMMENDED FOR PASSAGE.

Despite Pleas for Delay by Cullerton, Powers, and Brennan the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad's Project for a $5,000,000 Station Is Approved, Subject to Action of the Compensation Committee and Suggestions from Corporation Counsel.

After a wordy debate the council committee on streets and alleys west yesterday recommended for passage, subject to the action of the compensation committee and the suggestions of the corporation counsel, the ordinance granting the Chicago and Northwestern railway company the right to construct a $5,000,000 depot at Madison and Canal streets.

Ald. Cullerton, Powers, and Brennan pleaded for delay for various reasons. George E. Hooker, secretary of the City club, also pleaded for delay on the grounds that the subject was "of immense importance to the growth of the city," and that "the opportunity should be seized to have an expert commission draw up comprehensive plans for all depot sites."

Only Three Negative Votes.

The ordinance was recommended for passage by the following vote:

Ayes—Scully, Uhlir, Riley, Harkin, Smith, Nowicki, Sitts, Stewart, Siewert, Larson, and Kobout.

Nays—Cullerton, Brennan, Powers.

Ald. Brennan precipitated a lengthy discussion when he said that the ordinance in its present form did not provide for the elevation of any tracks except those of the Northwestern. He wanted the paralleled tracks of the Pan Handle and the St. Paul elevated. He cited the crossing at Elizabeth street, with its seventeen tracks, as the most dangerous in the city, and said hundreds of people were killed at grade crossings.

Roads Refuse to Elevate.

John O'Neill, superintendent of track elevation, said the Panhandle and the St. Paul roads would not elevate their tracks and it would be impractical for the Northwestern to elevate unless the other railroads did.

Ald. Brennan then suggested that the city stop the trains of the St. Paul and the Panhandle at crossings, as had been done at Sixteenth street with the Pennsylvania and at Clark street with the Santa Fé.

Most of the aldermen thought it was not good policy to holdup a great improvement just because Ald. Brennan wanted the tracks elevated.

$475,000 FOR PUBLIC LIBRARY

Finance Committee Presents Estimate to Directors—$50,000 More than Last Year.

It will take practically $500,000 to maintain the Chicago public library for the year 1907 if the estimates reported by the finance committee of the board of directors at its meeting last night are approved.

The amount estimated is $475,000, which is $50,000 in excess of the appropriation for 1906. The finance committee reported that the total assessed valuation of Cook county property for 1907 will approximate $50,000,000, of which the public library is entitled to 1 mill on the dollar. The report also stated that this sum may be decreased some 36 per cent through the operation of the Juul law.

A request from the Englewood Free Reading room for books was granted.

A resolution offered by Director Graham Taylor was adopted establishing a tenement house or home circulating library for the foreign residents, near Station 24, at Grand avenue and Morgan street.

SAYS DAUGHTER WAS ENTICED.

Mrs. Elizabeth Devlin Has Her 15 Year Old Girl and W. H. Johns Arrested.

Mrs. Elizabeth Devlin, 806 Grand avenue, has caused the arrest of her daughter, Bertha, 15 years old, and William H. Johns, 22 years old, 225 Monroe avenue, River Forest, Ill. The latter was arrested at his home last night. The girl was arrested in Oak Park two days ago. Johns, it is charged, enticed the girl from her home on Aug. 2 and took her to the Great Western hotel, Wabash avenue and Harrison street, to live. He asserts that the girl accompanied him of her own free will and that she told him she was 19 years old.

Will Use Vigilance Committee Methods, Declaring City Police "Bullies" and Chicago Justice "Ridiculous"—Details of Project Are Announced at Massmeeting in West Side Auditorium—Many in Attendance Swathed in Bandages.

Denouncing the Chicago police as "bullies" and "tyrants," and Chicago justice as "ridiculous," the recently formed Hebrew Protective association announced last evening its determination to abandon direct appeal to the police department in cases of "Jew baiting" and conduct its fight by vigilance committee methods.

Details of the association's plans were reported to the Jews of the Ghetto at a massmeeting held at the West Side Auditorium. Nearly a quarter of the audience was made up of alleged victims of the rowdyism.

Some had their heads swathed in bandages. Others limped or carried crutches. All were eager to lay their cases before the organization and obtain its aid. And to this end every one talked at once, until the meeting broke up in disorder from sheer excess of enthusiasm.

Private Detective Force.

The association is preparing to conduct a campaign almost wholly independent of the city authorities. A private detective force is to be organized, made up partly of amateurs and partially of men from detective agencies. A medical staff will be formed to care for victims of riots without charge and a legal department under the direction of Attorney Myer C. Emrich will collect evidence and conduct prosecutions.

To aid Jews who are unable to give the police satisfactory accounts of themselves and are detained for this reason, each member of the association is to be known by a number, and badges bearing this number and the telephone number of the association will be worn.

Appeal to Be Made Through Rabbis.

An appeal is to be made to the president of every orthodox congregation in the city to request members of his synagogue to join the organization.

More than twenty cases of Jews injured or robbed were laid before the executive committee of the association at a session held at the close of the massmeeting.

JOY MORTON'S CHAUFFEUR FACES DOUBLE PROSECUTION

In Justice Court Charged with Malicious Mischief—Auto Club Wants to Make Example of Him.

Joy Morton's chauffeur, Adam Moerschaeber, who wrecked his employer's car by a collision with a Clark street car at Division street, was in Justice Mayer's court yesterday on a charge of malicious mischief and exceeding the speed limit. He took a change of venue to Justice Roth.

The collision occurred Friday morning shortly after midnight. Moerschaeber was driving the car without Mr. Morton's permission and contrary to his directions.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Chicago Automobile club, of which Mr. Morton is a member, has been called for 12:30 today and it is expected some radical action will be urged to make an example of Moerschaeber for the benefit of chauffeurs who are disposed to use their employer's cars without permission.

AGED MAN KILLED BY AUTO.

Howard O'Haver, 70 Years Old, of Denver Run Down by Machine Driven by Girl.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Howard O'Haver, aged 70, today was run down and killed by an automobile which was being driven by Miss Birdie Appel.

Miss Appel was arraigned tonight on a charge of manslaughter and held in $5,000 bail.

Persons who saw the accident declare that the machine could have been stopped had not the girl lost her head.

Jury Briber Must Go to Penitentiary.

William Gallagher, who was convicted four years ago of jury bribing, probably will be sent to Joliet penitentiary next Saturday, the Supreme court having refused two weeks ago to allow his appeal.

RESCUED FROM A RESORT.

GIRL, ASSISTED BY TWO MEN, ESCAPES FROM ROADHOUSE.

Miss Daisy Bailey of Chicago Declares She Was Lured to a Disreputable Place Near the Cook County Line by John Jurs, the Proprietor, and That He Horsewhipped Her When She Threatened to Leave—Township Officers May Act.

The rescue of Miss Daisy Bailey, 18 years old, 590 North Clark street, from the Cook County roadhouse, four miles east of Elgin, and the charges she makes against John Jurs, the proprietor, may result in the indictment of Jurs and the closing of the place.

Miss Bailey said Jurs offered her a position to do housework on his farm. When she discovered the nature of the place he was conducting she insisted on being taken back to Elgin. She said Jurs refused to let her go and beat her with a horsewhip.

Escape at Night in a Buggy.

She told her story to Charles Bergstrand and August Radloff, two young men who live at Dundee, and they assisted her Sunday night to escape from the place. The three drove for Elgin, closely followed, it is said, by Jurs, who was in another buggy.

The Elgin police were notified by telephone by persons living along the Chicago road a few miles east of Elgin, who heard the girl scream. The farmers said they saw a two seated rig, in which two men and a girl were seated. It was followed closely by a buggy containing one man. Jurs was in the second rig and Miss Bailey said she screamed because she feared he would overtake them.

In Cook County Jurisdiction.

Chief of Police Younger discovered that the place was out of his jurisdiction, but he hopes to get some information from the girl which will be of value to Cook county officials in case they care to take the matter up.

At the last meeting of Hanover township $1,000 was voted to begin a legal fight against Jurs' place and another of the same stamp near it. The town officers afterward learned that it was not legal to appropriate money for such a purpose and the vote was rescinded. Justice Schramm of Hanover township hinted that money might be raised by popular subscription to begin a legal battle against the resorts.

THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY NOW FACING FINANCIAL CRISIS.

Appeal for Aid Recalls Prof. Fox's Petition Made to John D. Rockefeller a Year Ago.

An echo of the controversy which raged at the Chicago Theological seminary a year ago over Prof. Andrew N. Fox's telegram to Rockefeller asking for some of the latter's "tainted coin," was heard yesterday in the gathering of Congregational ministers in the Y. M. C. A. building.

At the time of the Fox episode the trustees disowned Fox's attitude with the statement that they were not after the oil king's wealth, but Prof. H. M. Scott, speaking on behalf of the seminary, now declares that the institution is in desperate straits for funds, especially for carrying on its work of educating theological students for work among immigrants.

"We are on the brink of bankruptcy," declared Prof. Scott. "Money must be raised from some source or other. We have been doing a unique work in sending out Congregational workers among the Germans, Swedes, and Norwegians. Ours is the only seminary in the country that does this. It seems only fair to us that this work among an immigrant population should be borne, not by us alone, but by all the churches."

Several of the clergymen present pledged their churches for various sums, ranging from $10 to $100. To cooperate with the seminary a committee was appointed, consisting of the Rev. William A. Bartlett, the Rev. Willard B. Thorp, the Rev. Horace B. Williams, Maj. Edward D. Redington, Thomas C. MacMillan, Dr. Morgan of Elgin, and A. M. Johnson.

The proposed union with the United Brethren and the Methodist Protestants was discussed, but no action taken. A "look out committee" was appointed to receive suggestions for extending the evangelical work in the vicinity of Chicago. It was composed of the Rev. S. C. Haskin, the Rev. W. E. Barton, T. C. MacMillan, the Rev. J. S. Ainslee, the Rev. Frank Smith, and L. E. Harter.

HAMMOND TEACHER OUSTED FOR BEING TOO POPULAR.

Social Triumphs of Miss Genevieve McGraw Lead Supt. McDaniel to Dismiss Her, and Commotion Is the Result.

The people of Hammond are arguing the question of the right of C. M. McDaniel, their superintendent of schools, to determine to what extent a school teacher may associate with young men when such association does not interfere with school work and the young men are of unquestioned character. The discussion was precipitated when Miss Genevieve McGraw, the prettiest school teacher in Hammond, was dismissed summarily because she was seen frequently in the company of young men.

Miss McGraw went to Hammond at the beginning of the present school year from West Superior, Wis., with a flattering recommendation from President I. C. McNeil of the Superior Normal school and was given a position as teacher in the sixth grade. She at once won a host of friends and the best young men of the city showered their attentions upon her. The superintendent and principal of the school frowned on her social triumphs and she was the object of considerable criticism on the part of some of her less fortunate coworkers.

Finally Miss McGraw was called to the office of the principal and there was informed that she must resign. She told her friends about it and they at once rallied to her support. Even her school children circulated petitions asking that she be reinstated and her influential friends denounced the action of the school officials.

The attitude of the townspeople has put the superintendent in hot water and he is undecided whether to stand by his first decision or to yield.

Overcome by Gas, Drowns.

John Doyle, 36 years old, 9616 Escanaba avenue, South Chicago, an engineer employed by the Lehigh Valley Coal company, One Hundredth street and the Calumet river, was overcome by gas in a water tunnel yesterday afternoon and fell into the river and drowned before aid could reach him. The body was recovered.

REFORM IS URGED IN LAW PRACTICE

Progressive Attorneys Say Cumbersome Methods Make More Judges Necessary.

BRITISH PLAN IS CITED.

England and Wales, with 42,000,000 People, Have Comparatively Few Jurists.

Following the disclosure of the movement fostered by some lawyers to add ten more judgeships to the machinery of the Criminal court at an additional cost to the taxpayers of $125,000 annually, it was learned yesterday that a similar scheme is afoot for the enlargement of the state Supreme court.

As in the local case, the same lawyers are behind the proposition to add to the court system, which in Chicago alone already employs a larger number of judges than are required in all England and Wales, with a population about half that of the entire United States. The prime mover is Frank J. Loesch, the newly elected president of the Bar association.

The excuse offered is that the Supreme court is overburdened with litigation, particularly in the preparation of formal opinions, about 900 of which are required each year. Although the clerical work is left to secretaries, it is stated that half the time of the judges is consumed in the preparation of formal opinions where oral orders would serve the purpose.

Written Opinions Required.

Those officers of the Bar association who are interested in the matter are at a loss to suggest relief. A meeting is to be called soon to consider the question. The Illinois constitution provides that all Supreme court opinions shall be in writing. In New York oral orders are permitted and formal opinions required only in the most important cases.

Because of the formal system and other legal methods held by many lawyers to be cumbersome and expensive, a progressive set of lawyers in the association is said to be agitating a project to make a determined fight this winter to secure the passage of the law practice act known in the last legislature as house bill No. 31. This is one of the measures reforming law practice that have been before the legislatures of the last ten years. The failure of legislation on the subject is generally attributed to the presence of too many lawyers in the legislature. They can reach an agreement on any bill but the law practice act.

Comparison with British Courts.

An interesting compilation of data has been made which places the British and American systems so far as they relate to judges and expediency, side by side for comparison.

England and Wales together have a population of about 42,000,000, or about half as many people as there are in the United States. They have an area of about 57,000 square miles, while the area of the United States is about 3,000,000 square miles. Therefore the density of population is greater across the ocean, and, according to theories of criminologists, crime might be expected to be more abundant.

A recent count showed about twenty-two judges in England and Wales exercising the same general jurisdiction exercised by judges in American courts of record. As compared with the twenty-two British judges, Chicago usually has about the same number similarly employed. The new municipal court will bring twenty-eight judges more. In greater New York there are nearly thirty-eight judges of similar jurisdiction to those in Chicago, and in the United States it is estimated that there are 1,488 judges in courts of record, including the federal courts.

Quicker Procedure Abroad.

In England and Wales 80,000 cases are pending. In Chicago there are 30,000 suits awaiting trial in courts of record and in the United States 1,600,000 similar suits are estimated to be pending.

In Chicago and many other places in this country the courts are from two to three years behind in their work. In England a case is reached within a few months from the time it is begun.

This country has twenty times as much civil litigation as England and seventy times as many judges to dispose of it.

In English courts the judge takes an energetic part in the trial, superintending it all and keeping it under his direction and control. He instructs the jury in plain terms, instead of in the stilted manner prescribed by law in this country.

There are no Gilhooly or Shea juries in England and Wales. It has been said that instead of waiting months to complete a jury because of objections made to veniremen the Shea jury would have been completed in England in an hour. Comparatively few persons are exempted from jury service there. Peremptory challenges are allowed in cases of felony, but not in misdemeanors.

PROBLEM FOR BAILIFF-ELECT.

Ald. Hunter in Doubt as to Right to Qualify While Still Alderman—New Judges Sworn In.

Ald. Thomas Hunter, chief bailiff-elect of the Municipal courts, has encountered a difficulty in assuming his office. He asked Assistant Corporation Counsel Hoyne to render an opinion as to whether he might continue to serve as alderman until the selection of a successor and at the same time hold the position of chief bailiff. Mr. Hoyne cited the statute that aldermen must serve until their successors are chosen and the law that aldermen shall not hold any other city office.

Ald. Hunter has resigned from the council and he does not contemplate any opposition to his assumption of the court office. He expects to consult attorneys today on the point.

Chief Justice Harry Olson and twenty-six of the associate judges of the new courts took the oath of office in the afternoon. The judges had a meeting in the afternoon at which plans for the inauguration of the courts next Monday were discussed. Chief Justice Olson plans nightly meetings during the first few weeks of the new courts.

SUGGEST LAWSON FOR MAYOR.

William C. Lawson, the retiring clerk of the Criminal court, at a farewell dinner given last evening in his honor at the Bismarck hotel, 130 Randolph street, was urged as a possible republican candidate for mayor by Deputy Clerk Charles L. Sherlock. The dinner was tendered by the thirty-six employes in Lawson's office, and he was presented with a number of rugs, valued at $500, as a gift from his friends. Mr. Lawson retires from his present office Dec. 3.

ZION INDUSTRIES WILL BE OPERATED BY CREDITORS.

Representatives of Voliva and Dowie Relinquish All Claims—Board of Directors to Manage Works.

The industries of Zion City are to be revived and operated under the management of the creditors. This fact was announced at an open meeting held in the tabernacle last night. Another meeting will be held next Monday night at which Receiver John C. Hately will give a detailed plan.

The decision to reopen the lace and other factories of Zion City was reached last Friday at a meeting held in Judge Landis' office between the attorneys for the Voliva faction, those representing Dr. Dowie, and Receiver Hately. At this conference Dr. Dowie's attorneys agreed to relinquish all claims to the property to the creditors, providing Voliva and his followers would do likewise. This was immediately agreed to.

The tentative plan suggested was that Judge Landis should appoint three men and the creditors should name four, and the seven would constitute a board of directors. Receiver Hately is to be chairman of the board. The creditors on their part agree to be responsible for the debts of Zion.

DEFECT FOUND IN NEW RATE LAW.

Canadian Pacific Will Take Millions in Freight from American Lines.

NEED NOT POST CHANGES.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Millions of dollars' worth of foreign freight will be lost annually to American railroads as a result of the operation of the new interstate commerce law, according to a complaint just filed with the interstate commerce commission.

The complaint has been submitted by representatives of the Illinois Central railroad. They have called the attention of the commission to the fact that the Canadian Pacific railroad, unhandicapped by any provision of law requiring previous notice of a change of rate, advertises rates for freight transportation from England and the continent considerably below that announced by American roads. The American roads are unable to meet this competition because of that provision of the new railroad rate law which prescribes that "no change shall be made in rates, fares, charges, or joint rates, fares, and charges which have been filed and published by any common carrier in compliance with requirements of this section, except after thirty days' notice to the commission and to the public."

Illinois Central Complains.

The Illinois Central has appealed to the commission to exercise the authority also granted by law under which it may "in its discretion and for good cause shown" allow changes within less time than in the notice specified. It has been pointed out to the commission that unless it be made impossible for Canadian and Mexican roads to undercut American rates thousands of tons of freight which produce a revenue of millions of dollars to American railways will be diverted from Europe and Asia to Canadian and Mexican lines.

The Canadian Pacific makes connection with vessels from England at Montreal and transports freight from that point to various places where connection is made with American lines. The latter are required to file schedules showing the rates charged for transportation from places where they receive the freight from the Canadian Pacific and different points on their own route, and to this extent they are under the control of the commission.

In this same connection there is a line of steamers connecting New York and Vera Cruz, Mexico, which claims to be exempt from the operation of the new law. It can, if its contention be sustained, not only discriminate in favor of a particular shipper, but can reduce the rates below those of competing lines and by an agreement with Mexican and American railroads deliver freight in Texas and other United States points at a cost less than that charged on an all American route.

Asks a Temporary Order.

The Illinois Central has asked for a temporary order, at least until Jan. 1, under which it may be able to make changes in its rates after ten days' notice. The question is to receive the consideration of the full commission as soon as the investigations upon which the individual members are engaged permit them to come to Washington.

There is a question in the minds of the commission whether it cannot require the Canadian Pacific and other foreign lines connecting with American roads to comply with the provisions of the new law, and if this is found legal it will prevent the cut rate policy the Canadian road has inaugurated.

No disposition exists on the part of the commission to have American railroads suffer loss through foreign roads taking advantage of their publication of rates in accordance with the provision of the railroad rate law. But at the same time there is a desire to protect the interests of American shippers, and this can be done only by requiring ample notice of any changes of rate.

Privilege Abused in Past.

The history of railroad operations shows that the railroads have taken advantage of the permission accorded them to make changes in a few days' time to give a large shipper the benefit of a lower rate which is denied to the small shipper by the simple expedient of raising it. In effect this amounted to a rebate, and was certainly discrimination. If some way could be devised whereby a railroad would be allowed to reduce a rate within, say, five day's notice, but not to increase it under thirty days' notice, there is no question that an effective curb would be placed upon discrimination.

Such a proposition has been approved by the interstate commerce commission but has never met with favor from the railroads, which usually have sought to increase rates when competition permitted rather than reduce them. It is the impression here that if the commission grant the request of the Illinois Central it will meet the competition of the Canadian Pacific for a time and compel the latter to enter into an agreement whereby rates will be relatively the same, and perhaps higher than those the Canadian Pacific now charges.

WON'T LET SHIPPERS' LAWYER QUESTION HILL ON FREIGHTS.

Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission's Action Branded as a Move to Protect Big Magnate.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—James Manahan, attorney for the Minnesota Shippers' association, was not permitted by the railroad and warehouse commission to cross examine James J. Hill today, when the hearing on the shippers' complaints against the railroads was resumed. Although Attorney Manahan has conducted the entire case for the shippers in previous hearings, he was compelled to step aside for Attorney General Young.

Manahan charged that the commission was trying to throw a mantle of protection around Hill. He threatened an appeal to the governor. He told the commission that he believed its action had been inspired by fear of Hill and to prevent the asking of questions which were not pleasant to the Great Northern magnate.

Most of Hill's testimony was a repetition of that he gave before the interstate commerce commission at Minneapolis last week. Explaining why rates for soft coal were lower than for anthracite, he said:

"It costs no less to handle soft coal than hard coal, but we make a concession because of its more general use. We don't make much profit in carrying fuel."

SAYS RAILWAY WITHHELD CARS

Official of Coal Company Sues Baltimore and Ohio for $500,000, Alleging Discrimination.

Columbus, O., Nov. 26.—William Job of the Peabody Coal company today filed suit against the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company for $500,000 damages.

Job claims that upon the strength of the railroad company's promise to furnish cars it took a contract to supply the Northwestern Fuel company of St. Paul, Minn., with 120,000 tons of coal, and the railroad company failed to furnish the cars.

The petition further charges other mines, in which officers of the railroad company are alleged to have interests, secured all the cars needed.

WEALTH TO FIGHT ROOSEVELT PLAN.

congress has the right to impose it for one purpose it can do so for another. Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion merely is that a tax of this kind should be imposed by the federal government, graduated in such a way that it will not merely discourage but actually will disintegrate fortunes swollen beyond the bounds of safety to the republic. The British income tax hits the just and unjust almost alike, but the Roosevelt scheme would leave the small fry in security and would operate as a practical prohibition on great incomes.

Inheritance Tax as Curb.

Much the same theory is applied in the president's mind to an inheritance tax. In most of the laws of this charcter passed by the states and by the federal government as well, during the Spanish war, the theory has been always to increase the rate of tax according to the distance in blood relationship to which the estate is to descend. That is to say, an estate of certain amount going to a son would pay but a small tax while the same estate going to a man not a blood relative would pay a tax many times as great.

The Roosevelt idea would be almost the reverse of this. What he wants to do is to prevent the descent of swollen fortunes from father to son. He wants to break up these great fortunes as much as possible and to put a premium upon their dissipation during the lifetime of the holder. Under Mr. Roosevelt's scheme an estate tied up for a short time, like the Marshall Field bequest for instance, would be assessed a tax so large that it would split the estate in two or into good sized fragments, unless it had been previously broken up during the lifetime of the original owner. The operation of this type of inheritance law would tend to divert fortunes to some extent away from the family and into the hands of friends and trustees as well as institutions.

Tax a Revenue Producer.

With this type of inheritance and income tax leveled avowedly at the rich, it is the belief of President Roosevelt that he could secure the disintegration of great fortunes as they now exist and prevent their being piled up in the future. Either an inheritance tax or income tax would be a large revenue producer. It probably would make necessary in the long run a radical revision of our tariff law, and it might become necessary to get down to a free trade basis merely to prevent too much accumulation in the treasury.

If the true theory of the Roosevelt financial scheme works out, however, it would result in the prohibition of great fortunes and hence would not be so great a revenue producer, because no man in his right mind would amass an enormous fortune if he knew that the government would take possession of the greater part of it upon his death. Even under those circumstances, however, the revenue derived from such sources would be great, and it probably would be more than enough to run the government, so that internal revenues and customs dues necessarily would have to be abolished or else the government itself would soon control all the money in the country.

May Cause Great Agitation.

It is easy to see, therefore, that in the coming battle royal there will be arrayed on the one side poor men, men of moderate incomes, and the moderately rich who have been unable to hold their own against the enormously rich. Against them will be the enormously rich individuals, great corporations which administer estates, and the protected industries which naturally will fear the necessary attack upon the protective system if the government gets into the habit of raising money from inheritances and incomes.

There are elements in the fight which can readily split the country on a matter of theory, and while there is not the slightest chance of legislation at the coming short session of congress, there is a prospect, following out the analogy of the rate agitation, that there will be a spectacular fight in congress and throughout the country beginning the day the president sends in his recommendations, either in his regular message or otherwise, and continuing probably during the remainder of his administration.

FRIENDS OF MAYOR SCHMITZ TO GIVE HUGE RECEPTION.

Thousands of San Francisco's Indicted Executive's Adherents to Parade in His Honor.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—The friends of Mayor Schmitz are preparing to give him a tremendous reception on his arrival home. They have hired the Dreamland pavilion and they propose that thousands of members of the labor unions, as well as all municipal officers, shall meet the mayor at the ferry Thursday morning and escort him to his home. A great massmeeting will be held in the evening, to be addressed by Mayor Schmitz, Abe Ruef, and others.

One hundred thousand badges have been issued for the occasion. By means of the labor unions, which can impose a fine on those who do not turn out, an imposing parade can be organized, and as Thursday is a holiday the men will not lose any time from their work.

The latest device of Secret Service Agent Burns is to have women detectives secure the evidence against the supervisors by mingling with supervisors' wives. Burns is also having all suspected officials shadowed and none can leave the city without being followed.

Andrieu, the French keeper of a disorderly house on Pacific street, is in fear of his life, as detectives have not been able to locate three men who met Andrieu Saturday night on Fillmore street and threatened to do him up for telling about money exacted from him for police protection. Andrieu believes they will kill him despite the guard that Burns has furnished him. Burns declares if any one molests his witnesses he will make a huge roundup of all the crooks and run them out of the state.

NIAGARA SAVIORS ANGER TAFT.

Secretary Cuts Short Reflections on Army Engineers' Integrity and Disputes Statements.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Secretary Taft, by an emphatic interruption, today checked the efforts of those pleading for the preservation of Niagara falls to cast reflections on the integrity of army engineers. The secretary told J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic association of Philadelphia, that such arguments were more than useless. McFarland took another tack.

Secretary Taft criticised a statement by the association that it was proposed to divert from the Niagara river a volume of water equaling the outflow of the Potomac, Hudson, and Delaware rivers at their mouths. He declared the exact facts are that it is proposed to divert only about 6, 8, or 10 per cent. The protestants closed their case today, except for the filing of additional briefs.

In the afternoon Secretary Taft heard representatives of those who secure power from the Niagara river, who insisted that the grandeur of the falls and the volume of water had not been lessened.

OKLAHOMA LIQUOR ISSUE STIRS

Opponents of Prohibition Disturbed Over Appointment of Curl as Committee Chairman.

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 26.—When the constitutional convention met here today after a recess of three days, President Murray submitted his forty-six committees. The opponents of prohibition are disturbed over the appointment of a prohibitionist, K. J. Curl, of Bartlesville, as chairman of the liquor committees. The statehood enabling act places the Indian Territory portion of the new state under prohibition for a period of twenty-one years, and it is believed that an effort is being made by the Indian Territory delegates to bring about constitutional prohibition over the entire state.

PITTSBURG ROILS SECRETARY SHAW

ALL OVER A POSTOFFICE.

Snaps His Fingers Under Nose of President of Chamber of Commerce.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw spent the day in Pittsburg fighting about a site for the new postoffice, for which congress some time ago appropriated $1,000,000.

The secretary arrived early, with a chip on his shoulder. He battled with every one, from the president of the Chamber of Commerce down to the colored boy who brought him a finger bowl at the Union club restaurant, and in most instances he seemed to have the best of it.

He even snapped his fingers aggressively under the nose of President English of the Chamber of Commerce, causing that dignified individual to leave a public meeting shouting loudly that he had been insulted, that the Chamber of Commerce had been insulted, and that he proposed to appeal to President Roosevelt about it.

Finally Secretary Shaw rounded up the reporters and told them the newspapers had been printing "lies." He dismissed them with a request that as a personal favor to him they tell to their respective editors that they had been printing lies.

How the Trouble Started.

The whole trouble began on Nov. 15 when Secretary Shaw announced that he had selected a site on Fifteenth street for a postoffice. The price was $985,000. The property had been recommended to Secretary Shaw by Congressmen John Dalzell and A. J. Barchfeld.

At once telegrams poured in on Secretary Shaw protesting against the site and the price. The secretary said he had decided and refused to change his mind, but he agreed to acquire the property by condemnation.

There was more opposition and more protests kept the wires to Washington hot. Finally Congressman Burke wired Secretary Shaw a message which the secretary of the treasury angrily demanded be withdrawn. This was done, and Mr. Shaw then decided to come to Pittsburg and inspect the situation for himself. He arrived this morning with his fighting clothes on ready to defend the Fifteenth street site.

Then the Row Begins.

The secretary received, first of all, President English and a committee representing the chamber of commerce, who protested against the Fifteenth street site. A heated debate followed, which Secretary Shaw closed, apparently, with one parting shot:

"I guess these members were called to approve a certain course and knew what was wanted of them before they were selected."

At this point President English, white with rage, demanded a hearing.

"I value my reputation in this city too highly," he said, "to allow any imputation that I selected this committee unfairly to stand."

Mr. Shaw said: "Well, is it not true that you called a meeting for the purpose of finishing some other business, and that no one knew you were going to appoint a postoffice committee?"

"The meeting was called in the regular way."

"But did you specify that you would name a postoffice committee?"

"Well, we have a set of bylaws, and if the chamber is satisfied with them you should be, Mr. Secretary."

Secretary's Anger Rising.

"But I am not. If your appointees represent the membership of your organization I would be glad to hear them, but they do not. They represent the directors only. It may be the will of the directors to protest against the Fifteenth street site, but I have the word of perhaps 50 per cent of the membership of your organization that they do not oppose it. You have admitted that you called the meeting without stating the purposes of the gathering."

Mr. English angrily started to explain, and his eyes flashed fire. Secretary Shaw was equally angry and interrupted him.

"It is not within the province of your body to select postoffice sites, but I would gladly give their selection some weight if it was the selection of the membership. The meeting was not called publicly, and I do not care that for the selection the membership have made." And the secretary snapped his fingers in Mr. English's face.

Mr. English dashed from the room shouting:

"I will appeal to President Roosevelt. This is an outrage and a farce. I will not be insulted this way, nor have the chamber of commerce so insulted."

Rebuff for J. Boyd Duff.

The civic committee fared no better than did the chamber of commerce. As a member of this body J. Boyd Duff started to present the claims of that body when Mr. Shaw interrupted.

"How was this committee selected?" asked Secretary Shaw.

Mr. Duff stated it was composed of delegates from all the organizations in the city.

Mr. Shaw said: "Is that true? I have tons of evidence otherwise. I understand that the members of this committee were not selected by the membership of the organizations but by the directors and officers, who made their selections for a purpose."

This caused more excitement, during which J. W. Wardrop rose and said he thought the members from the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, of which he is secretary, were selected in a legitimate manner. He demanded a hearing.

"If that is so," replied the secretary, "the best evidence would be to submit a call of the meeting at which they were selected and their credentials. I will consider any representatives of organizations who represent the membership and not those who represent only the officers. You can all dismiss from your minds any belief that I will consider the work of special committees who do not represent a bona fide membership."

Bridles at Word "Graft."

There was also a hot setto between Secretary Shaw and James H. Reed, who is considered one of the leading attorneys of Pennsylvania. Mr. Reed, besides being a former partner of Senator Knox, is president of the Philadelphia company, and is one of the United States Steel corporation's attorneys. He addressed Secretary Shaw at length, but once inadvertently used the term "graft."

"Look here," said Secretary Shaw, bristling up, "that word 'graft' is being used entirely too much in connection with this business, and I'm getting tired. I also want it stopped."

This caused a laugh from those who had been present when the secretary of the treasury of the United States himself had called on the business men assembled to "lay aside grafting."

At noon Mr. Shaw called a halt for lunch, and said to Congressman Burke: "Come on, let's eat. Lead me to one of your 'quick and dirty' lunchrooms, and I can get through in twenty minutes," but the crowd did not join in the laugh with Mr. Shaw. That gang was too "sore."

Later in the day Mr. Shaw went over some of the sites with members of the committee. When at the Liberty avenue and Fifteenth street site Mr. Shaw turned round suddenly and said:

"Why the dickens can't this block," pointing to the property between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, "be had for $1,000,000?"

He was told by members of the party that options on that block could not be secured.

"By George, I believe I'll have it condemned!" exclaimed the secretary.

No More Chicago Mistakes.

During the afternoon Mr. Shaw paid his compliments to the Chicago postoffice. He cited the building of a postoffice at Des Moines (merely a workshop, he called it) for $500,000, and said: "We will build such a structure here. It will be a beautiful building, but it will not have a dome.

"The Chicago postoffice was the last mistake we will make in that direction," he added. "In Chicago they have an $8,000,000 pile that is nothing but a monument to a man that thought he could build a postoffice. Here we will have a place where the mail will be received quickly and shot in tubes to all parts of the city for quick delivery."

"Speed is what you gentlemen all want in your business, and that is what you must keep in mind in considering these sites. I think that my first selection was the best, but we will closely consider the merits of all others. I arrived at a conclusion by elimination, and will arrive at a conclusion again in the same manner. Now keep that in mind and proceed with your offers."

Asked late this afternoon when his decision would be handed down regarding the Pittsburg postoffice site, Secretary Shaw said:

"Not inside two weeks. I must confer with the chief architect at Washington, who is at work on the plans."

This answer caused joy to the sore heads in the chamber of commerce, the Civic league, and the Merchants and Manufacturers' association. As it is known that plans are already under way for the Fifteenth street site, the secretary's statement that he will consult with the architect is evidence that he has determined in his own mind to at least consider the other sites.

Rearrested in Franchise Scandal.

C. S. Cameron, president of the Tube City railroad, and William A. Martin, a member of common councils, were rearrested here tonight following a meeting of councils in connection with the recent charges that they were trying to defraud the railroad out of $70,000. The two men were first arrested last Wednesday and held first in $80,000 bail, which was later reduced to $10,000. The charges were made by C. R. Richardson, a stockholder, who charged "grafting" in connection with a number of ordinances now pending before the Pittsburg councils.

Cameron and Martin were rearrested shortly before midnight, and are being detained in the woman's department of the central station until tomorrow, when it is expected bail will be given.

Sensational charges are being made regarding the Tube City railroad ordinances, which provided for a proposed railroad line from McKeesport, with Pittsburg as the terminal.

A detective agency, said to be employed by Richardson, and which claims to have evidence that will open up a municipal scandal, is reticent in the matter.

Mayor Guthrie called upon these detectives to furnish him with this evidence, and this was done today. When the councils adjourned tonight no information could be gathered as to any action taken, but it is known that a message was presented from the mayor bearing upon the situation. Less than an hour later the arrests were made.

A DOCTOR'S TRIALS

Sometimes Gets Sick Like Other People.

READ BELOW:

Even doing good to people is hard work if you have too much of it to do.

No one knows this better than the hard-working, conscientious family doctor. He has troubles of his own—often gets caught in the rain or snow, or loses so much sleep he sometimes gets out of sorts. An overworked Ohio doctor tells his experience:

"About three years ago, as the result of doing two men's work, attending a large practice and looking after the details of another business, my health broke down completely and I was little better than a physical wreck.

"I suffered from indigestion and constipation, loss of weight, and appetite, bloating and pain after meals, loss of memory and lack of nerve force for continued mental application.

"I became irritable, easily angered and despondent without cause. The heart's action became irregular and weak, with frequent attacks of palpitation during the first hour or two after retiring.

"Some Grape-Nuts and cut bananas came for my luncheon one day and pleased me particularly with the result. I got more satisfaction from it than from anything I had eaten for months, and on further investigation and use, used Grape-Nuts for my morning and evening meals, served usually with cream and a sprinkle of salt or sugar.

"My improvement was rapid and permanent in weight as well as in physical and mental endurance. In a word, I am filled with the joy of living again, and continue the daily use of Grape-Nuts for breakfast and often for the evening meal.

"The little pamphlet, 'The Road to Wellville,' found in pkgs., is invariably saved and handed to some needy patient along with the indicated remedy." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a reason."

On Saturday afternoon when it came time for the comedienne to sing "Honora Doolin" not a man was in the pit, and an embarrassing stage wait was the result.

A hurry call for the Germans who compose the orchestra resulted in the messenger finding them under the stage busily engaged in the mysteries of the international game. Muffled remarks about eighty kings, sixty queens, etc., were heard through the door when the interruption came.

Miss Irwin's edict is the result.

Seek Chicagoan's Testimony to Aid Harry Thaw's Case.

Clifford W. Hartridge, counsel for Harry K. Thaw, notified District Attorney Jerome today that on Friday next application will be made to the Supreme court for two commissions to obtain evidence from two men who were with Thaw on the night he shot Stanford White at Madison Square roof garden. They are out of the local court's jurisdiction and cannot be subpœnaed. The men are Truxton Beale, now in Bakersfield, Cal., and Thomas Max Caleb, now in Chicago.

The petition states that these two men dined with Thaw and the latter's wife on the night of the shooting and later accompanied the couple to the roof garden.

The petition states further that these two witnesses are of vital importance to the defense and that it would be an injustice to bring the case to trial without their testimony.

Ministers Moving to Stop Atrocities to Blacks in Congo.

Resolutions condemning the reported atrocities in the Congo Free State and embodying an appeal to the American state department to do everything in its power to lead the nations of the world to forbid further injustices," were adopted today at two big ministers' meetings.

The Presbyterian ministers were addressed by the Rev. Dr. Everett D. Burr, who has given up the pastorate of the First Baptist church at Newton, Mass., for a time to devote himself entirely to the campaign of the Congo Reform association. After his address a committee was appointed to draw up resolutions appealing to the administration at Washington.

At the Baptist ministers' conference a petition, which will be sent to Secretary Root, was signed by about 300 Baptist ministers.

Immigrant Ship in Hard Battle with Sea.

For four days 1,500 immigrant passengers on the Italian steamer Florida, which arrived today from Genoa and Naples, were kept below decks while the steamer pitched and rolled in a gale which at times assumed almost the proportions of a hurricane. The Florida came through safely, however, and none of the passengers suffered any permanent injury.

Capt. Nocra had a narrow escape from being hurled into the sea, when a sudden pitch of the steamer threw him the full length of the bridge.

French Countess Held for Murder; Smiles Confidently.

A coroner's jury today returned a verdict holding Mrs. Anisia Louise de Massey responsible for the death of Gustav Simon, a shirtwaist manufacturer, whom she shot last week in his factory on Broadway. Mrs. De Massey, who had been employed by Simon as a designer, has persistently denied her guilt, but witnesses who appeared before the coroner testified that just before his death Simon identified her as his assailant.

Duchess Whose Divorce Is Questioned Said to Have Married Czar's Cousin.

ANASTASIA, DUCHESS OF LUCHTENBURG.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 26.—The report of the marriage of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, cousin of the czar, to Anastasia, duchess of Luchtemburg, born a princess of Montenegro, is generally current, though neither confirmation nor denial is obtainable owing to the customary reticence in matters affecting the imperial house. The marriage, which, according to one story, occurred yesterday, is the absorbing topic of discussion in court circles, on account of the prominence of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, who is the only grand duke retaining any influence with the emperor, and the marital situation of the Duchess Anastasia, whose divorce from her husband, Duke George, Prince Romanowsky, has not yet been officially announced, though their separation is a matter of common knowledge. Duke George is now living abroad and is said to have been morganatically married. Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, who, although 50 years old, is still a bachelor, has for some time been expected to marry. A few months ago his name was connected with that of the Grand Duchess Elizabeth, widow of the Grand Duke Sergius.

OTHERS IN CARUSO MUCK.

CLERGYMEN AND LAWYERS SAID TO HAVE BEEN GUILTY ALSO.

Deputy Police Commissioner Mathot Declares That Many Men Prominent in New York Have Been Arrested, but Cases Kept Quiet for Use as Club—Tenor Granted Appeal—Is Greeted Warmly at Rehearsal by Metropolitan Stars.

New York, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Deputy Police Commissioner Mathot declared today that many men prominent in professional or business life have been arrested in Central park for offenses similar to the ones of which Enrico Caruso was found guilty. The commissioner asserted that the names of a bishop and several clergymen, lawyers, business men, actors, managers, and others have been on the police records as defendants in cases of that sort, but the news of their arrests was suppressed. Mathot said further that he had received letters threatening his life on account of his activity in the Caruso case.

Tenor Granted an Appeal.

These statements, together with the granting by Judge O'Sullivan of the Court of General Sessions of an appeal for Caruso from Magistrate Baker's decision, were the most notable developments today in the case of the Metropolitan tenor. Deputy Commissioner Mathot made his statements before a group of newspaper men at police headquarters.

Women Singers Support Caruso.

Caruso took part in rehearsal today for the first time since his trial began. His throat has improved so that Herr Conried is almost certain the tenor will be able to appear in his opening engagement as Rodolfo in "La Bohème" on Wednesday night.

Caruso was received cordially at the rehearsal. The first thing Mme. Sembrich did after arriving at the opera house was to ask for the round robin which is being circulated among the opera singers to express their confidence in Caruso's innocence. Mme. Sembrich signed it.

The round robin signatures, it was learned, start with that of Mme. Louise Homer, the well known contralto.

ISSUE IN RAISULI'S HANDS.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Nov. 26.—The Moroccan situation apparently has reached a high degree of tension, although from a nonofficial public point of view the whole affair seems sufficiently simple to afford every opportunity of a reasonable solution, always excepting the possibilities of a disturbance by Raisuli. With him, whether acting on his own initiative or at the instigation of interested intriguers, lies the opportunity to make provision that the Algeciras convention come peacefully into operation or the contrary. Raisuli's career affords little expectation that he will be moved by any consideration for international amity.

It is understood the French and Spanish governments feel impelled to take all due measure for protection of foreigners in case of overt acts. The Algeciras convention provides France and Spain shall jointly police Tangier, but France feels she made herself responsible to Europe and the United States for the safety of foreigners in Morocco. If Raisuli remains quiescent no further action will be taken. Should he determine an outbreak action will be necessary.

Mr. Rosen, German minister to Morocco, has placed himself wholly with the other ministers regarding the requirements of the situation.

PLAGUE GERMS IN VIRUS?

LIGHT ON DEATH OF TEN PHILIPPINE PRISONERS.

Governor General Smith Issues Statement as to Fatalities Following Treatment with Anti-Cholera Serum—Preparation Supposed to Have Been Contaminated During Work in Laboratory—United States Government Will Give Assistance.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

MANILA, Nov. 26.—Gov. Gen. Smith has issued a statement in regard to the recent death of ten prisoners in Bilibid jail who had been inoculated with anti-cholera virus. There were twenty-four native prisoners who were subjected to the treatment, the virus being administered by Dr. R. R. Strong, chief of the government laboratory, who was acting under the authorization of the Philippine commission.

Apparently the deaths were due to the virus becoming contaminated with plague germs during its preparation in the laboratory. The coroner's verdict has not been announced.

The government proposes to assist the families of the dead men.

CZAR WIPES OUT COMMUNAL LANDS

System Which Has Existed for Centuries Destroyed by Stroke of Pen.

NEW ERA FOR PEASANTS.

Enemies of the Court Party See Plan to Prop Up the Autocracy.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 26.—The great importance of the imperial ukase sanctioning the disruption of the communes is beginning to be recognized by the press, where the matter is receiving much attention.

The opposition is taken aback by the wide scope of the measure and the unexpected and bold initiative of the government in tackling and solving in this radical manner the problem of communal ownership, which has existed in Russia for centuries.

In communes where no redistribution has taken place for the last twenty-four years, a peasant may acquire as absolute personal property to such portions of the communal land which happen at the present moment to be in his possession or under cultivation by him.

In communes where there has been a redistribution within twenty-four years this privilege is limited and is subject to pro rata calculation based on the number of members in the household.

Breaks Up Present System.

The ukase aims to reduce the present prevailing custom of cultivating widely scattered pieces of land, which is considered unfavorable to successful agriculture, by giving the householder the right to demand contiguous pieces of land, thus making possible the consolidation of his property. The ukase further sets forth that whole communes can be broken by a two-thirds majority vote.

Without daring to defend the antiquated system of communal ownership, which often has been cited as the sole remaining example of collective ownership, which has been regarded as the mainstay of the guarantees of equality to the peasants of Russia, the opposition press charges that the government proposes to build up a party consisting of the wealthier peasant householders, who naturally would be quick to take advantage of an opportunity to acquire big lots of land at low prices.

May Divide Peasants.

M. Kutler, formerly minister of agriculture, publishes an article in the Rech, in which he claims that the ukase gives every single peasant power to disrupt the commune, but that the wealthier peasant will acquire the larger pieces of land, and gradually separating themselves from the poorer peasants, they will form a valuable addition to the ranks of property holders.

The government, M. Kutler continues, proposes to avail itself of the help of this class to maintain a reactionary régime.

NAB BOGUS GERMAN OFFICIAL.

Hamburg Police Arrest Man Who Claimed to Be Prussian Minister of Railways.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAMBURG, Nov. 26.—The Koepenick affair, in which the city fathers were held up and robbed by a bogus military captain with a squad of genuine soldiers to back up his demands, has had many feeble imitations, but none came so near success as an attempt that was made today.

A smartly dressed man appeared at the Damm Thor railway station. He said he was Herr Breitenbach, Prussian minister of railways. His self-possession and commanding manner seemed to indorse his claim. He issued a series of orders that promptly were obeyed. He directed all cabs to leave the station and proceeded to examine the cash in the ticket offices.

Meanwhile the only person who suspected him was a baggage porter, who notified the police. The latter took the risk of arresting the self-styled minister and later found he was a discharged Bavarian railway man.

ANGRY AT BISHOP POTTER.

DR. CRAPSEY'S COUNSEL ATTACKS NEW YORK PRELATE.

In a Public Statement Edward M. Shepard Censures the Episcopal Church Dignitary for Saying Deposed Rochester Priest Wanted to Cling to the Pulpit for the Money There Was in It—Makes Sneering Reference to Butlers.

New York, Nov. 26.—In a statement issued today Edward M. Shepard, of counsel for Dr. A. S. Crapsey, the Rochester clergyman who was convicted of heresy by an ecclesiastical court of the Episcopal church, sharply criticises recent utterances of Bishop Potter.

During a session of the diocese of New York in this city, Nov. 14, Bishop Potter defended the creed of the church, declaring that those who attacked it should do so from without rather than from within the church.

"While the case was still under judicial consideration, and while every consideration of fairness made it proper for one of his responsible place to be silent upon it," says Mr. Shepard, "Bishop Potter told his clergy in unmistakable fashion that Dr. Crapsey's motive has been a morbid desire to hold on to the money revenues of his place.

Crapsey Has No Butler.

"This false and indecent imputation comes from a bishop who has for many years been conspicuously indifferent to preaching in his own diocese more heretical than Dr. Crapsey's was deemed to be. The imputation deserves, and I believe it will receive moral contempt from every right thinking man who knows of it.

"Dr. Crapsey has never lived with the rich; he is not served by a butler, and a 'second man,' and a footman, and coachman; he is neither used to nor fond of sybaritic elegance. But although Dr. Crapsey is deficient in these, he has given his entire life to the work of carrying Christianity to the industrious poor of the city in which he lives."

Dr. Crapsey Still in Church.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Bishop Walker said this afternoon in reference to the resignation of Dr. Crapsey:

"I deeply regret his declination to retract his statements. His letter, as you will see, simply reasserts his sayings.

"The resignation, then, relieves you of performing a painful duty?" he was asked.

"Yes, it does."

"Does this bar Dr. Crapsey from the church entirely?"

"No; Dr. Crapsey may still be a member of the church and a communicant, but he is barred from performing official duties."

WOMAN SHOOTS PARIS LEADER.

M. Merlou, Former Minister of Finance, Wounded, but Not Seriously—Act of Vengeance.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Pierre Merlou, who was minister of finance in the Rouvier cabinet, and who was appointed French minister to Peru last September, was shot on the Boulevard des Italiens this evening by a woman named Allemagne.

The woman fired four shots from her revolver at M. Merlou. Two of the bullets struck him in the fleshy part of the leg, but the wounds are not dangerous. The woman was arrested and declared her act was one of vengeance.

The police believe Allemagne is the same woman who attempted M. Merlou's life several years ago, and who created a scandal in the chamber of deputies while he was serving as finance minister.

SUBSTITUTION DANGEROUS WHEN IT IS PRACTICED BY UNSCRUPULOUS DRUGGISTS.

The practice of certain unscrupulous druggists of offering some inferior compound of their own in answer to calls for a well-known and reliable preparation is most pernicious, and dangerous to the public.

As an instance of this fact we find that many of this class of dishonest druggists have been putting up for customers the prescription for coughs and colds referred to in a recent issue, requiring whiskey, glycerine and the Pure Virgin Oil of Pine; using in place of the latter ingredient the cheap bulk oil which is usually carried in stock, and which is without any specific medicinal virtue, and which will in most cases create nausea.

The formula referred to, prescribed by an eminent specialist in pulmonary diseases, is a most effective remedy when properly compounded, and will break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable. Great care should be exercised, however, to use only pure ingredients, and for this reason it is better to purchase each separately, and mix them at home. Buy a half pint of good whiskey, two ounces of glycerine and a half-ounce vial of the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure). Mix in a bottle and take in teaspoon doses every four hours.

The Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up for dispensing only, in half-ounce vials, each securely sealed in a round wooden case, with an engraved wrapper with the name "Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)" plainly printed thereon.

If you have tried this formula and have not secured the desired result, it is undoubtedly because your druggist has substituted a cheap or adulterated preparation of pine for the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure). Insist upon having the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) in the original package and see that the engraved wrapper around the wooden case is not broken.

INSURANCE TRIAL TO INVOLVE PLATT?

SLOW IN GETTING JURY.

Only Eight Talesmen Accepted in First Day's Efforts to Fill the Box.

New York, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Senator Thomas C. Platt, Lou Payne, ex-state superintendent of insurance, and Edward Lauterbach may be called as witnesses in the trial of George Burnham Jr., the indicted attorney for the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company, which began here today. There are five indictments against Burnham for larceny and forgery, but today for the first time the names of Senator Platt and Messrs. Payne and Lauterbach were brought into this particular case.

Every talesman examined today was asked if he knew these men. No one in the district attorney's office would explain the significance of this, but it was said that they might be called as witnesses, and that their testimony might be of great importance, but that it all depended on the kind of swing the trial took.

Particular as to Jurymen.

When today's session was adjourned, after eight jurors had been obtained, Assistant District Attorney Nott moved that Burnham be committed to the Tombs. This was vigorously opposed by William Rand Jr., who used to be Mr. Jerome's chief of staff. He said it wasn't the custom to commit a defendant to the Tombs. Justice Greenbaum finally accepted the Mutual Reserve attorney's guarantee that Burnham would appear for trial.

Burnham came into court with his brother, Frederick A. Burnham, president of the company, and George D. Eldridge, vice president. They all sat at a table with Mr. Rand, Mr. Tyng, and Frank R. Lawrence. A number of their retainers were grouped around. It was the most imposing "bunch" seen in a criminal trial in some time, as both the Burnhams have nice, closely cropped side whiskers.

Every precaution has been taken to protect the interests of the defendants. Long typewritten lists had been made of the talesmen on the special panel, and opposite each name was the history of the individual. Whenever a name was called the list would be consulted and there would be widespread conferences between the Burnhams, Eldridge, and Attorney Rand. Sometimes Rand challenged a talesman without asking him a question.

"Sick of the Whole Thing."

Many of the talesmen had prejudices against life insurance companies and their officers. One man said he was sick of the whole thing—sick of reading of life insurance in the newspapers and of hearing people talk of it. Mr. Rand wanted to know if the talesman approved the criticism of the life insurance officials and he said he did.

Justice Greenbaum sat until 5 o'clock, when eight jurors had been drawn. They are Henry H. Alger, civil engineer; Henry E. Sprague, merchant; Leonard D. White, banker; E. Brainard Bulkeley, secretary; Adolph F. Lagost, bank telle; Howard A. Raymond, real estate; Isidor Levy, commission merchant, and Ellwood Hendrick, broker.

Some of the jurors are policy holders in different life insurance companies.

DOCTORS IN GILLETTE TRIAL DECLARE BLOWS KILLED GIRL

Physicians Who Were Present at Autopsy Say Grace Brown Did Not Drown, as Claimed by the Defense.

Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Two physicians who were present at the autopsy on the body of Grace Brown, which was found near an overturned boat in Big Moose lake last July and for whose death her sweetheart, Chester Gillette, is on trial, today testified that the girl received blows before entering the water that were sufficient to cause death, and which, in their opinion, did cause death, and declared under oath that the girl was not drowned.

Former Senator Mills, Gillette's senior counsel, conducted the cross examination. He spent several hours in an effort to shake the testimony of the witnesses, and, while he succeeded in confusing one of them slightly, neither of the physicians withdrew his opinion.

During the examination of Dr. Douglas he was handed Gillette's tennis racquet and asked if the injuries he found could have been produced by that.

A dramatic moment ensued as he swung the racquet in the air experimentally.

"The injuries could have been produced by this weapon, using either end," he said.

BETRAYS PAL AND GOES FREE.

William Lattimer Turns State's Evidence Against Frank Marrin, Partner in Swindle.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—By turning state's evidence against Frank C. Marrin, alias Franklin Stone, a man who, he says, ensnared him in the Provident Investment bureau swindle, William Lattimer, known as "Handsome Harry," gained immunity today for his own part in the gigantic conspiracy to wring millions of dollars from the people of this country and Europe, and which did get $4,000,000 from the people of the United States.

Tonight he and his wife and child went speeding towards Calgary, Canada, where, he says, he will begin life anew.

The last time Lattimer and Marrin met was in Paris. Lattimer was without money and he appealed to Marrin to pay his way back to America.

"Walk back," was the laconic answer he received. When the two men met in Referee William F. Hoffman's office today Marrin started from his chair, white with surprise.

"You see," said Lattimer, smiling at him, "I walked back."

Marrin tried to throttle Lattimer and had to be beaten off.

Marrin admitted that he had spent $157,000 in six months in Paris while the police were trying to get him.

"It's the simple life now, though," he said, as he was led back to jail.

BANDIT TELLS OF ROBBERY

OUTLAW DESCRIBES HOW HE RAIDED ALTON TRAIN.

Lone Highwayman Who Held Up Passengers Aboard Flyer from Kansas City Says He Did Not Take Any Money from Laboring Man, but Compelled Others to Give Up—Is Placed in Jail—Police Believe He Has Criminal Record.

Marshall, Mo., Nov. 26.—Claude Randall, the bandit who held up the Chicago and Alton train last night between Glasgow and Slater, Mo., was brought to the county jail this afternoon, and offered to make a full confession if the charge against him was made burglary. In Missouri the extreme penalty for train robbery is death, the minimum ten years' imprisonment. The prosecutor refused.

It is believed by the police that Randall is Clyde Rumsey of Chicago, who was released from the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., Nov. 4. The officers here believe that Rumsey also held up the Rock Island train near Glasgow on Nov. 8. Rumsey served a term in the federal prison for robbing box cars while a United States soldier.

The bandit made the following statement to the jail authorities:

"My name is Claude Randall, my age 29 years and 9 months. I came from St. Louis to Mexico, Mo., on the Wabash, and from Mexico to Slater on the Chicago and Alton railroad yesterday. My brother was the one who robbed the Golden State limited, and he told me that the Golden State limited did not stop between Slater and Mexico, and for that reason I came to Slater to get on the train.

Does Not Rob Laborer.

"I got in the smoking car and went through it and robbed two or three other cars. I did not take any money from workingmen or women, as I only wanted to take money from those that had made it easy and could afford to lose it.

"When the train reached Glasgow I got off on the platform, and as the train started to move I mounted it again and commenced to go through the passengers in a sleeping car, where I allowed the conductor to get too close to me, and he grabbed my pistol and my throat. He then wrenched the pistol from me and I broke and ran to the back of the train. Many of the passengers and all of the train crew rushed upon me while the train was in motion, struck me upon the head with the pistol, and tried to throw me overboard while the train was running thirty miles an hour. The train was soon stopped, and I was put off at Armstrong and brought from there the next morning to Glasgow, and from there to this place today.

Got $1,500 and Watches.

"I was born near Grant City, Mo., and was out in California and came back to Missouri about six months ago. I got about $1,500 and about eight or ten watches from the passengers on the train. I did not want this jewelry, but they forced me to take it."

The prisoner is now awaiting a preliminary hearing, which will be held within the next few days. It is probable he will be bound over to await the action of the grand jury, which meets in March at this place. The prisoner has a deep gash in his forehead, where he was struck with a pistol when they were trying to capture him.

Grandfather's Cure for Constipation.

GREAT medicine,—the Sawbuck.

Two hours a day sawing wood will keep any ones Bowels regular.

No need of Pills, Cathartics, Castor Oil nor "Physic" if you'll only work the Sawbuck regularly.

Exercise is Nature's Cure for Constipation and,—a Ten Mile walk will do, if you haven't got a wood pile.

But, if you will take your Exercise in an Easy Chair, there's only one way to do that, and make a Success of it.

They don't flush out your Bowels and Intestines with a costly waste of Digestive Juice, as Salts, Castor Oil, Calomel, Jalap, or Aperient Waters, always do.

No,—Cascarets strengthen and stimulate the Bowel Muscles instead.

These are the Muscles that line the Food passages and that tighten up when Food touches them, thus driving that Food on to its Finish.

They are the Muscles that turn Food into Strength through Nutrition.

Well,—a Cascaret acts on your Bowel-Muscles as if you had just Sawed a cord of wood, or Walked ten miles.

That's why Cascarets are safe to take continuously in health; and out of Health.

Because, they move the Food Naturally, digesting it without waste of tomorrow's Gastric Juice.

They thus work all the Nutrition out of it before it decays.

The thin, flat, Ten Cent box is made to fit your Vest Pocket, or "My Lady's" Purse.

Carry it constantly with you and take a Cascaret whenever you suspect you need one.

THOSE SUDDEN TWINGES.

Pain is nature's signal of distress, a warning that must not be ignored. Those sharp twinges in the back, those stab-like pains that follow any sudden twist or turn, are simple signs of hidden danger in the kidneys.

No trouble starts more easily, gains ground more rapidly, nor proves more often fatal than any disorder of the kidneys. All the outward appearances of health may remain until a terrible disease has taken root.

It is best to learn the duties of the kidneys, to watch for early signs of trouble, and to correct any irregularity before its serious stage begins.

The blood goes to the kidneys in an incessant stream, to be cleared of poison and relieved of surplus water. This is passed off by the kidneys in the urine. It is the retention of poison in kidney trouble that breeds fatal disease.

Don't wait. The moment you feel any uneasiness, lameness or pain in the back, the moment the urine shows irregularity, either in its appearance or in the quantity or number of the passages, begin with Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy has been curing kidney troubles for seventy-six years, and never yet has failed to give relief, if taken in time. It cures the kidneys, and thus cures backache, lame back, headache, dizzy spells, urinary troubles, rheumatic pain, gravel, dropsy swellings, nervousness, languor, sciatica, and all other symptoms of kidney troubles.

Fifty thousand people have testified to the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's a home case.

CHICAGO PROOF.

Mrs. Caroline Kuhn of 135 East 17th Street, Chicago, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for a very bad case of kidney trouble. I had a sample box of the pills, and after using them felt so much benefited that I got a full box. This one box cured me and I have had no trouble since."

SUNDAY CLOSING BATTLE NEARING.

United Societies Will Resist Movement Led by the Rev. William A. Bartlett.

PLEDGE CITED BY MAYOR

Declares Law Is Obsolete and People Have Voted Against Enforcing It.

Peppery developments marked the beginning of the "Sunday closing" fight yesterday. Mayor Dunne challenged the Rev. William A. Bartlett to prove the latter's charges against the administration and added that the west side clergyman might well observe the commandment which says "thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

Leaders of the United Societies, which boast of 60,000 members and a real "war cabinet," rallied to the mayor's side and declared that they would resist to "the court of last resort" any attempt on the part of Dr. Bartlett and the Sunday Closing league to shut up the saloons on Sunday.

"When Dr. Bartlett asserts that Chicago 'is undergoing 'an extraordinary era of crime,'" declared the mayor, "he is misstating the facts and is respectfully referred to that scriptural injunction about bearing 'false witness.'

"Chicago has not been so clean morally in the last twenty-five years as it is today. There is no 'reign of crime.' But what's the use of answering? What I want to know is, where was Dr. Bartlett's voice when all my predecessors were in office?

Says Sunday Law Is Obsolete.

"Regarding this rumored attempt to force the closing of the saloons on Sunday, I can only say that my duty in the premises is clear. The people of this community have declared repeatedly that that particular Illinois statute was obsolete and contrary to home rule. When I ran for mayor both I and my republican opponent, Mr. Harlan, made it clear that we agreed with that position. The attitude of the community was reflected in that vote. I received 167,000 votes and Mr. Harlan 142,000, while Mr. Stewart, the prohibition candidate, who ran on the Sunday closing platform, had but 18,000."

United Societies Will Resist.

News that the Sunday Closing league was holding a "secret conference" to launch a suit to compel Mayor Dunne to close the saloons on Sunday aroused the leaders of the United Societies and drew from them the threat that they would fight this latest move of the Sunday reformers "up to the court of last resort."

President Chauncey Gilbert and Vice President John Koelling held a brief conference during the afternoon to arrange for a meeting of the directors of the United Societies, to be held as soon as their opponents "show their hands." That will be next Saturday afternoon.

The meeting of the executive committee of the Sunday Closing league was held in the offices of Attorney Walter Miller, 92 La Salle street. The Rev. A. Lincoln Shute, treasurer of the league and chairman of the executive committee, presided, and the half dozen members present listened to Miller's confident statement that the courts, if appealed to, would now compel Mayor Dunne to close the saloons. A written opinion from Mr. Miller, coupled with one from Church, McMurdy & Sherman, will be given to the committee next Saturday, and probably will be made public then.

Fight to Finish Promised.

"Our former attempt to have Mayor Dunne forced to do his duty failed because the Supreme court refused to acknowledge its jurisdiction," said Mr. Miller. "We still feel that we were right, but we shan't pursue that point further. Mayor Dunne asserts that the law is obsolete, but Judge Brentano's recent decision fining the keeper of Riverview park for selling drinks on Sunday is all the authority to the contrary that we need."

None of the members would outline the proposed course, but all declared that they were going ahead, "regardless."

"We have plenty of money in our treasury," declared the Rev. Mr. Shute. "We can and will fight this thing through to a finish."

The league is investigating that section of the new charter which gives the city and not the state the right to regulate the dramshop business. The members feel that this would weaken their position, as the city is known to be in favor of Sunday saloons to a degree much greater than the country towns, which now have a voice in dramshop legislation.

Result of Test Case Awaited.

State's Attorney Healy declared last night that no more indictments would be sought against societies or clubs operating bars in connection with dances or entertainments until the courts have passed on the case of the Scandinavian Gymnastic and Athletic club. This is the test case started by the Chicago Law and Order league.

GLEASON IS AFTER BARTZEN.

Former Deputy Inspector Is Gathering Data to Be Used Against Building Commissioner.

William Gleason, formerly a deputy building inspector in Commissioner Bartzen's office and discharged for inefficiency, is gathering data of minor violations of the building ordinances that Bartzen is said to have permitted.

"I know that these things will be brought up against me before the building committee," said Mr. Bartzen yesterday, "but I am not worrying. My conscience is clear. I may have permitted some minor irregularities in the case of poor people, but I will not allow any violation of the law which may result in the loss of life or other accident."

The Bartzen investigating committee hasn't done a thing, and it is not considered likely that it will. Mayor Dunne appointed Ald. James M. Dailey of the Fourth ward to serve in the place of Ald. Zimmer, who resigned, and a few minutes later Dailey was in Bartzen's office talking the matter over with the commissioner. Charles L. Hutchinson, president of the Corn Exchange bank, was appointed to succeed Charles G. Dawes, another member of the committee who did not want to serve.

Mr. John Sebastian,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir:

Replying to yours of Oct. 8th beg to say I have recently returned from a trip to the Gulf Coast country, which I found as published. I bought at Lyford, which I believe to be a grand country with certainly a great future.

Yours truly,
W. H. BREWSTER,
1003 Gaty Ave.

"A Grand Country With a Great Future"

Here is the verdict of one of the men "from Missouri," who have visited the Texas Gulf Coast Country.

He said "show me" and he was shown.

I want to "show you."

I would like to show every man who wants to make money and enjoy life that he can do both in this country of ideal climate and most productive soil.

I will show you that $200.00 to $500.00 an acre is being made on land such as you can buy now for $25.00 an acre.

I will send you booklets containing photographs and full particulars about this country.

I will give you the names and addresses of men in the Texas Gulf Coast Country who are making a success of it there.

You can write to these men and they will tell you what they are doing.

Then I will show you this country itself by taking you there and back for $25.00 from Chicago, $20.00 from St. Louis, and proportionately low rates from other points.

The Texas Gulf Coast lands are only about 48 hours from Chicago, so it will be easy for you to go and be shown, and then it will not be a question of opinion or say-so.

No other section of the country excels this in productiveness. You can raise crop after crop the year around—no long months of useless expense and weary idleness.

Crops are always certain because you have plenty of pure artesian water on your own property for the cheapest irrigation.

An Ideal Climate

The climate is delightful. It is like that of Southern California—no extremes of heat and cold, and practically no winter. There's game in abundance—every opportunity for outdoor pleasures.

This land is safe, because it is from 10 to 13 miles inland, and from 60 to 100 feet above tidewater.

You can buy at a low price if you act promptly, because the country has just been opened up through the discovery of artesian water, and the building of a railroad.

SAFE AND SANE FOOTBALL.

That reformed football should become harmless and remain interesting was too great a development to expect from one season under the new rules. It has remained interesting. The general verdict of spectators is that the game has gained from a spectacular standpoint. More punting and running and less mass play give a rapid succession of incident which can be appreciated from any place in the field, while under the old rules often no one but the referee knew what was going on. But if interest has remained or been increased the danger has not been removed entirely.

The list of killed and injured is still a long one. Nine deaths and over 100 serious injuries are recorded against football in the United States. Of these nine killed only one was a college player, and he dropped dead from heart disease while running. Of the eight deaths among high school players and others one was due to heart disease and two to blood poisoning. The players who died from heart disease might have succumbed to any other violent exercise and should never have been permitted to enter the game. The deaths from blood poisoning might have resulted if the injuries had been received in any other way. There remain five deaths directly due to the hazards of the game, one on account of rough play and the other four to accidents occurring naturally in the course of the game. Of the eighteen deaths last year seven were of college students and eleven of high school boys. One was due to blood poisoning and the others to kicks and concussion.

A comparison shows that the possibility of death from the game of football has been almost eliminated in the case of the older players. Accidents will continue to happen. There is perhaps more danger than ever of broken legs and sprains, but little likelihood of spinal injuries. Every team has had some injuries, but not more than are inseparable from lively out of doors sport. The sufferers are in the main boys from 9 to 19, especially from 15 to 17, who cannot be made to understand that football is a game for young men older and harder than they. The high schools also are guilty of greater brutality in their play, owing to their lack of judgment and self-control and to the less efficient supervision of their games by their teachers. The high schools have found it harder to learn and apply the new rules, and mass play of the most exhausting kind has been a feature of some of their games, especially in the east.

Without at present discussing the question whether further reform is not possible in the college game the colleges are to be congratulated on the progress made toward safety and sanity. The best way to reform the high school game is to abolish it entirely. If tolerated it must be placed under more thorough medical and expert supervision, and none but those physically fit allowed to play.

FINING RAILWAY OFFICERS.

No doubt a railroad official who had been fined heavily by the courts for making illegal traffic agreements would consider himself ill used if the road were to leave him in the lurch and let him pay the fine. He would argue to himself that he had made the agreement to get business for the road which it could not have got otherwise; that his action had been actively or passively sanctioned by his superiors; and that under these circumstances the corporation ought to see him through. This reasoning certainly would appeal strongly to the average railroad president.

While the railroad code of morals makes it the duty of a road to take care of officials who have been fined for giving rebates, the men who wish to see the antirebate legislation enforced cannot look on the matter in the same light. It seems to them that officers will be more ready to break the laws when there is an understanding that if they are caught and prosecuted the road they are working for will pay their lawyers and their fines. It seems also to a person not in the transportation business that there is no warrant of law for the payment of those fines by a president or board of directors. Unquestionably if a stockholder knew that such payments were contemplated he could enjoin them. Any judge would say there could not lawfully be such a diversion of funds. But after the money has been paid it is not worth a stockholder's while to protest. He would be laughed at.

If the railroads do not abandon the rebate habit and there are to be frequent prosecutions of officers for giving them, one of two things will have to be done. Either the law will have to provide that fines imposed on officers shall not be paid by the corporations they serve or the punishment should be imprisonment instead of a fine. No obliging corporation would be able to shift that penalty to its own shoulders. The guilty officials would have to do time. After the doors of a jail had closed behind one they hardly would have to open for another. Fear of the law would enter the hearts of all railroad men.

NO MORE JUDGES.

It is said that some of the members of the Chicago Bar association want more judges. The Circuit and Superior courts now have twenty-six judges. These lawyers, some of whom may have judicial aspirations, would like to have ten added to the members. They wish the Bar association to take up the matter and beg the next general assembly to create ten new judgeships on the ground that the present force cannot keep up with the work. That plea has been effective in the past, and it is assumed that it will work again.

The legislature should reject any application for new judges. It was said with much positiveness when the Municipal court act was passed that it would not only take care of the justice court business but that it would relieve the Circuit and Superior courts. Provision was made for that relief by giving the new court broader jurisdiction than justice courts have and by authorizing the transfer of cases to it from existing courts.

The Municipal court with its twenty-seven associate judges will open next week, but it will be several months before the court is running smoothly. Until that time shall come it will be impossible to determine how many of the Municipal court judges will be available to attend to cases now clogging the dockets of other courts. Several of the judges assuredly will be available. In the meantime no new judgeships should be created.

Any surplus energy which the Bar association may have can properly be exerted in efforts to reform the jury system and court practice generally. There is the only permanent and respectable cure for congestion in the courts. The addition of more judges is a mere palliative at the best. In a few years the condition is as bad as ever, and there is another demand for more judges.

Thus far the question of law reform has been left almost exclusively to the lawyers, and they have accomplished nothing. Some day the business men of this county will take up a matter which concerns them fully as much as it does anybody else and see what they can do to persuade the legislature to modernize court practice and give suitors an opportunity to secure speedy justice.

SAFETY ON ELEVATED ROADS.

In a report of an accident on one of the elevated railroads, where a car jumped the track at a curve for the third time within two months, the statement is made that the employés were not able to give a definite reason for the series of accidents. They said the fault might be in the rails or it might be that the motorman ran the train too fast.

The impression is a strong one that if the elevated road employés do not know why the trains have jumped the track three times in a dangerous place they should get busy at once to find out. As yet there has been no serious accident caused by the derailing of cars on the elevated tracks. But hundreds of those who use that form of transportation have had a wondering thought of what might happen some time if a train ever did fall off the elevated structure. Some of the curves are quite sharp, and an accident would be attended with great loss of life, particularly during the rush hours, when the cars are crowded with people, many of them hanging upon the straps.

Patrons have a right to expect the most careful examination of the track in every part of the route and the utmost precautions for safety at curves. Reinforced rails and every possible means for strengthening the track at points of unusual strain ought to be expected as a matter of course. Prudence on the part of motormen in the regulation of speed ought to be supplemented by the strictest orders on the part of the managers. When trains follow one another closely at the busy hours of travel there is great temptation to gain speed wherever it is possible. Congestion comes quickly. The accident to the train mentioned disarranged traffic on the loop for quite a while.

No consideration is more important than that of the safety of the human freight. The motorman holds the lives of hundreds in his hands. If an appalling accident occurs at one of the curves on the loop the coroner's jury will find out the cause. But it will be too late then. A little precaution in advance is worth far more than the expression of regret which will follow an avoidable accident.

The man in charge of a train has to assume that everything is all right when he sees no danger signals and does not himself discover a broken rail or some defect in the cars he has behind him. But when three accidents occur at one point in quick succession it is evident that everything is not all right. Patronage depends upon public confidence, and that confidence must be based upon the assumption that every possible care is taken for the safety of those who ride.

MUNICIPAL GEMS AND POEMS.

Just as we are bending ourselves seriously to the task of making ideal citizens of Chicago street boys along comes Dr. Adams of Boston and declares that nothing can be done in this direction until the environment is wholly reformed. Or to quote from his list of requirements: "A street should be a noble and dignified picture, a hydrant a poem, a lamp post a gem, and a public building an ideal."

This is not the first time our mistakes in architecture and civic beauty have been held up to scorn by observing and critical strangers. When Oscar Wilde was in Chicago years ago he took immediate and violent exception to the Chicago avenue water works tower, which he asserted looked merely like a chimney and did not suggest the artistic and beautiful uses associated with the pumping of water and the elimination of germs. The rebuke was keenly felt at the time, and there was a general disposition to tear down the offensive tower and replace it with something esthetic and lily like, but the city treasury was crippled, Wilde left town, and gradually the sting of reproach eased itself. Oscar has gone from this life, but the tower still stands, a monument to indifference to municipal gems and poems.

However, Dr. Adams should not utterly despair. If he will walk or ride to the subdivisions along the north shore, under the immediate control of improvement associations, he will find certain advances in the direction of poems and gems. He will see lamp posts in fresh coats of lovely pea green, harmonious with smiling nature and tending toward lofty ideals. The hydrants may not be poems, save so far as they may be metered, and yet they, too, are not without specific charms that inspire small boys—more particularly in the festal tide of Halloween. And so the doctor will learn that there is a direct tendency to get away from lamp posts as lamp posts and hydrants as hydrants, utilizing them not only as serviceable equipments but as object lessons for the cultivation of the beautiful, the true, and the good.

As time advances this idealism will be brought downtown, when it will be a genuine pleasure to lean against a lamp post or sit upon a hydrant, and loaf and invite one's soul in the contemplation of an esthetic environment. A book of verses underneath the lamp post will be a common relaxation in that glorious day, provided the policeman does not compel one to move on, but the police force itself will be idealized and perchance in purple Coan robes will be a grand part of the color scheme and a noble feature of the artistic surrounding. The little street boy in his progress toward ideal citizenship will be favorably affected by these evidences of estheticism, fearing no more the dreaded "Ah, g'wan" as he contemplates reverentially the commingling of utility and beauty.

Little by little, with the aid of outside suggestion and friendly interference, we are advancng to perfect citizenship in a perfected abode. Let us begin with the lamp posts and hydrants, because there are many of them and because we need poems and gems for the brightening of our sordid commercial life. Then shall we have full many a lamp post of purest ray serene and many a hydrant "round and perfect as a star." And then if ideal citizenship does not quickly follow we may essay other noble and dignified pictures.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1906: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

IT is a 16 year old boy who, through the death of his father, Gen. Lord Congleton, now becomes chief of the house of Parnell, of which the great Irish leader, Charles Stewart Parnell, was one of the most celebrated members. The family was founded in the reign of Charles II. by Thomas Parnell, who transferred his home from Congleton, in Chester, to Ireland, where his son, Canon and Archdeacon Parnell, achieved considerable note as a poet, and was an intimate friend of Pope, Swift, and Addison.

In the closing years of the eighteenth century Samuel Hayes, who owned the estate of Avondale, was prompted by friendship to bequeath the property to Sir John Parnell, the second baronet of the line, and who filled the offices of chancellor of the exchequer and lord of the treasury. His eldest son was not only a cripple but also deaf and dumb, and a curious act of parliament was therefore secured vesting the succession of the baronetcy and Parnell estates in the second son, who was subsequently raised to the peerage as Lord Congleton. The third son, William, inherited the Avondale property and became the grandfather of the Irish leader, Charles Stewart Parnell.

But few people are aware that the great nationalist leader's home of Avondale, which the nationalists at one time proposed to convert into a nationalist museum, has now been purchased by the British government and converted into a school of forestry for the kingdom of Ireland. It is only fair to add that the rooms occupied by Parnell, that is to say, his bedroom and library, have been kept untouched and as nearly as possible as they were in his own lifetime.

The second Lord Congleton, who died in 1883 at an advanced age, spent a considerable portion of his life in amateur missionary work in the orient, and while in Persia succeeded in converting a rich widow of Sheeras. On this becoming known to the government she became the object of such persecution that Lord Congleton, forced to flee from the country, took pity on her, carried her off with him, and married her on reaching Constantinople. He was succeeded by his brother, the third Lord Congleton, who had been a midshipman on the Shannon after its battle with the Chesapeake. He had likewise taken part in the battle of Navarino. The late Lord Congleton was his son. The country seat of the Lords Congleton is Rathleague, in Queen's county.

Admiral Sir Albert Markham, whose retirement from the navy on account of age has enabled the British government to promote Lord Charles Beresford to the same rank as that of Admiral Dewey, that is to say, of a full admiral, has been the subject of a greater amount of discussion in his day than almost any officer in the British service. For it was his flagship, the Camperdown, which some fifteen years ago rammed the battleship Victoria off the coast of Syria, and sent it to the bottom of the sea, carrying with it its crew of over 600 men, many officers, and Sir George Tryon, then commander in chief of the Mediterranean squadron. The disaster was due to a faulty maneuver ordered by Admiral Tryon. Admiral Sir Albert Markham had to choose between obedience, with almost inevitable disaster, and disobedience, with the probability of a court martial for insubordination, his commanding officer, Sir George Tryon, being a strict disciplinarian.

Sir Albert Markham decided in favor of the former alternative. He held that the virtue of obedience was superior to every other in the navy, that the responsibility for what would follow would after all remain with his chief. He argued that if every officer on receiving orders were to hesitate about complying with them until he had decided in his own mind whether they were right or wrong, all discipline would be at an end in the navy. All this was brought out at the court martial subsequently held at Malta, and before which he had to appear for ramming and sinking the Victoria. He was acquitted by the court martial and all the newspapers, both in England and abroad, lauded his Spartan ideas of discipline.

Although Sir Albert was acquitted the admiralty is understood to have censured him in a confidential minute, holding that he ought to have exercised judgment in obeying an order that was not only manifestly erroneous, and clearly issued in momentary aberration by his superior officer, but also evidently bound to result in frightful disaster.

Strangely enough, Admiral Sir George Tryon had some time previous to this disaster taken to task a young lieutenant commanding a torpedo boat attached to his squadron for having obeyed implicitly an erroneous order issued from the flagship, telling him that he should always use judgment and remember that he was responsible for the lives of those under his command and for the safety of his ship, intimating that England expected all her officers to use judgment in moments of emergency, and that all their training was to accomplish that purpose. That young lieutenant, whose record is one of the finest and cleanest in the British navy, is Capt. Ryan the popular naval attaché of the British embassy at Washington.

England's greatest naval commander, Lord Nelson, was only able to win the battle of St. Vincent, which earned for him a peerage and undying fame, by refusing to obey the order of his commanding officer under the pretext that he could not make out through his spyglasses the signals to retreat. This was not astonishing, seeing that he purposely kept his telescope applied, not to his sound eye but to his blind one.

Austria, indeed, goes so far as to confer the most highly prized of all its decorations for successful acts of daring performed in the army or in the navy without orders, or in direct defiance of commands received—feats that in the event of failure would have resulted in death or, worse still, degradation. The order in question is that of Maria Theresa, even the lowest class of which carries with it the hereditary title of baron and a comparatively large pension. It is conferred by the sovereign, but only with the sanction of the chapter of the order, which gives careful consideration not only to the deed of valor itself but also to the circumstances under which it was performed.

One of the most popular and successful commanders of the French army—namely: Gen. de Negrier is indebted for his high rank to an act of disobedience during wartime. He was in command of a regiment of Chasseurs d'Afrique, on the frontier of Morocco. Learning that two companies sent forward on outpost duty had been surrounded by the enemy, he immediately gave directions to hasten to the rescue, and the troops were about to start, when suddenly an order arrived from the commanding general, bidding the colonel to rejoin the main body of the division with his regiment and to retreat without delay on the receipt of the order. "You, my friend," exclaimed Col. de Negrier, addressing the aid de camp, "will have to arrange to meet me with this order some time tomorrow, but not before; so right about face!" With that, the colonel placed himself at the head of his regiment and gave the order to march forth to the rescue. After an almost unparalleled and continuous march of eighteen hours the regiment reached the two companies, already half decimated by the enemy, just in time to save the remainder from massacre. In this case the colonel's disobedience to the orders of his superior officer was rewarded by promotion to the rank of general and by the grant of that most highly prized of all military decorations, the "Medaille Militaire," which is conferred only for conspicuous gallantry on the field of battle or in naval warfare.

While, therefore, governments may be said to give prizes for disobedience, it must be thoroughly understood that they are only granted in the event of the act of insubordination resulting in some brilliant success. Otherwise, it means a court martial and probable dismissal. Moreover, the English admiralty has always been deterred by considerations of discipline from making public the minute in which it criticised Admiral Sir Albert Markham for having obeyed too closely Sir George Tryon's fateful order.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

THE FLOWER GIRL.

A Light Opera in Three Acts,

BY

ANDRE MESSAGER.

Presented at the Studebaker, Chicago, by a Company Headed by Louise Gunning and Louis Harrison on Nov. 26, 1906. The Cast:

Ermerance	Edmee de Dreux
Agatha	Lottie Kendall
Aunt Benoit	Edith Berwyn
Denise	Laura Jaffray
Helene de Solanges	Louise Gunning
Florestan de Valliancourt	Harry Fairleigh
M. Loustot	F. Barrington Foote
Seraphin	R. R. Neil
M. Coquenard	Louis Harrison

The visitor to London two years ago last summer, if he inquired what was the best light opera then being offered in the city, would be told without a moment's hesitation, "Veronique." If he started for the Apollo theater, however, with the intention of spending an evening or an afternoon seeing whether "Veronique" was all it was reported to be, he was apt to come home unsatisfied. Tickets could be obtained only by reserving them four and five weeks in advance, so great was the popularity of the opera and so great the public desire to see it. For full 500 performances it was given, and its success was one of the most pronounced scored in the British capital.

"Veronique" was imported to the United States, and has been presented throughout the east and south. Last night it reached Chicago and had its first performance at the Studebaker. It comes not as "Veronique," however, but as "The Flower Girl." It is explained that during the road tour it was discovered that the public was unable to master the pronunciation of "Veronique"—"Vee-ron-i-cue," with the accent on the "cue," was the favorite distortion—and the necessity of finding something simpler and easier became paramount. Veronique was a flower girl, or at least disguised herself as such, and therefore "The Flower Girl" was chosen. So much for changed names and the reason.

Seen in London, "Veronique" impressed as one of the finest, and musically worthiest light operas that has been written since "The Mikado." Again last evening it delighted by the uncommon beauty and cleverness of its vocal and orchestral scores. It is the creation of a man who knows what good light opera music is and knows how to write it. André Messager occupies a high and respected position in the operatic and conducting world of Europe—he is one of the chief directors at Covent Garden—and his "Veronique" shows in its every measure the knowledge and skill of an able and talented man. It is one of the few musical theatrical entertainments nowadays which invites and merits consideration of its music. Such are our present day musical comedies, plays with music, and so-called light operas that the less said about the vocal and orchestral scores the better. But "Veronique" is of true light opera quality, and the listening to it is source of real pleasure to the music lover.

Whether the large public will find the work as a whole strongly to its liking remains to be seen. It is an entertainment different from that to which we have been accustomed, and the absence of noise and horse play may make the performance seem unduly quiet. It is to be hoped, however, that the charming opera and its worthy presentment may not go unappreciated. To have it received with hearty approval would be to have faith in public discrimination revived and hopes reawakened for the betterment of our musical stage.

It must not be taken from the foregoing that "The Flower Girl"—to call "Veronique" by its present name—is dull or uninteresting. It is far from it. But it is fine, and its music is refined, and shows that inspiration and thorough familiarity with orchestral resources are included among its composer's qualifications.

The story of the opera is simple. The young Count Florestan has been ordered by his uncle to marry Helene de Solange, whom he never has seen. He has been an admirer of Mme. Coquenard, the wife of a prosperous florist, but is weary of her and glad for this excuse to end their association. He comes to the florist's shop to bid her good-by and to invite her and her husband and all the girls to come for a day of picnic in the country in order to celebrate his approaching marriage. Helene and her aunt chance to visit the florist's, happen to see the farewell between Florestan and Mme. Coquenard, and Helene determines to disguise herself as a flower girl and teach her future lover a lesson. She does so, attends the picnic, captivates Florestan by her beauty and girlish grace, and runs away just in time to reach her home and keep an appointment with him in her true character of Helene de Solange. Of course love's way is smoothed and the story ends with the customary wedding bells.

It is a simple and olden story, but it is held consistently within the lines of the romantic and the quaint, and it suffices to keep interest alive. The music and the beauty of the presentment, however, are responsible for the chief attraction the performance exerts.

Of the music there is, first and foremost, the "Swing Song," which is certain to become as widely popular here as it has been for three years in England. It is a neatly conceived duet, with a refrain which haunts the memory of every one who hears it. The "Donkey Song" duet which precedes it is another clever bit of writing, and, although less catchy, needs but to become known to be admired. "Rosalie" is also a number which is destined to know whistling popularity. The waltz song, "Springtime," is a brilliant solo, which is not apt to be sung by many persons, however, simply because of its florid character and its extended range, but to hear Miss Gunning give it is a genuine pleasure, for she has the vocal equipment necessary for it, and she sings uncommonly well. "The Bloom of the Apple Tree," "Sweet Lizette, So People Say," "The Garden of Love," and the "Letter Song" are numbers of worth, and, it is believed, will find admirers and singers. Mr. Harrison's comic songs, "My Military Style" and "Ask Me Not"—the latter an interpolation—cannot escape popularity. The finales of the first and second acts are in the best light opera manner, and show the skill and talents of the composer in most admirable light.

As for the performance it is a beautiful and praise meriting one. The production is the same as was used in London, and in the richness and tastefulness of the costumes is one of the handsomest seen in a long time. The color combinations are exquisite, and the designs of the dresses—the time is 1840—lend them picturesqueness and grace. Miss Gunning has the title part, and she plays it and sings it captivatingly. She has just the needed blitheness, the girlish winsomeness, the suggestion of playful coquetry, and the refinement. And then she has the voice. It is a high soprano of distinctly agreeable quality, well schooled, and intelligently used. Her every vocal number last evening was cause for pleasure and admiration.

Miss Gunning has a worthy partner in the person of Mr. Fairleigh, who as Florestan showed himself the possessor of good looks, ease and grace of bearing, and an excellent voice. He sings well, and his duets with Miss Gunning, as also his solos, were in high degree enjoyable. Mr. Harrison has a comedy rôle which fits him well, and he makes the most of it. His funmaking is just suited to "Veronique," for it is quiet, ingratiating, and of high grade. He has many bright lines, two taking songs, and an abundance of amusing stage business. He kept the audience chuckling most of the time he was in view.

Miss Jaffray made a pretty Denise, sang "Rosalie" effectively, and did some neat dancing. Miss De Dreux as the aunt of Helene aided Mr. Harrison in some of the comedy scenes; Miss Kendall was a handsome and vocally satisfactory Mme. Coquenard; Mr. Foote did a hardup bailiff in mellow and entertaining fashion; and Mr. Neil was acceptable as Seraphin.

The chorus is handsome and sings well. The orchestra under the baton of Sam Studley gave uncommonly good account of itself and did fair credit to the Messager score.

Beau Brummel.

Mr. Brummel, the exquisite, lived again on the stage of the Grand opera house last evening and for three hours Mr. Mansfield held his audience in thralldom and moved it to smiles or tears at will. The old comedy has been given a prominent place in the actor's répertoire for so long a time that it is familiar to all theatergoers, yet the years but increase their regard for it, and the rôle will ever be associated with Mr. Mansfield's name and fame perhaps more closely than anything else that he has done. He has given us no more beautiful and illuminative message of his art and his part of the performance last evening was as masterly as it ever has been.

The support ranged from the acceptable to the indifferent and on the whole lacked distinction. Miss Barry lent dignity, grace, and understanding to her portrayal of Mrs. St. Aubyn. Miss Prahar was a charmingly pretty and girlish Mariana and in certain moments and notably the closing scene was winsomely appealing. Miss Gheen appeared as the simpering duchess of Leamington, and Miss Dunn played the Irish maid in acceptable fashion. Mr. Kingdon as the Prince, and Mr. Wenman as the Merchant acquitted themselves with credit.

Glaringly anachronistic was the furniture used in the last act, but otherwise the production was sufficiently complete.

Metropolitan Opera Season Opens.

New York, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—That air of feverish expectancy which used to surround opening nights at the Metropolitan opera house was not in evidence this evening when Heinrich Conried began the fourth year of his administration. The opera was Gounod's "Romeo et Juliette."

The absence of the old time flutter may have been due to half a dozen causes, but one undoubtedly was the uncertainty as to the outcome of the evening's proceedings. When Mme. Melba and Messrs. Jean and Edouard de Reszke associated with Mr. Plançon in a performance of "Romeo et Juliette," there always was excitement and delighted expectation.

Tonight the impersonators of the lovers were strangers and the audience exhibited reserve. One of the newcomers was an American girl, Geraldine Farrar, yet in the first half of her twenties. She made her début as Juliette. Charles Rousseliere, the Romeo of the occasion, has sung in grand opera in Paris. The performance generally was good, but in no way astonishing to those acquainted with the history of the house. Miss Farrar's Juliette naturally was the central figure. With an assurance which would never have been manifested by a trained veteran this juvenile prodigy of easy Paris and complacent Berlin faced the most critical audience in the world with an air of unbounded confidence.

Miss Farrar makes up excellently, has eyes—great eyes. She is lithe and sinuous and has a gift for plastic pose that would make a fortune for any woman, even without a singing voice. She has learned much about routine acting, but not all of it. She has yet to learn the enormous value of repose. Her voice is a full bodied lyric soprano with tendencies toward the dramatic. It is a beautiful, characteristic voice, but has all kinds of registers. She sings her scales badly. She forces many of her tones, and nearly all of her upper notes are badly placed. The results frequently are hard, metallic, disagreeable tones and at other times infidelity to pitch.

With the exception of Mme. Henendorff, the nurse, and Mr. Simard, the Mercutio, the other singers were old acquaintances—Mme. Jacoby, Messrs. Plançon, Journet, and Bars.

John Drew on Drawing Power.

"He is perfectly devoted to that blonde"—so Mr. John Drew was informed. "His family thinks it is a case of hypnotism."

Tribune Readers Tell of the Ways in Which They Were Flimflammed Out of Their Savings.

In response to the request of THE TRIBUNE hundreds of readers have sent in accounts of the ways in which they have been bunkoed. The series of personal experiences is full of human interest and tragedy, and gives warnings by which others may profit.

Victim Who Is Paying Heavy Penalty.

OUT on the west side there is a little gray eyed school teacher who trudges daily the two miles to and from her work, sits long in the twilight of her furnished room in the evening to save the gas bills, denying herself all but the necessaries of life in order that she may do penance for her one time desire to "get rich quick." Most of her salary every month goes to other poor women, who were induced to throw their own savings into the bottomless bag of sharpers through her own eagerness and innocence. The story is one of quiet, obscure heroism, one of the pitiful aftermaths that follow the crash of every one of the swindling schemes that infest Chicago's skyscrapers.

It shall be told for the sake of others who may be tempted to follow in the school teacher's steps. Her own name remains secret, for she fears that the board of education would discharge her if the truth leaked out. She shall be known as Mrs. Armstrong.

"In the spring of 1903," said Mrs. Armstrong, "I had $3,000 saved from my earnings of ten years in the Chicago public schools. I wanted to make this $4,000, as I had a peculiar use for that amount. I was looking around for a good investment when I heard of a school teacher, Mrs. P. of the X—— school, who was promoting a profitable scheme.

"I went to see Mrs. P. and she told me of an investment company, which she said was conducted by two estimable gentlemen on Dearborn street. She said they had some sure scheme by which dividends of 3 per cent a week were paid on investments. I had known her as a woman of good reputation, so I went to the offices of the company. I now think Mrs. P. was a dupe, too.

"At the offices I met a Joliet man whose wife formerly had been a school teacher, he told me, and another man who said that he had once been a Sunday school superintendent on the west side. They explained the plan, which was some horse racing scheme. They said they had a system peculiarly their own which could not lose and that the dividends were sure.

"I was excited and it did not take me long to decide to give them $500 as my investment. This was in May. I got my dividends regularly, $15 a week for two months, then I put in the rest of my $3,000, sure by this time that I was going to be a rich woman. I talked about it among my friends and several of them gave me their money to put in. In all I gave the man $5,500. To my six friends he paid in all $100 in dividends.

"One day we heard that the police had raided the office as a fraudulent turf investment scheme, and the doom of my wild hopes was sounded.

"I went immediately to the office of the company, but the man had gone away. That was in June. I hunted for him all that summer and finally found him living with his wife in apartments on Waveland place. When I asked him about the money he said that a man had cheated him out of it.

"He was nervous and he looked around often as though he thought I had brought the police with me. Finally I asked him what he would do, and he said he would give me a note for the entire amount. So on Oct. 18, 1903, he gave me a note, promising to pay me for value received $5,500 in one year, with the privilege of paying it before that time. That was an ironical addition to the note."

Mrs. Armstrong unlocked a tin box as she told the story and took out the faded papers. There was the note, as she had said, signed in bold handwriting, a piece of paper upon which she pinned her faith in human nature and over which she has grieved and worried for years.

"I waited the year out," she continued, "and then hunted for him again. I had not heard a word. He had moved from Waveland place and had gone back to Joliet. I went there and found his wife. He was in New Orleans at the races. She told me that I might as well be resigned, for I never would get the money. She said there were others beside myself. I have found that out, too. I know of a doctor in Austin who put all his own money into the scheme, got his old father to sell the farm and put that money in, and then went out drumming up customers. That doctor brought back $25,000 from the east. The victims were all people on salaries, teachers, clerks, and students.

"Well, my troubles only began with the losing of my own money. I had been the means of my friends losing theirs. Two of them were poor women. I could not bear to see them suffer so I began to pay them out of my own salary a little every month. I have two of them paid up, but the strain is telling on my health. I don't think I can keep it up much longer."

Pays $100 to Help Exploit a "Novelty."

A FRIEND organized a company for $1,000 to handle an advertising novelty. He proposed that I be one of five to take $100 of the stock; he to take $500. Each man also was to do some soliciting for two weeks, at the end of which the success or failure of the idea would be shown. If it was a failure the incidental cost would be small and each man probably would receive $75 or $80 dividend when the company was dropped.

I invested and did my share of the soliciting for two weeks, but the novelty was not a success. The company was dropped and I then learned that the stock I had purchased was not treasury stock but was stock that had first been issued to my friend, who had received the entire capital stock from the company, when organized, for his idea.

The stock was, therefore, "fully paid up" and my $100 had gone into my friend's pocket instead of into the treasury of the company as I had been told, and he had generously paid the running expenses of the company, some $30 or so, from his own funds.

Tale of a Card Game and Twin Tin Boxes.

I HAD followed an ox team, at the age of 16, in the '50s, overland to California, and after four years of placer mining had saved $4,000, which I invested in Illinois lands, and by the time I was 60 had 1,200 acres of as fine land as there was in the state. I had acquired the acquisitive habit, was well fixed, and thought no one could get the best of me in any deal.

As I sat one morning on the porch of my farmhouse, a man drove up and inquired if I could direct him to Mr. Thomas, a large land owner. He said he was looking out for a good farm and had heard Thomas was a good judge of property. I was the Mr. Thomas. Conversation followed and then we began talking of my farm property. Next day he engaged me to ride over the country with him. We were out two days and on the second closed a trade for a quarter section for $10,000, the papers and abstract to be got and we to meet two days after and complete the purchase if the title was satisfactory.

About 3 p. m., as we were jogging along, we saw a man on horseback at the cross roads, three miles from my place, evidently puzzled which road to take, and as we came up he spoke to us and asked the way to the farm of a man who lived in the northern part of our county. I gave him the directions, but said he would likely find him at the county seat, as he was there on jury duty. Then he began to tell us the object of his visit; said he was a special officer named by the court of his county, some hundred miles south, to convey a legacy of $20,000 to some minor heirs in our county, and as he was a farmer he felt it would be safer to ride in the way he did and stop at a farmer's rather than travel in the ordinary way. He said he was not afraid of being swindled, and talked of some of his experiences, especially with card sharpers, when he boated on the river. He said he knew all their tricks. My friend, the buyer, gave me a wink on the sly and said: "Ask him to tell us some of their ways." I did and he took off of his saddle a bundle which he carefully untied, and in the act of taking out the cards exposed the money; putting it back he showed us many interesting tricks, and I saw my friend watching him closely. Finally the stranger said to him: "Now to illustrate let us put up $5 each—you take the cards, shuffle them, and deal us a hand apiece, and I will show you how easily I could win all you have. Of course I will not take it from you."

I began to be interested and watched the game. The stranger won easily. Giving the money back he turned to put the cards away when my friend said let us try once more. Soon they were deep in the game. I was now interested and went over to watch. I saw my friend winning, while the stranger was evidently excited and would not stop the play. After my friend had won some $1,500 I felt as if I ought to have a share in it. I had only $100 with me and soon lost it. By this time I was getting warm. My avariciousness was aroused and I told my friend that I was out of cash, but had plenty in the bank, six miles away, and if he would hold the fellow I thought we could get his pile.

I hurried to town, drew $6,000, and was back in an hour. They were still at it hot and heavy. We continued playing until we had won all the stranger's money, and it, with ours, was put in a tin box which my friend happened to have along. I closed and locked the box, still holding it. The stranger was wild with grief at the loss, said it meant disgrace for life, but we did not listen to his appeals, and finally my friend persuaded him to accept $100 and said he would go to town with him in his buggy and see him off for safety. He told me to take the box and keep it till his return, and that if he was not back in an hour to take the box home and hide it until he came back, when we would divide. I had seen all the money in the box and knew it was there and gladly agreed. He said this was best, but don't tell your folks and don't open it until I am back. He may make me some trouble, but I will see him on the train and safely off. They left and I sat on the grass for an hour, gloating over this gain until it seemed I could wait no longer—$10,000 all mine, and got so easily. Conscience hadn't time to work. After waiting the hour I walked home, where a great desire seized me to look into the box and feast my eyes on the treasure. There was no key, so I got a chisel, pried off the lid, and found—a bundle of blank papers. Then I awoke. I had been bunkoed by a pair of as smooth rascals as there are in Illinois. The twin trunk was in the buggy.

Loses and Learns by Building Association.

SEVERAL years ago the idea struck me that it would be an excellent plan to save some money for the proverbial rainy season. As 3 per cent on saving deposits looked small to me I looked around for an opportunity that would yield larger returns. An acquaintance told me of the golden opportunities the building associations offered, one in particular. The prospects were painted in long, dark green colors.

I called upon the secretary of the P. association and he assured me the association was in great financial shape, was earning 20 per cent. Well, the 20 per cent looked good to me. I paid my monthly installments faithfully, and some months they represented all sorts of economy and self-denial.

I received quarterly statements from the secretary, brimful of prosperity and confidence. Things went on swimmingly for about two years, when one morning I read in THE TRIBUNE that suit had been entered against the association for the appointment of a receiver. I will not attempt to explain my feelings, for you would not print them. After realizing on the assets and deducting the small rakeoff of the receiver, we received about 32 per cent of our investment. I have not been up against the building association game since.

U. P. CANNOT GET ST. PA[UL]

Rockefeller and Rogers Own [a] Small Part and Remainder of [Stock] Is Widely Diffused—Southern [and] L. and N. Presidents Said to B[e Fa]vorable to Readjustment of [Rates] to Southeast—Governor Will [Pre]sent Back Tax Bill to I. C. Dire[ctors].

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Pa[ul] is not to be taken over by the Union P[acific] despite the revived report that E. H. [Har]riman is seeking its control. It will co[ntinue] indefinitely to be operated as an indepe[ndent] line unless conditions greatly change. [This] statement was made yesterday by a ma[n who] is in a position to know the facts, and it [seems] to verify the assertion of Mr. Harri[man a] short time ago, that all stories conn[ecting] the St. Paul and the Union Pacific are "[high]ly imaginative."

It is believed that Mr. Harriman is [using] Standard Oil money in his railway o[pera]tions. It is also well known that W[illiam] Rockefeller, H. H. Rogers, and other[s] identified with the Standard Oil compa[ny] many years have owned a large blo[ck of] stock in the St. Paul. It develops, how[ever,] that they do not, as has been frequent[ly as]serted, own a majority of its stock, bu[t only] from 15 to 20 per cent. With their r[eputa]tion as business men this is enough to [give] them commanding influence on the [road's] policy, but it is not enough to enable [them] to turn the road over to Mr. Harriman [even] if they were disposed to do so, and tha[t they] are disposed to do so is anything but ce[rtain].

Stock Is Widely Scattered.

A chief reason why it would be diffic[ult for] the Harriman interests to get control [of the] St. Paul is the wide diffusion of its [stock.] It is held in small blocks not only by [people] all over the United States but in almost [every] country in Europe, and even in Asia. [Many] have bought it as an investment. The [great]est fight ever made for St. Paul wa[s that] of James J. Hill, and, after forcing the [stock] up enormously and securing only 16 pe[r cent] of its stock, he was forced to retire di[scom]fited. It is believed Mr. Harriman [would] meet with no better success.

Well informed railroad men have [taken] the view that what comes of the St. [Paul's] projected extension to the Pacific coa[st will] strongly indicate whether it is to contin[ue an] independent line. If the extension shou[ld be] built as originally planned, they have [said, it] would indicate that the line was under [neith]er Hill nor Harriman control. The anno[unce]ment that the road's right of way to the [coast] has been secured will be made within [a few] days.

The hopes of local manufacturing and [com]mercial interests for a favorable rea[djust]ment of rates to the southeast have been [raised] by a letter H. C. Barlow, direc[tor of] the Chicago Commercial association, re[ceived] yesterday from E. E. Williamson, co[mmis]sioner of the Cincinnati Receivers' and [Ship]pers' association, regarding a conferenc[e Mr.] Williamson had recently with Samuel [Spen]cer, president of the Southern railway, [and] Milton H. Smith, president of the Lou[isville] and Nashville. Mr. Spencer and Mr. [Smith] admitted for the first time, Mr. Willia[mson] states, that an adjustment more favora[ble to] central shippers was needed, and indi[cated] that they would aid in securing it.

Gov. Deneen passed through Chicago [yes]terday afternoon en route for New [York,] where he will attend a meeting of the bo[ard of] directors of the Illinois Central tomo[rrow] and present to them the state's bill of $[...]000 for back taxes. The Harriman inter[ests,] it is believed, are disposed to come to [terms] promptly with the state regarding the [mat]ter, in order to conciliate public senti[ment.] Mr. Deneen was accompanied by Fra[nk] Whipp, audit clerk.

President J. T. Harahan indicated th[at the] vice presidencies left vacant by his own [pro]motion to the presidency, and the dea[th of] John C. Welling probably will not be fi[lled at] this meeting of the directors.

Kansas City Demands Much.

If Kansas City is ever to have a new [union] depot its council will have to modify [the] demands it is making upon the railr[oads.] This statement was made yesterday [by a] member of the board of directors o[f the] Kansas City Union Depot company, [after] the board had held a meeting in the [office] of President Winchell of the Rock Is[land.] The roads have already bought $1,50[0,000] worth of land for the new depot, and [hold] options on $1,500,000 worth more. They [had] planned to make a total expenditure [for the] depot and terminals of $17,000,000. The [fran]chise which the council has offered [the roads] reserves to the city the right to say w[hen] the roads shall electrify, requires the[m to] assume full responsibility for damag[es to] abutting property, and contains other [con]ditions which the roads claim make [it in]tolerably onerous. Yesterday's meeting [was] held chiefly to routine financial matte[rs in] connection with the project.

Elected President of M., K. and [T.]

New York, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Adrian [H. Joline] of this city has been elected president [of the] Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway com[pany,] succeeding F. N. Finney, who resigned on ac[count] of ill health. James N. Wallace, president [of the] Central Trust company, and J. G. Metcalfe [have] been elected directors and members of the e[xecu]tive committee.

CHIEF CLERK CASE RESIG[NS]

Charles Center Case, chief clerk of the [Cir]cuit court, handed his resignation to [Judge] James J. Gray yesterday afternoon. [Mr.] Case has been chief clerk of the Circuit [court] since last February, and since then he [has] been active in several reforms of the sy[stem] of the office, among them a campaign [for] the restoration of missing files. He wi[ll re]sume his practice as an attorney.

George Wise, a deputy clerk under [Mr.] Case, also resigned yesterday through [em]barrassment, it is alleged, at being per[sist]ently regarded as a hero by his fellow [em]ployés. Wise's troubles began two mo[nths] ago when he saved the life of a 2 yea[r old] child which had crawled out of a window [and] along an eighteen inch ledge in the Mo[nad]nock building, four stories above the gro[und.] Wise risked his life and placed the [baby] safely in her mother's arms, and since [then] fellow clerks and visitors to the chancery [de]partment have not ceased to remind hi[m of] his heroic act, while he has received a [flood] of letters from admiring women in var[ious] parts of the country.

CONDEMNS FOUL AIR IN CA[RS]

Poorly ventilated street cars and lod[ging] houses were mentioned as breeders of tu[ber]culosis germs by Dr. William A. Evans [yes]terday in an address on "The Fight [against] Tuberculosis" at the noonday meetin[g of] the Young Men's Christian association. [He] criticised the traction companies for fa[iling] to provide ventilation.

Dr. Evans declared that he recently [rode] downtown in a Lake street car carr[ying] nearly ninety passengers, which was wit[hout] adequate ventilation of any kind. He [also] spoke forcibly of the need of better a[ir in] tenement houses.

He stated that tuberculosis can be c[ured] and said that patients in many cases [need] not leave Chicago or their occupation to [fight] the disease effectually.

It will continue indefinitely to be operated as an independent line unless conditions greatly change. This statement was made yesterday by a man who is in a position to know the facts, and it tends to verify the assertion of Mr. Harriman a short time ago, that all stories connecting the St. Paul and the Union Pacific are "purely imaginative."

It is believed that Mr. Harriman is using Standard Oil money in his railway operations. It is also well known that William Rockefeller, H. H. Rogers, and other men identified with the Standard Oil company for many years have owned a large block of stock in the St. Paul. It develops, however, that they do not, as has been frequently asserted, own a majority of its stock, but only from 15 to 20 per cent. With their reputation as business men this is enough to give them commanding influence on the road's policy, but it is not enough to enable them to turn the road over to Mr. Harriman, even if they were disposed to do so, and that they are disposed to do so is anything but certain.

Stock Is Widely Scattered.

A chief reason why it would be difficult for the Harriman interests to get control of the St. Paul is the wide diffusion of its stock. It is held in small blocks not only by people all over the United States but in almost every country in Europe, and even in Asia, who have bought it as an investment. The hardest fight ever made for St. Paul was that of James J. Hill, and, after forcing the price up enormously and securing only 16 per cent of its stock, he was forced to retire discomfited. It is believed Mr. Harriman would meet with no better success.

Well informed railroad men have taken the view that what comes of the St. Paul's projected extension to the Pacific coast will strongly indicate whether it is to continue an independent line. If the extension should be built as originally planned, they have said, it would indicate that the line was under neither Hill nor Harriman control. The announcement that the road's right of way to the coast has been secured will be made within a few days.

Readjustment of Southeast Rates.

The hopes of local manufacturing and commercial interests for a favorable readjustment of rates to the southeast have been much raised by a letter H. C. Barlow, director of the Chicago Commercial association, received yesterday from E. E. Williamson, commissioner of the Cincinnati Receivers' and Shippers' association, regarding a conference Mr. Williamson had recently with Samuel Spencer, president of the Southern railway, and Milton H. Smith, president of the Louisville and Nashville. Mr. Spencer and Mr. Smith admitted for the first time, Mr. Williamson states, that an adjustment more favorable to central shippers was needed, and indicated that they would aid in securing it.

Gov. Deneen passed through Chicago yesterday afternoon en route for New York, where he will attend a meeting of the board of directors of the Illinois Central tomorrow, and present to them the state's bill of $3,000,000 for back taxes. The Harriman interests, it is believed, are disposed to come to terms promptly with the state regarding the matter, in order to conciliate public sentiment. Mr. Deneen was accompanied by Frank D. Whipp, audit clerk.

President J. T. Harahan indicated that the vice presidencies left vacant by his own promotion to the presidency, and the death of John C. Welling probably will not be filled at this meeting of the directors.

Kansas City Demands Much.

If Kansas City is ever to have a new union depot its council will have to modify the demands it is making upon the railroads. This statement was made yesterday by a member of the board of directors of the Kansas City Union Depot company, after the board had held a meeting in the office of President Winchell of the Rock Island. The roads have already bought $1,500,000 worth of land for the new depot, and have options on $1,500,000 worth more. They have planned to make a total expenditure for depot and terminals of $17,000,000. The franchise which the council has offered them reserves to the city the right to say when the roads shall electrify, requires them to assume full responsibility for damages to abutting property, and contains other conditions which the roads claim make it intolerably onerous. Yesterday's meeting was held chiefly to routine financial matters in connection with the project.

Elected President of M., K. and T.

New York, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Adrian H. Joline of this city has been elected president of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway company, succeeding F. N. Finney, who resigned on account of ill health. James N. Wallace, president of the Central Trust company, and J. G. Metcalfe have been elected directors and members of the executive committee.

CHIEF CLERK CASE RESIGNS.

Charles Center Case, chief clerk of the Circuit court, handed his resignation to Clerk James J. Gray yesterday afternoon. Mr. Case has been chief clerk of the Circuit court since last February, and since then he has been active in several reforms of the system of the office, among them a campaign for the restoration of missing files. He will resume his practice as an attorney.

George Wise, a deputy clerk under Mr. Case, also resigned yesterday through embarrassment, it is alleged, at being persistently regarded as a hero by his fellow employes. Wise's troubles began two months ago when he saved the life of a 2 year old child which had crawled out of a window and along an eighteen inch ledge in the Monadnock building, four stories above the ground. Wise risked his life and placed the baby safely in her mother's arms, and since then fellow clerks and visitors to the chancery department have not ceased to remind him of his heroic act, while he has received a flood of letters from admiring women in various parts of the country.

CONDEMNS FOUL AIR IN CARS.

Dr. William A. Evans Tells Y. M. C. A. It Is One of Breeders of Tuberculosis Bacilli.

Poorly ventilated street cars and lodging houses were mentioned as breeders of tuberculosis germs by Dr. William A. Evans yesterday in an address on "The Fight with Tuberculosis" at the noonday meeting of the Young Men's Christian association. He criticised the traction companies for failure to provide ventilation.

Dr. Evans declared that he recently rode downtown in a Lake street car carrying nearly ninety passengers, which was without adequate ventilation of any kind. He also spoke forcibly of the need of better air in tenement houses.

He stated that tuberculosis can be cured and said that patients in many cases need not leave Chicago or their occupation to fight the disease effectually.

BRUNDAGE'S SALARY IS RAISED.

County Board by Unanimous Vote Increases the Pay of Its President from $5,400 to $7,000 a Year.

Hereafter the salary of the president of the county board will be $7,000 a year. A resolution increasing the pay to that amount from $5,400 was adopted unanimously yesterday by the board.

The board approved the November pay roll and the county employés will receive their salaries in time for Thanksgiving day.

PHONE FRANCHISE HEARING NEARING ITS CONCLUSION.

Prospect That Discussion of Rates Will Be Finished This Week—Argument Between Levy Mayer and Hibbard.

The hearing of the discussion of rates for telephone service will be resumed this afternoon by the council committee on gas, oil, and electric light. There is a prospect now that the discussion will end this week.

There was a dispute yesterday between A. S. Hibbard, general manager of the Chicago Telephone company, and Levy Mayer, attorney for the Manufacturers' Telephone company, as to the ability of the latter company to furnish telephone service at the rates proposed.

"The yearly net earnings from the Chicago telephones," said Mr. Mayer, "are $46.35 each. The net earnings of the company are $1,400,000. At the rate offered by the Manufacturers' Telephone company the net earnings would be $650,000."

Mr. Hibbard said that the average earnings per phone as operated by the company were $44, and that the Manufacturers' company's rates would seem to be $2 higher. The new rates provided by the Chicago Telephone company, he said, would make an estimated reduction of from 18 to 22 per cent on the telephone earnings. This would bring the gross earnings at the Chicago company's new rate down to a point where they are much less than the expense estimated by the experts for the Manufacturers' company.

CELL BARS TO BE ENAMELED.

Secretary Mayer Announces Plans to Make Police Stations as Inviting as Possible.

Every police station cell in Chicago is to have its bars and other forbidding steel work enameled white so as to look as inviting as possible.

Secretary Si Mayer of the police department made the announcement yesterday and began to get prices for the enamel. He and Assistant Chief Schuettler and Chief Sanitary Inspector Hedrick had just returned from an inspection of the jails in St. Louis and the penitentiary at Jefferson City, Mo.

"There is no reason why a jail should not be made as sanitary and as inviting as possible," said Secretary Mayer. "The reforming effect comes from the confinement in prison, not the demoralizing influence of somber surroundings."

Ida M. Tarbell

Even more fascinating than "The History of Standard Oil" is Miss Tarbell's new historical serial, "The Tariff in Our Times."

It reveals a curious story—a story of panic and war, of selfishness and jobbery, of heroism and patriotism, of many who served and some who cheated, of the eternal clash of private with public interests.

The great men of the day live again in these articles — Morrill, Chase, Sherman, Fessenden, Thad. Stevens, Horace Greely, Wilson, Mills, McKinley. You see them in their intimacies and idiosyncracies, in their greatness and littleness.

"The Tariff in Our Times" is the business-story of the Nation during an exciting half century. Between 20 per cent duty ante bellum and 50 per cent post bellum lies a marvelous tale of patriotic endeavor and daring intrigue. Miss Tarbell begins to tell it in

Besides this, there's Dooley's tenderly humorous article on "The Christmas Spirit," and William Allen White talks of "Science, St. Skinflint and Santa Claus." They will do you more good than the price of the magazine for a year. When strenuosity jars, the newest of the "Adventures in Contentment," by David Grayson, will prove a mental sedative that's quite worth while.

Out Today

The Times Magazine—a periodical that is going to make its mark—is out today. It is the youngest of magazines, but it starts full grown and full size. It is a big, bright and attractive monthly—well written and full of pictures—and interesting from beginning to end. THE TIMES MAGAZINE is a magazine for both men and women. Every number will cover a wide diversity of subjects, ranging from fiction to science, and whether you prefer facts or fiction, you will find the best of each in this magazine.

Among the contributors are Brand Whitlock—the Reform Mayor of Toledo—who writes on "The Discovery of Democracy"; Upton Sinclair, who contributes an article on his co-operative home colony; and Jack London, who has written a characteristic short story for this number.

The Best Story of the Year

You should not miss the great serial by Basil King, entitled "THE GIANT'S STRENGTH"—which begins in this number. It is a dramatic story of modern American life, in which the richest man in the United States is the central figure. It is a splendid study of the psychology of ruthless money-getting. Interwoven with this stirring tale of Brains and Dollars is a charming love story. The serial rights to this novel were obtained by The Times Magazine in competition with five large publishing houses.

What Is Tammany?

Alfred Henry Lewis—who knows Tammany Hall and its ways from top to bottom—has written an article describing its personnel and its methods. He relates its sinister history from the days of Tweed and Kelly down to the present. He shows how this vast political machine has been built up by a succession of "bosses" until there are rings within rings, all welded into an organization so unscrupulous and powerful that it would take a veritable Hercules of politics to put it out of business.

Times and Manners

Under this title there will be published in every number an editorial review. These pages will be filled with crisp and terse editorials and comments—mostly in paragraphs. Fundamental democracy will be the dominating idea behind this monthly expression of opinion—the democracy of the individual, not of the party.

American Morals

Professor Franklin H. Giddings, of Columbia University, contributes the first of a series of articles to be published under the title, "Natural History of American Morals." He undertakes to show how the intense economic life of America has affected the character of the people. Are we becoming a nation of speculators, gamblers and grafters? Are our attempts to lead a better life largely expressed in hysteria and lynchings? These are questions he pertinently asks—and answers.

Jack London

Ellen Terry

"Some Christmas Memories" is the title of an article by Ellen Terry, the great English actress. This sketch of an English Christmas of Miss Terry's childhood will strike a responsive chord in the hearts of those who look back with fond remembrance to the old-fashioned Christmas of a generation ago.

Broughton Brandenburg

There is a clever story of the Chinese quarter by Broughton Brandenburg, who shows how ironclad Mongolian tradition, running plumb against the stone wall of Facts, butts down the wall and goes on.

The End of the Cuban Fiasco

If grim war holds any horrors for you, that alone should not keep you from reading this article by Grant Wallace, the special correspondent of The Times Magazine in Cuba. There is more laughter than tears in this story of the insurgents as told by one who saw them in their camps. The article is profusely illustrated by reproductions of photographs taken by Mr. Wallace in the field.

APPLETON'S MAGAZINE

has reached such stride and stature that it cannot be neglected by anyone who aims to keep abreast with the best. The December number is an earnest of what we are doing and shall do. Our ambition and intention for 1907 can best be expressed in old Thomas Dekker's words:

"TO ADD TO GOLDEN NUMBERS GOLDEN NUMBERS."

Our First Serial is by

GORKY.

It is impossible to describe without a seeming exaggeration the immense breadth and lofty inspiration of Gorky's new work. It is called "Mother." It is a romance of the Russian Revolution. It begins in our December number, which is just out. If you miss it you miss one of the greatest works of modern times; you deny yourself a great experience.

Author of "The Fighting Chance."

Before the Gorky serial is finished we shall begin the publication of the new novel which Robert W. Chambers is finishing. His "Fighting Chance" is unquestionably the success of the season, and deservedly so; but his new novel promises to be even better. The serial rights have been secured for Appleton's Magazine.

Our Third Serial is by Hall Caine

Author of "The Christian."

Statistics prove that the most popular of living authors is Hall Caine. His next great novel will appear first as a serial in Appleton's Magazine.

The December number will give you a test. It is printed in colors, and includes fascinating stories by Emerson Hough, C. G. D. Roberts, Edith Wyatt, Zona Gale, Maxim Gorky and others. 15 cents a copy everywhere.

WILL FIGHT FOR SPRING GAMES.

President Hermann of Cincinnati Club Takes Stand Against Murphy.

TALKS ABOUT DAMAGES.

Intimates He Would Sue National League if Such Revenue Were Cut Off.

President Garry Hermann of the Cincinnati club and chairman of the national commission, in a warm reply to President Murphy of the Chicago club yesterday takes issue with the local magnate over his protest against the Cincinnati club playing games with American league teams in the spring.

Mr. Hermann said that one might be led to infer from Mr. Murphy's letters that such ante-season games were illegal, which he said was not true. He also added that it was a matter for argument as to whether these contests took the "edge" off the championship season, and among other things declared that if legislation of a retroactive nature was enacted at the National league meeting next month he would look to the National league for damages.

The tone of Mr. Hermann's communication leaves no doubt what position the Ohioan intends to take in the matter. Speaking of Mr. Murphy's protest against the games played between the two St. Louis clubs last spring which were declared to have affected the receipts of the Chicago club, he suggested that probably the weather and not the ante-season games were responsible for the "edge" being taken off the championship opening.

Talks of Smaller Receipts.

Going farther into the matter, Mr. Hermann said he remembered distinctly the opening games of the reds in Chicago the year previous, at which he said the receipts were even smaller than those received by the Chicago club at St. Louis last year.

Mr. Hermann's letter in part follows:

The St. Louis clubs clearly have the right to play these games if they care to do so. When the peace compact was entered into it was announced and positively understood that games of this character would thereafter take place—in fact, it was an important factor in the peace agreement arguments that it would enable National and American league clubs to participate in such games in the future, both before and after the season for the championship had commenced or closed, or even during the championship season—if proper and suitable arrangements could be made. Later on, when the rules governing the world's series were adopted, this class of games was not only officially but unanimously recognized by both leagues, by embodying in those rules (section 2) a provision that the same rules applying to the world's series could, upon application to the national commission, apply as well "to all other games played between National and American league clubs," and I may add that the records of the commission show that this was done upon the suggestion and recommendation of Mr. Hart of the Chicago club. So much for the legality of the games.

Did Not Hurt Receipts Last Spring.

You are mistaken when you state that the Cincinnati club in establishing the "ill-advised precedents" of performing before the people of Cincinnati with American league clubs just before the championship series commences. We have done this before and have a right to do so. Two years ago we played the Boston Americans. Last year we played the Detroits. There is not a National league club that has not participated either in ante-season, post-season, or world's series games with American League clubs since the peace compact was entered into. As to what effect our American league bookings in the spring of 1907 will have on our gate receipts, I believe we are better able to judge than the Chicago club. Last year on our opening day we had the largest attendance, both in numbers and gross receipts, in the baseball history of Cincinnati, and your club received more money from an opening than any club ever received in Cincinnati before.

You state that you are reliably informed that Mr. Comiskey was quite reluctant to book his team in Cincinnati, and that he finally gave his reluctant consent, and that he only did it because he did not want the impression to go out that he was afraid to play Cincinnati. When Mr. Bancroft and myself took this matter up with Mr. Comiskey he exacted only two conditions—one that he could book his team on the way home along the L. & N. R. R., which in our judgment looked like a good business proposition; the other, that we give him a Sunday date. To this latter request we quickly acquiesced, because we realized that we were getting the greatest attraction in the business today, and for that reason they were entitled to choice of dates. Our patrons have been given the same line of attractions in baseball each year. We knew, therefore, that it would be a treat and a pleasing one to them if we were enabled to present the "world's champions," particularly so as Mr. Comiskey was formerly identified with the Cincinnati club and is well known here, and as his team contains, as you know, three Cincinnati players—Altrock, Rohe, and Tannehill—who, as you remember, took such an important part in winning the pennant for the White Sox. And I assure you, when the "world's champions" come to Cincinnati they will be given a splendid reception.

My judgment is that the appearance of the White Sox in Cincinnati next spring will be a great boom for the National league here, and will do much more to advertise our club, as well as all National league clubs, in Cincinnati than horse blankets, fake trips around the world, Count Boni as a master of wardrobe, etc., etc. We are seeking legitimate advertising, and the best ante-season attractions for our patrons.

Stands Against Legislation.

I also note that it is your intention to bring this matter up at the National league meeting, unless these dates with the American league clubs in Cincinnati are canceled. I do not know why you should make a mark of Cincinnati. But I want to say to you emphatically that the dates will not be canceled—in fact, we could not cancel them if we desired to, unless both clubs agreed. (See finding of national commission in New York National-Memphis controversy last spring). I do hope, however, that the National league will not enact any legislation providing against similar games in the future. If they do, it will look to me like "hoisting the white flag." I may also add that if legislation is enacted that is retroactive, I shall certainly look to the National league for damages—and I am quite sure that the American league clubs would do likewise, for I should certainly so advise them.

In conclusion, I must confess that I am surprised at that portion of your second letter in which you state: "It would be all right for major league teams to get together in the spring if all teams could enjoy the usufruct, but the way it is now only a few teams get a 'slice of the melon.'" You know, Mr. Murphy, in early April the weather conditions in Chicago are such that "sliced melon" does not taste well. That being the case, come to Cincinnati about April 6 or 7, when we have a little sunshine. We will welcome you, even as a loser, and I assure you a slice of the melon cut right out of the heart.

COMISKEY GUEST AT ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Charley Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, who dropped into town this morning on his way south on a hunting trip with a group of baseball friends, was the guest of honor at a banquet at the Southern hotel tonight. At the conclusion of the banquet a handsome diamond pin was presented to the Old Roman by his St. Louis friends. George Munson, secretary of the old Browns when Comiskey gave St. Louis the greatest ball team the city ever had, made the presentation. Comiskey thanked his old friends for the remembrance, which, he said, recalled past associations. The guests at the banquet included many old time friends of Comiskey and the new baseball magnates.

Comiskey, Joe Cantillon, new manager of the Washington Nationals; Herman Schaefer, second baseman of the Detroit team; and Charles Spink, proprietor of the Sporting News, will depart tomorrow for Rosedale, Miss., where Comiskey's houseboat, "White Sox," is waiting to take them fishing and hunting. They expect to be gone to the White river country three or four weeks.

Mrs. Comiskey accompanied her husband to St. Louis, but won't go on the hunting trip. Charles Fredericks, secretary of the White Sox, also came with the party for the banquet.

In a finely contested series the Senators last night took two games from the Models in the West End league, averaging 930 1-3 to 931 by the losers. The Senators won the first two games by margins of eight and twenty-one pins respectively and dropped the third by thirty-one. Ayers, with an average of 207 1-3, did the best individual work.

Mediocre work marked the series in the Monroe league except that the Century team notched 962 2-3 and blanked the Tosettis. The Sunsets won the odd game from the Howard Majors.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS.

Hugo Kelly and Fred Cooley are slated to box ten rounds at Peoria tonight. Cooley, who is permitted to scale in at 165 pounds, will have a decided advantage over Kelly, who can fight at 158 pounds, ringside weight. Win or lose, Hugo will take on Dave Barry at Rochester, N. Y., on Dec. 12. The pair recently met at Kalamazoo and put up a rattling ten round bout.

"Young" O'Leary and Andy Bezenah, lightweights, are billed to contest the windup at the Badger club's show at Milwaukee Thursday afternoon. Rudolph Unholz, who claims the title of champion of South Africa, and Mark Anderson of Chicago will meet in the semi-final.

Terry McGovern and "Young" Corbett were yesterday matched to fight, winner take all, before the club offering the best financial inducements.

PRESIDENT J. I. TAYLOR HERE.

Boston Magnate to Have a Conference with Johnson Today—Criger Improving.

President John I. Taylor of the Boston American league team, arrived in Chicago yesterday for a conference with President Ban Johnson. The latter, however, will not be back until this morning. Mr. Taylor will meet Mr. Johnson this forenoon and this afternoon will hurry back east.

"I have no information to give out regarding the management of our team," said Mr. Taylor. "My hope for decided improvement in the showing of the Bostons next year rests chiefly on the return of Criger to the team. The latter, I understand, is getting better every day at his home in Elkhart. Even should something prevent Criger returning, however, our other catchers naturally will be greatly benefited by the experience they got this year.

"There is nothing in the report that we may get rid of Ferris. He is a ball player and we will hang to him."

SIXTEEN PLAYERS GET "C" EMBLEM.

HEAVY BUNCH NEXT YEAR

Director Stagg's generosity exceeded expectations yesterday when the list of the winners of the "C" for football this year was made known. Every man on the varsity squad, with four exceptions, was presented with the coveted emblem. Sixteen players were rewarded.

Harris, substitute center, Barker, Merriam, and Schott were the only members of the varsity squad who did not share in the presentation of the "C." The former Hyde Park captain was in one of the big games for only a few minutes. Barker and Merriam have won their track "C's," and Schott probably next year will become a leading light.

Chicago's varsity squad this year was the smallest since the early '90s. Every man on the squad with the exception of Barker played a part in some game.

No definite rule for awarding the "C" is in vogue at the Midway. Director Stagg usually advises the athletic board what men should be granted the honor. Sixteen "C's" is near the usual number given out.

Watson's Fourth Effort.

Watson was the recipient of many congratulations. This is the fourth year he has striven for a place on the team. He started the Nebraska game at tackle, and his playing this game largely was responsible for his winning the "C."

Templeton's selection for a football "C" also met with much approval. Even smaller than Eckersall, he played a star game, but on account of the presence of Eckersall had few chances to appear at the position for which he is best fitted.

The sixteen honored were as follows: Eckersall, Steffen, Iddings, Finger, Anderson, Walker, Parry, Kelley, McCarthy, Noll, Russell, Watson, Jones, Hewitt, Mefford, and Templeton.

Of this number eight will be on hand for next year's team, which, with Captain-elect De Tray, will make a nucleus of nine to start the ball rolling.

Heavy Team for Next Year.

One of the "C" men yesterday, figuring out the possibilities of the maroon team next year, selected a probable lineup which would inspire Stagg a team averaging 190 pounds, with the men in its ranks the fastest in maroon history. This lineup was as follows: Left end, Watson, 160 pounds; left tackle, Handy, 240; left guard, "Eva" Meigs, 199; center, Anderson, 178; right guard, Kelley, 186; right tackle, Metzger, 200; right end, Page, 160; quarter back, Steffen, 160; left half, Iddings, 160; right half, De Tray, 178; full back, Finger, 164.

Handy and Metzger, the proposed tackles, were the star members of the freshman team last year, from which Stagg recruited Steffen, Iddings, Finger, and Kelley this year. Both men were out of school during the season just closed, but will reënter at the beginning of the winter quarter, Jan. 2. Page and Watson are the star members of this year's freshman team.

Freshman-Scrub Game Today.

The football season is not over yet at the Midway. The freshmen and the scrubs will settle matters this afternoon on Marshall field, while the laws and medics, who boast of teams averaging 180 pounds, will settle a dispute on Friday.

WOULD AVOID FOOTBALL BREAK

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Prominent Yale and Harvard older alumni are getting together to work to avoid any possible break in football. The "old grads" have curbed the younger officials and the Harvard conservatives are trying to get the officials who acted in so peppery a manner to Yale last week to make an effort to smooth it over. Head Coach Bill Reid of Harvard has sent word unofficially to a Yale personal friend that his action has been misunderstood and that he hopes Yale and Harvard will always meet and be the best of friends.

YALE RECEIPTS REACH $65,000

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Yale's entire football receipts for this season will be about $65,000. From the Yale-Harvard game each university took away about $32,000 and from the Yale-Princeton match the rivals each secured about $13,500. Yale's only other big game was the contest with Brown, in which she made about $2,000. The minor games will, however, bring the total up to more than $60,000.

Northwestern Dents Are Victors.

The Northwestern Dents yesterday defeated the Chicago Dents at Washington park, 5 to 0, and now claim the championship of the professional college teams, as the side has not been defeated this season. The game was close, although Northwestern kept the ball in the Chicago's territory most of the time.

Callicrate Elected Captain.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Dominick Callicrate of South Bend, Ind., who played half back this fall, was tonight elected to captain Notre Dame's 1907 football team. Football monograms were awarded to Beacom Callicrate, Bracken, Sheehan, Miller, Munson, Eggeman, Dolan, Bervey, Hutsell, Waldorf, and Diener. Ten of this year's regulars will return next year, but it is rumored Coach Berry, who worked such wonders with the squad, will quit the coaching business.

Practicing to Play Massillon.

Several of the men who will play on the college team Thursday against the Massillon eleven were at practice yesterday at the south side ball park. Heston, Schulte, Wellinghoff, Robinson, Hare, and Munros among them.

Evanston Academy Schedules Game.

Fast Game by Cline.

New York, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Harry Cline averaged 25 tonight in the 18.2 shortstop tournament and beat Charles Peterson, who was little more than a spectator. Cline was one inning short of tying Cutler's record average for the tournament. Score:

Cline—56, 0, 44, 0, 3, 42, 71, 29, 15, 0, 6, 16, 109, 6, 1, 1. Total, 400. Average, 25. High runs, 109, 71, 56.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 26.—The case of Billy Nolan, manager of Battling Nelson, was today continued until Dec. 4, Nolan being detained elsewhere by business. Nolan was charged in a Chicago warrant with being a fugitive from justice and with withholding several thousands of dollars of the money derived from the exhibition of the films of the Gans-Nelson fight.

FOUR FIRST CHOICES WIN.

TALENT HAS PROFITABLE DAY AT FAIR GROUNDS.

Quartet of Favorites Reward Backers in a Card That Develops Keen Sport—Feature Event at One Mile Goes to St. Valentine, Jack Dolan, Well Backed, Finishing Second—Cella Crowd Plunges on Cora Price and Loses.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Four favorites rewarded the confidence of a more than ordinary large Monday crowd at the fair grounds. Contention in the majority of the events was keen, and while some of the winners crossed under the wire by comfortable margins none of the events was in the nature of a gift.

St. Valentine, seen at the last meeting here in the colors of Willie Shields, but now in the stable of Capt. Thomas Capo, won the most pretentious event of the day, the mile, and fourth on the card. Jack Dolan, the one most fancied, finished second, with Dr. Spruell third. The latter forced the pace for St. Valentine to the far turn by a narrow margin. Approaching the stretch bend Gannon, who had the mount, let out a link on St. Valentine and forging away quickly he held his field safe for the remainder of the way. Jack Dolan, well up all the way, finished fast through the stretch and disposed of Dr. Spruell for the place, but was not good enough to take the measure of the winner.

Plunge by Cella Crowd.

The fifth race, at five and a half furlongs, was noticeable for the plunge the Cella combination made on the fleet eastern filly, Cora Price. Cora, however, broke badly and was never prominent in the running, while Glamor made a runaway affair of the race and led home the western colt, Beau Brummell, by a safe margin.

Gladiator, a castoff from the Streett stable, carried tons of money in the third race, notwithstanding the presence of the old campaigner, Little Scout, and made good in a hard drive, with Safety Light and Oberon filling the other two positions.

Buren Arnold, with Nicol in the saddle, won the opening dash, Whippoorwill took second from the resurrected Kohinoor, and Col. Bartlett was the best of the field in the closing dash. Summaries:

First race, ⅝ mile—Buren Arnold, 110 pounds [Nicol], 3 to 2, won; Windfall, 110 [J. Hennessy], 7 to 2, second; Spider Web, 110 [Troxler], 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:01 3-5. Quince, Mazie O'Neill, Duchess of Montebello, Isabel Aintree, Suada, Reine Regent, Electrice, Ludia, Miss Parker, Flora Dear, and Cuban Star ran.

Second race, ¾ mile—Whippoorwill, 127 pounds [Nicol], 4 to 5, won; Kohinoor, 122 [Mountain], 20 to 1, second; Adbell, 125 [Cherry], 5 to 2, third. Time, 1:14 2-5. Optional, Arabo, and King Wilda ran.

Third race, 1¼ miles, selling—Gladiator, 104 pounds [Aubuchon], 7 to 2, won; Safety Light, 104 [Mountain], 6 to 1, second; Oberon, 92 [Dalby], 30 to 1, third. Time, 2:08. Little Scout, Sanction, Liddon, Cashier, Royal Arms, and Leader ran.

Fourth race, 1 mile—St. Valentine, 110 pounds [Gannon], 2 to 1, won; Jack Dolan, 104 [D. Austin], 9 to 5, second; Dr. Spruill, 105 [C. Morris], 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:40 1-5. King Ellsworth, Beecher, Old Stone, Dromio, and Fred Hornbeck ran.

Fifth race, 11-16 mile—Glamor, 102 pounds [J. Hennessy], 7 to 5, won; Beau Brummel, 102 [C. Fisher], 5 to 1, second; Morales, 105 [Seder], 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:07 1-5. Solly M., Voting, Fire Alarm, Phantom Light, Cora Price, L. S. B., Elixir, Pontus, and Monere ran.

Sixth race, 1 1-16 miles, selling—Col. Bartlett, 103 pounds [Garner], 4 to 5, won; Dr. McCluer, 92 [Martin], 6 to 1, second; Merry Belle, 92 [Burton], 13 to 5, third. Time, 1:49. Bourke Cockran, Mint Sauce, Fenian, Hickory Corners, Happy Jack, and Mae Lynch ran.

Jockey Carl Mitchell, who has been riding for the last few seasons in Europe, was granted a license to ride during the meeting.

PRETENSION FIRST TO WIRE.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—The finish of the first race at Bennings today was an interesting feature of the racing. The contest was between Pretension, Avaunter, and Dolly Spanker, the first two being even favorites in the betting, but Horner on Pretension landed first, with Miller on Avaunter second. Lord of the Vale, an odds-on favorite on Friday, but 8 to 1 today, finished fourth, behind Dolly Spanker. The time was but one second slower than the record for the course.

Garter Knot and Pioneer, the favorites in the steeplechase, fell, the race going to Caloorahatchee at 20 to 1. Twenty-four horses faced the starter in the fourth event. Jockey Miller today rode two winners and was placed once out of four mounts. Summaries:

First race, handicap, 13-16 mile—Pretension, 124 pounds [Horner], 11 to 5, won; Avaunteer, 110 [Miller], 11 to 5, second; Dolly Spanker, 117 [Notter], 2 to 1, third. Time, 1:22. Lord of the Vale and Twister ran.

CLOSE FINISHES IN COAST RACES.

UPSET IN ONE CONTEST.

E. M. Brattain Springs Surprise by Beating Van Ness by Narrow Margin.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Close finishes marked the sport at Emeryville this afternoon. Five out of six races were won by a nose or a head. Native Son was the only horse which had an easy victory.

One of the biggest surprises of the day was the defeat of Van Ness by E. M. Brattain. The talent figured the route was a little far for the gray sprinter, but he took the lead and never was headed, although Van Ness came dangerously close to catching him.

Royal Rogue was played for a "killing" in the fourth race, being backed down from 5 to 1 to 5 to 2, but Mansard just did beat him.

Proper has been assigned top weight in the Thanksgiving handicap with 122 pounds. Logistilla has 121, and Borghesi 116.

Colored Fighter Meets "Tex" Rickard at Depot and Discusses Nolan's Action in Withholding Picture Receipts—Says He Will Stand with Nevada Promoter and Work to Secure Money if Nelson's Manager Is Forced to Go to Jail.

[BY GEORGE SILER.]

Joe Gans, lightweight champion of the world, passed through town last evening en route for Tonopah, Nev., where on Jan. 1 he is to meet "Kid" Herman of Chicago in a finish fight for the championship and a purse of $20,000. Gans was in a hurry to get to the scene of his coming encounter and had arranged with "Tex" Rickard to meet him at the depot to talk over the picture money it is claimed Billy Nolan is holding out. He says he has sunk $3,938 in the picture for films, etc., and as yet has not received a penny in return.

"Tex" informed him of what he had done to Nolan and that he intended taking the case into the federal courts. It probably will eat up all the profits, he told Joe, to which the champion said: "I am in so far and may as well go the limit. I feel as you do about it, 'Tex,' and I am willing to string with you to make Nolan settle or to send him to jail."

After the picture business had been thoroughly thrashed out, Rickard talked fight, saying he would hang up $30,000 for a return match between Gans and Nelson, provided Nelson will drop Nolan. "I do not care about doing any more business with Nolan, and will post a forfeit of $10,000 immediately for you and 'Bat' to fight a teither Goldfields or Ely, the new copper country, on July 4."

Will Fight if Nolan Is Dropped.

Joe replied: "I stated a few days ago that my coming fight with Herman would be my last, much as I would like to give Nelson a return match. I stated my terms to Nolan, but they did not suit him. He wanted to match under the same conditions which prevailed at Goldfield, but that was asking too much, so I turned him down and matched with Herman. However, if Nelson will drop Nolan I will fight him again and give him much better terms than they gave me."

Rickard will make efforts to communicate with Nelson, and if "Bat" will throw Nolan overboard he can get the match he says he is seeking. Gans said when he matched with the "Kid" he considered him easy picking, but he has heard such favorable reports of Herman's abilities as a fighter he has come to the conclusion he will have a fight on his hands when he meets him in the ring at Tonopah.

Rickard will make another effort today to bring Nolan to time, and failing he will show him no mercy. Yesterday he wired Charles Dixon at San Francisco, treasurer of the picture company, to bring on all the books, statements, and receipts of the company, and hopes to have Nolan indicted in the federal court for embezzlement.

Sign Articles at Tonopah.

Tonopah, Nev., Nov. 26.—Articles were signed here today by representatives of Joe Gans and "Kid" Herman and the Casino Athletic club for a finish fight for the lightweight championship of the world, to take place at Tonopah on New Year's day, for a purse of $20,000. Each party agreed to post a forfeit of $5,000. Should either of the contestants be overweight he is to forfeit $2,000 to his opponent. Graney, Jeffries, Siler, Bat Masterson, and Jack Welch were talked of for referee, and one of these will be chosen. Herman will start work on Wednesday.

Piles Cured

Trial Package Mailed Free to All Who Send Name and Address.

"I tried the sample of your cure you sent to me. I used it and then bought a 50c box. The results were immediate and surprising to me. I assure you, I had been to a dozen of the best doctors and paid much money to them with no results whatever. I had this affliction for 20 years. I was in a hospital for a long time, and I left it physically broken down. I have been so bad for months at a time as to be unable to walk. Having a friend who lost his life by an operation, I desisted from ever having that experiment tried on me. I owe you a debt of gratitude. I believe that piles would be banished from humanity and become an unknown thing, were every one afflicted with them to but spend from 50c to $1.00 for Pyramid Pile Cure. Its speedy action also makes it extremely favorable for impatient people. I am yours sincerely, George H. Bartlett, Mattapan, Mass."

Instant relief can be gotten by using the marvelous Pyramid Pile Cure. It immediately reduces all congestion and swelling, heals all sores, ulcers and irritated parts.

The moment you start to use it your suffering ends and the cure of your dread disease is in sight.

THE STEGER PIANOLENO. [Inside player.]
To strike the keys of the piano mechanically might be ordinarily accomplished, but to get the expression, the delicate shading of touch and tempo; in fact, to interpret the great works of masters without touching the keys of the piano with the fingers seems almost inconceivable, yet you, without any musical knowledge whatever, with the aid of a perforated music roll and mechanical guides and levers placed in the piano obtain all the pleasure of music that is given to those who have made it a lifelong study.

IN THE FINANCIAL WORLD.

GOOD BUYING OF CORN PRODUCTS REFINING STOCKS.

Plans for Construction of New Plant at Summit Expected to Be Announced Shortly—Western Electric Earnings Large—Chicago Edison Shares Show Some Firmness—N. W. "L" 4s Quoted at 90¼—Some Trading in Issues of Union Traction.

Buying of Corn Products Refining stocks in the last week is regarded as good. It is expected the company will shortly announce plans for the construction of its new plant at Summit, on the drainage canal. No announcement of an official character has been made, but conditions point to the probability of Summit being chosen. It has water and transportation facilities and other features in its favor as a location for a glucose plant.

The company necessarily is making large earnings, owing to the relatively high prices it receives for glucose, and, but for the necessity which has developed for improving to the utmost the company's plants, the 7 per cent dividend on the preferred would have been paid promptly. As good business men as the Standard Oil men are credited to be, they yet got something of a gold brick in the Corn Products company. They found that statements of the condition of some of the plants were wide of the mark. The Chicago plant has been abandoned, and large expenditures have been entailed on others. When the Corn Products Refining began operating it intended to begin and continue to pay the regular preferred dividend. Then, when it was reduced from a 7 to a 4 per cent rate, it was thought the deferred dividend would be paid in full at the time of the last quarterly distribution. But more expenses had to be met, and payment was again deferred. If the back dividends are not paid in the immediate future it will be because of immediate needs for cash. The total due is much more than earned. As to the common stock, no great value attaches to it. The insiders do not claim it is anything better than water, and as to the matter of earnings growing up to it, that is a long time in the future.

December Disbursements.

It is estimated by the New York Journal of Commerce that December disbursements for interest will reach a total of $70,928,010.

The number of corporations, with amounts to be paid, are given as follows: 118 railroads, $22,716,206; twenty-six public service corporations, $4,119,741; seventeen industrial and miscellaneous corporations, $28,013,210; the Standard Oil will pay $9,750,000.

New York State Banks.

The New York Clearing House association has compiled a statement of the condition of the banks of greater New York, as shown by their official statements to the superintendent of banking on Nov. 14, 1906. Comparisons are made with the figures of the call of Aug. 6, as follows:

Western Electric Earnings.

The New York Financial Chronicle prints an authoritative statement concerning the business of the Western Electric company in which it says:

"The company's average sales this year have been about $5,200,000 a month as compared with $3,700,000 a month in 1905. The business now is decreasing somewhat because of the continued high prices of raw materials, which consumers regard as unwarranted, and the high interest rates. The company's shops now are able, without difficulty, to keep up with its orders on all but a few minor articles. The issued capital stock is $15,000,000, and for the increased business it has been necessary to increase the indebtedness, although the accounts receivable are no larger in proportion to the sales than usual."

Dividends Declared.

Directors of the Copper Range Consolidated declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 and an extra dividend of 50c per share. The last dividend was $1.50. Dividend is payable Dec. 22. Books close Dec. 3.

The Federal Mining and Smelting company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on preferred stock and the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on common stock, and an extra dividend of 3½ per cent on common stock. This is an increase in the extra dividend of 1 per cent over the extra dividend for the previous quarter. The quarterly dividend on common will equal 5 per cent, or a basis of 20 per cent per annum. All the dividends are payable Dec. 15. Books close Nov. 30 and reopen Dec. 10.

General Financial News.

It is a speculation in Wall street that the United States Steel corporation may become a purchaser of Great Northern ore trust certificates. The certificates have been selling around 80. As the holder of the certificates the company would turn back to itself the profits accruing to those certificates through the steel company's purchases of ore.

The output of the Mohawk mines in the Goldfield district for 150 days was $5,075,919. It is estimated that the production of the leases will be $4,588,000. The company announces its stock will be listed and will shortly begin paying dividends at the rate of 10 per cent per annum.

It is reported that the Amalgamated Copper company will take over the holdings of Senator Clark in the Butte district. The original mine owned by Mr. Clark is now passing a lean streak.

The Electric Company of America will be taken over by the American Gas and Electric company. New York interests are back of the new company and an official announcement is expected daily.

Wallet of Information.

The Economist has issued its wallet of information. It has the latest statistics bearing upon railroads and industrial corporations. It is presented in a convenient and attractive form.

Chicago Stocks.

In the local stock market business was moderately active. Chicago-Edison shares showed some firmness. The buying was credited to a firm which has good information concerning Edison affairs. However, no new developments are announced. The speculation in United Boxboard issues was less active. The preferred was steady.

The street railroad issues were rather quiet. Northwestern L 4s were quoted at 90¼. West Chicago first mortgage 5s sold at 85. There was some trading in Union Traction issues. Reports of North and West street railway companies furnish an indication of how valuable Union Traction securities should be considered based upon earnings.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Money was not plentiful in the market today, a heavy call for Canadian Pacific shares and the settlement requirements restricting supplies and keeping rates firm. Discounts were fairly steady.

Operations on the stock exchange were principally interested in the mining carryover, but a moderate amount of activity prevailed in British securities, which hardened fractionally.

Americans advanced to slightly above parity in the forenoon. Later prices hardened and closed firm. Missouri, Kansas and Texas was the feature of the American section. Home rails were neglected and foreigners were irregular. Japanese imperial 6s of 1904 closed at 100¼.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—French rentes weakened on the bourse today, owing to fears of complications in Morocco. Russian imperial 4s closed at 75.75 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 402.00.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—The tone on the bourse today opened hesitatingly, but repurchases of the securities of iron foundries caused a slight recovery.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Heavy receipts of live stock yesterday weakened prices in hogs and cattle. Hogs were 5c to 10c lower, although some of the best stuff was disposed of readily toward the close at $6.25. Cattle sold at 10c to 15c below the prices of the best days last week. A steady tone, however, marked the trade in the best offerings. The sheep market was slow on account of the poor quality of most of the stuff received. The receipts were: Cattle, 38,000; hogs, 42,000; sheep, 38,000.

EIGHT JURORS ACCEPTED TO TRY GEORGE M'REYNOLDS

Former Grain Dealer's Trial on Charge of Fraudulent Practices Opens in the Court of Judge Mack.

Eight jurors were accepted yesterday to try George S. McReynolds, accused of fraudulently removing from his elevators grain which was collected for loans. The amount lost in those transactions by various banks and financiers was, it is said, more than $200,000.

Among the witnesses for the state will be Bankers John J. Mitchell, Charles L. Hutchinson, Ernest A. Hamill, Byron L. Smith, and E. A. Potter.

Mrs. McReynolds appeared in Judge Mack's court with her husband. She wore a handsome walking gown of what appeared to be expensive material. She also wore a handsome bit of point lace and a gold buckle belt. She paid close attention to the questions asked of the jurors. Questions most frequently asked by Colin C. H. Fyffe, counsel for defendant, were:

"Have you a bank account?"

"Did you ever lose any money in a bank failure?"

"Are you prejudiced against people of rank in the social world?"

NEW CLEWS IN DELANEY CASE.

Two Women Will Testify Man Was in Chop Suey Resort a Few Hours Before Double Tragedy.

Two women will testify at the inquest over the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Delaney, to be held Friday, that they were with Mr. Delaney in a chop suey resort in Clark street until after 3 o'clock last Friday morning, a few hours before he was shot by his wife in their flat at 494 La Salle avenue.

The women, who gave the names of Mrs. A. C. Jacques and Mrs. Fredericks, said Delaney was intoxicated and showed them $5, saying it was all he had in the world and that he had borrowed that.

The information strengthens the police theory that jealousy was the cause of the double tragedy.

Charles E. Brown of Wills Point, Tex., father of Mrs. Delaney, told the police yesterday that he was not surprised that his daughter had killed her husband, as she was a woman of ungovernable temper, who often gave way to fits of passion. He said he had warned Delaney against marrying his daughter, as she had extravagant tastes which he knew Delaney could not satisfy.

Following a suggestion of weakness [at the] start, caused largely by the continue[d] dating of the December, wheat pu[lled] bolder front yesterday, closing at sli[ght ad]vance over the previous final quo[tations]. Trading in the early hour was feat[ureless], but as the session became older stre[ngth]ening influence developed from a growin[g specu]lative demand and an improved [inquiry] from investment buyers. Continued l[ight re]ceipts at the principal northwestern [markets] also served as a check to bearish agg[res]ness. A factor which figured strongly [in in]creasing of nervousness in short circ[les was] the surprisingly large seaboard cle[arances] for the day. A part of the day's g[ain was] clipped by an unexpectedly large inc[rease in] the visible supply. Final prices show[ed] ⅛c for December, 1-16c higher for M[ay, and] ⅛c stronger for July.

Wheat Shows Early Recover[y].

The early operations in wheat were [marked] by declines of about ⅛@¼c from th[e pre]vious closing quotations. The liquida[tion of] the nearby month, however, soo[n was] checked in their selling by good abs[orption] from scattered commission houses. Th[e May] option felt some little effect from th[e pres]sure on the December, but it was no[t long] before the offerings of the more [distant] future tightened up sufficiently to [cause] nervousness among the shorts. Pit off[erings] became more scanty as the session [pro]gressed, until the visible supply figure[s were] given out, when enough long stuff ca[me out] to shade the gain in value.

Receipts at Duluth and Minneapol[is for] the day were 707 cars, compared t[o ...] cars the corresponding day last year[. Pri]mary receipts also fell short of th[ose of] last year by about 200,000 bu, whil[e the] week's world's shipments were in exc[ess of] the estimate, they were large enough—1[...] 000 bu—to create a selling sentiment at [the] pool. The exports for the similar peri[od last] year were 13,312,000 bu. The bulls att[ached] some significance to the fact that a [large] part of the comparative decrease w[as in] the showing by Russia and the D[anube]. Supplies on ocean passage decrease[d ...] 000 bu.

Big Exports Are Reported.

Local shorts took freely to the buyin[g side] when a big operator, recently identified [with] a flurry here and at Minneapolis, bou[ght on] a liberal scale. This nervousness w[as ac]centuated by the report that more than [...] 000 bu of wheat and flour had been exp[orted]. The upturn was halted by the visible [supply] statement, which showed an increa[se of] 2,275,000 bu, compared to a gain of 2[...] bu last year. The unexpected increas[e was] attributed largely to the big supplies [held] for the east, in boats at lake ports.

The northwest reported quite g[eneral] snows, the conditions lending to the [belief] that shipments from the farms will [at] this time approach the predicted large[...] mate. Colder weather, however, is l[ooked] for, and with the roads hardened the [...] figure that the farmers' offerings w[ill be] more liberal. Local receipts were 31 [cars,] slightly under the estimate, of which 6 g[raded] contract. There was not much to the [...] situation here, grain at the tables being [for] sale. In the northwest, however, prem[iums] for the spot article were maintained.

Corn Displays More Firmness.

Factors which worked for firmne[ss in] corn were unfavorable weather, ligh[t re]ceipts, unwillingness of farmers to s[ell at] the present values offered them, and [in]adequate supply of cars to move the [grain] offered, and a general feeling among s[hort]s that these conditions might presage a [some]thing of a reaction. The most chara[cter]istic feature of the market was the aro[using] of the spirit of support. Business in [the] pits was plainly more voluminous, [...] active, broader. The December met [with] good favor. The support to this month [was] based somewhat on the light stocks a[nd] what appeared to be an oversold cond[ition]. Another factor which worked for strength of the nearby month was a [pre]diction from cash circles that the possi[bility] of December's overtaking the May wa[s] altogether remote.

Liverpool closed ⅛d up, and corn a[t the] sample tables ruled ¼@½c higher, wit[h] offerings moderate and the general de[mand] good. The visible supply statement sh[owed] an increase of 120,000 bu. Clearances [at the] seaboard were 256,000 bu. Accordi[ng to] Broomhall, the world's shipments last [week] were 3,769,000 bu, compared to 3,493,0[00 bu in] the similar period last year. Suppli[es on] ocean passage increased 511,000 bu. [Local] receipts were 169 cars, of which 18 g[raded] contract, somewhat under the esti[mate]. Final pit prices were ⅝c higher for Decem[ber], ¼@⅜c higher for May, and about ¼c h[igher] for July.

Shorts Support Oats Market.

It was apparent soon after the start [that] there was an oversold condition in the [oats] market. Aside from the covering of sh[orts], new investors lent to the support, w[hich] finally gave values a shade of improve[ment] over previous final quotations. The [...] saw gains of 1-16@⅛c. Developing stre[ngth] in the corn market had a salutary infl[uence] on this market. Moreover, values at the [sam]ple tables were boosted ¼@⅛c despit[e the] fact that easterners still were incline[d to] hold off for lower prices. Late in the [ses]sion some profit taking was indulged i[n on] the report that shipments from Nebr[aska] soon would assume more pretentious pr[opor]tions. Seaboard clearances were unim[por]tant at 8,000 bu. Local receipts wer[e ...] cars, of which 44 graded standard, or 9 [...] under the estimate. Shorts in the oats [mar]ket apparently were more disturbed tha[n for] some time past. The visible supply s[tate]ment showed an increase of 1,414,000 b[u].

Provisions Have a Rally.

A bare shade of easiness characte[rized] operations in the market for hog prod[ucts] at the start. The bare shading of values [was] attributed largely to comparatively [...] liberal receipts of hogs and to a pronou[nced] break in values at the yards. The s[...] spots, however, found speculators and inv[est]ment buyers willing to take on a mo[der]ate scale. Late in the session some of the [buy]ers were found on the selling side, [and] gains were not held, as a result of this [pres]sure. Hog receipts at the principal wes[tern] points were 79,300, compared to 83,900 [the] corresponding day in 1905. Shipments [of] meats and lard hence were 2,032,000 lbs [and] 1,346,000 lbs respectively, under those [a] year before. Principal attention was g[iven] by the buyers to January pork and Nov[em]ber lard, in the latter of which congestion [was] undisguised. Final prices showed about [...] higher for pork, 2½@13¼c higher for lard, [and] 2½@5c higher for ribs. At one time the [...] November lard was slightly above 30c [...].

Rye Market Is Strong.

The rye market developed a strong [tone] and prices at the close were ½c higher [for] futures. Offerings were small, while the [de]mand seemed to be urgent. WHEAT HAS SLIGHT GAIN.

SHORTS ARE PROMPTED TO COVER ON BULLISH NEWS.

After Shade of Easiness Early Market Is Bolstered by Good Buying for Speculative and Investment Account—Big Exports Are Reported—Visible Increase Larger—Light Receipts and Bad Weather Aid Corn Mart—Oats Display Firm Tone.

Following a suggestion of weakness at the start, caused largely by the continued liquidating of the December, wheat put on a bolder front yesterday, closing at slight advance over the previous final quotations. Trading in the early hour was featureless, but as the session became older strengthening influence developed from a growing speculative demand and an improved support from investment buyers. Continued light receipts at the principal northwestern points also served as a check to bearish aggressiveness. A factor which figured strongly in the creating of nervousness in short circles was the surprisingly large seaboard clearances for the day. A part of the day's gain was clipped by an unexpectedly large increase in the visible supply. Final prices showed ⅛@¼c for December, 1-16c higher for May, and ⅛c stronger for July.

Wheat Shows Early Recovery.

The early operations in wheat were marked by declines of about ⅛@¼c from the previous closing quotations. The liquidators of the nearby month, however, soon were checked in their selling by good absorption from scattered commission houses. The May option felt some little effect from the pressure on the December, but it was not long before the offerings of the more distant future tightened up sufficiently to create nervousness among the shorts. Pit offerings became more scanty as the session progressed, until the visible supply figures were given out, when enough long stuff came out to shade the gain in value.

Receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis for the day were 707 cars, compared to 1,122 cars the corresponding day last year. Primary receipts also fell short of those of last year by about 200,000 bu, while last week's world's shipments were in excess of the estimate, they were large enough—11,240,000 bu—to create a selling sentiment at Liverpool. The exports for the similar period last year were 13,312,000 bu. The bulls attached some significance to the fact that a good part of the comparative decrease was in the showing by Russia and the Danube. Supplies on ocean passage decreased 224,000 bu.

Big Exports Are Reported.

Local shorts took freely to the buying side when a big operator, recently identified with a flurry here and at Minneapolis, bought on a liberal scale. This nervousness was accentuated by the report that more than 1,000,000 bu of wheat and flour had been exported. The upturn was halted by the visible supply statement, which showed an increase of 2,275,000 bu, compared to a gain of 2,213,000 bu last year. The unexpected increase was attributed largely to the big supplies, headed for the east, in boats at lake ports.

The northwest reported quite general snows, the conditions lending to the belief that shipments from the farms will not at this time approach the predicted larger estimate. Colder weather, however, is looked for, and with the roads hardened the bears figure that the farmers' offerings will be more liberal. Local receipts were 31 cars, slightly under the estimate, of which 6 graded contract. There was not much to the cash situation here, grain at the tables being slow sale. In the northwest, however, premiums for the spot article were maintained.

Corn Displays More Firmness.

Factors which worked for firmness in corn were unfavorable weather, light receipts, unwillingness of farmers to sell at the present values offered them, and an inadequate supply of cars to move the grain offered, and a general feeling among shorts that these conditions might presage something of a reaction. The most characteristic feature of the market was the arousing of the spirit of support. Business in the pits was plainly more voluminous, more active, broader. The December met with good favor. The support to this month was based somewhat on the light stocks and on what appeared to be an oversold condition. Another factor which worked for the strength of the nearby month was a prediction from cash circles that the possibility of December's overtaking the May was not altogether remote.

Liverpool closed ¼d up, and corn at the sample tables ruled ¼@½c higher, with the offerings moderate and the general demand good. The visible supply statement showed an increase of 120,000 bu. Clearances at the seaboard were 256,000 bu. According to Broomhall, the world's shipments last week were 3,769,000 bu, compared to 3,493,000 bu the similar period last year. Supplies on ocean passage increased 511,000 bu. Local receipts were 169 cars, of which 18 graded contract, somewhat under the estimate. Final pit prices were ⅝c higher for December, ⅝@¾c higher for May, and about ¼c higher for July.

Shorts Support Oats Market.

It was apparent soon after the start that there was an oversold condition in the oats market. Aside from the covering of shorts, new investors lent to the support, which finally gave values a shade of improvement over previous final quotations. The finish saw gains of 1-16@⅛c. Developing strength in the corn market had a salutary influence on this market. Moreover, values at the sample tables were boosted ¼@½c despite the fact that easterners still were inclined to hold off for lower prices. Late in the session some profit taking was indulged in on the report that shipments from Nebraska soon would assume more pretentious proportions. Seaboard clearances were unimportant at 3,000 bu. Local receipts were 294 cars, of which 44 graded standard, or 9 cars under the estimate. Shorts in the oats market apparently were more disturbed than for some time past. The visible supply statement showed an increase of 1,414,000 bu.

Provisions Have a Rally.

A bare shade of easiness characterized operations in the market for hog products at the start. The bare shading of values was attributed largely to comparatively more liberal receipts of hogs and to a pronounced break in values at the yards. The softer spots, however, found speculators and investment buyers willing to take on on a modest scale. Late in the session some of the buyers were found on the selling side. Full gains were not held, as a result of this pressure. Hog receipts at the principal western points were 79,300, compared to 83,900 the corresponding day in 1905. Shipments of meats and lard hence were 2,032,000 lbs and 1,246,000 lbs respectively, under those of a year before. Principal attention was given by the buyers to January pork and November lard, in the latter of which congestion was undisguised. Final prices showed about 2½c higher for pork, 2½@13½c higher for lard, and 2½@5c higher for ribs. At one time the gain in November lard was slightly above 30c.

Rye Market Is Strong.

The rye market developed a strong tone, and prices at the close were ½c higher for futures. Offerings were small, while the demand seemed to be urgent. No. 2 free on board sold at 67¼@70c; No. 3, 65@68c; No. 4, 60c. November was 64½c bid. December sold at 65c and May at 67@67¼c. The visible supply increased 2,000 bu. Local stocks showed a loss of 8,000 bu for the week. Receipts were 13 cars.

Barley was steady. The visible supply showed a gain of 186,000 bu. Receipts were 42 cars. Feed was quoted 42c; malting, 45@55c; screenings, 30@43c.

Flaxseed was quoted unchanged: No. 1 northwestern was $1.19; No. 1, $1.11; November, $1.11, and May, $1.13½. Receipts were 8 cars here; 94 cars at Minneapolis, and 95 cars at Duluth.

Timothy seed was firm. Country lots of cash seed were quoted $3.00@4.10; November was quoted $4.30; December, $4.35, and March sold at $4.50.

Clover seed was dull, with contract spot seed at $13.40, and country lots $8.50@13.00.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

"From present indications it does not look as if the majority of winter wheat millers would be urgent buyers of wheat for some time," said a leading cash grain man. "In all sections where the crops were good and proper financial arrangemens were made millers have loaded up with stocks of wheat sufficiently to make them practically independent of the primary markets for some time. The wheat thus stored has been secured in the territory directly tributary to towns where the mills are located, and up to this time in many instances the mills have not been obliged to draw heavily on their stores, as current receipts have been sufficient to supply their needs up to the present. Some of the larger mills have in store from 500,000 to 800,000 bu of wheat, and in a great many instances the country mills have enough on hand, with current receipts, to enable them to run from now until the new crop, while still more can run for at least three months. Millers throughout the winter wheat country are less dependent on the primary markets for wheat this year than has been the case in a number of years. This situation is responsible to a great degree for the slow demand for cash wheat in this market. While offerings here are not large, they seem to be sufficient to take care of what little demand there is."

"I have just seen some pictures of wheat piled on the ground and fenced in at New Rockford, N. D., on account of elevators being filled and no place to store the wheat. This condition does not exist alone at this particular station but in many points in North and South Dakota," said W. N. Hopkins of Kenkel-Hopkins Co. of Minneapolis in a letter to A. J. White & Co. "The congestion of our railway transportation up here is utterly unprecedented. Probably this is true to a certain extent all over the country, but more particularly acute in the northwest on account of being in the midst of our heaviest crop movement. It is probable that December wheat may command a fancy price here if this condition continues, but we have every reason to believe from assurances of the transportation companies that a vigorous effort will be made to increase receipts in December, which, if successful, will dissipate any fear of failure to deliver wheat on December contracts."

Discussion of the commission rule was the all absorbing topic on the board yesterday and there seemed to be as much variance of opinion as to the situation as at any time heretofore. Several proposed amendments have been submitted relative to the rule, and several more, it is understood, will be submitted at the meeting of the association to be held tomorrow. A large number of members are in favor of having that part of the rule relating to commissions, and that in regard to brokerage voted on separately. Even on this question, however, sentiment seems to be hopelessly divided. A considerable element among the commission house people, while they are in favor of placing the commission rates back on the old basis, think that if brokers are employed on brokerage the charges for transacting the business should be cut also. The pit brokers take the other view of the question and want the brokerage to remain as it now is.

Choice wheat met with a moderate sale in the cash market, but there was said to be less demand for spring wheat and soft red winter, with prices for these grades relatively ¼@1c lower. Other grades were steady. Several of the recent urgent buyers were out of the market. The export situation was unchanged, no business being reported either here or at the seaboard. Premiums for No. 1 northern at Minneapolis were unchanged at 4½@5c over December, with a good demand from millers. Southwestern markets were slow and practically unchanged. Cash corn was ¼@½c higher. Shipping sales were small. Oats were steady to ¼c up, with a moderate demand. Receivers claim that there soon will be increased receipts from Nebraska. Local sales were 15,000 bu wheat, 80,000 bu corn, and 100,000 bu oats.

There was further liquidation of December wheat at the outset yesterday, but it was not important. Elevator interests changed quite a little wheat from December to May, and Wrenn changed a little May to December. Comstock and Gebhart bought moderately, and on the advance some of the shorts came in. Lake, A. S. White, and Valentine were credited with selling on the advance. Corn shorts were uneasy, and buying was principally from that source. Marfield bought December and sold May. Bartlett-Frazier also bought December and sold May. Nickells, Comstock, and Ware-Leland were fair buyers. Peavey was about the best seller of May oats. Buying was chiefly by scattered commission houses. Bartlett-Frazier were on the buying side of pork. The large packers sold lard on the bulge.

World's wheat shipments were larger than expected, but were still about 2,000,000 bu less than those of the corresponding week last year. The quantity of breadstuffs shipped for orders was 896,000 bu, compared to 1,220,000 bu the previous week, and 1,872,000 bu a year ago. Comparative shipments follow:

The big increase was on the lakes, which showed a gain of 1,827,000 bu. N. Y. MARKET IRREGULAR.

TRADING IN STOCKS LIGHT AND MOST ISSUES SHOW LOSS.

Uncertainty Regarding the Intentions of the Powerful Operators Behind the Movements Causes All but the Professionals to Remain Out of the Day's Dealings—Great Northern, St. Paul, and Union Pacific Suffer Because of Fears.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—[Special.]—Uncertainty as to the intentions of powerful operators behind the stock market had an unsettling effect on the entire list on the exchange today and caused all traders except the professionals to keep out of the transactions. This brought about a falling off in the amount of business done.

During the first hours of trading there was some show of strength and professionals bought heavily for awhile, until a further drop in Great Northern Ore rights "when issued" caused a droop throughout the list. St. Paul and Union Pacific suffered especially in company with Great Northern preferred, and the price level during the afternoon went below Saturday's closing. Slight rallies on short covering left the closing tone irregular.

Missouri, Kansas and Texas showed some special strength on the supposition that the stock was being bought for control and connection by a larger system.

The call money market relaxed and no immediate pressure was enforced on the stock market on that account.

The movement of currency to San Francisco continues, $500,000 being transferred to that point through the subtreasury today, and precedents indicate that this movement may reach several million dollars. Further shipments to the cotton regions also are likely.

The position of the Bank of England continues to grow stronger. The tone of London financial comment shows, however, that a possible renewal of a demand for gold from New York is as much dreaded as a complicating factor in that market as that from any other source.

Bonds were heavy. Total sales, par value, $1,458,000. United States 2s registered declined ¼ per cent on call.

Prime mercantile paper, 6@6½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 485.70@485.75 for demand and at 480.50 and 480.55 for sixty day bills. Posted rates, 481½ and 486½. Commercial bills, 480¼. Bar silver, 70. Mexican dollars, 54. Government bonds easy. Railroad bonds heavy. Money on call firm, 4@6 per cent; ruling rate, 5¾; closing bid, 4; offered at 4½. Time loans firm; sixty days, 7½; ninety days, 7@7½; six months, 6 bid.

ROOSEVELT FIR ON NEGRO ISS

CABINET DIVIDES ON

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—[S President Roosevelt is firmly conv the justice of his decision regard wholesale discharge of three comp the Twenty-fifth infantry, who w tioned at Brownsville at the time o turbance there Aug. 13.

Although his action in punishing nocent as well as the guilty is no many with civil law, he believes it sary piece of military discipline sh not modify it, no matter what pub ion may be, unless entirely new presented to him.

He does not care to hear deductio known facts or arguments as to in the matter. He will be glad to any new facts or presentation of ac ditions at Brownsville which are at with official reports on which he b action. The president feels confid in the long run the colored people derstand his action was not in any w upon the race question and to jus belief he points to his persistence ing positions for Crum, Anderson, colored men in spite of the oppo southern senators.

May Issue a Statement.

It is likely the president may is port of statement within a few d ing his conception of the military and necessity he believes existed radical action as the summary disc three whole companies of United S diers because of the action of ten o of them.

The president evidently regrets h standing among colored people and something to show them that h their friend and that his judgme have been much more swift in the white troops. He intimates, in fact delayed final action only because were colored and because some o visers feared that his action would construed by colored people, exact has been misunderstood.

The more serious criticism which from white people in regard to dent's violation of an old legal pri the punishment of men admitted to sent both of deed and guilty knowle not seem to have reached him yet, any event, as explained at the cab so convinced of the wisdom of h that he could not possibly be ma change it so long as the facts remain are now supposed to be.

Little Encouragement for Ne

This statement of the president tion does not afford much encour to colored people. It is not an offic ment in any sense, but merely a gene ning summary of the conversation th dent had with Charles W. Anderson, collector of internal revenue, New and Emmett J. Scott, private secr Booker T. Washington, and subsequ with a number of other people.

The president gave up half an more to the two colored men, but them little or no comfort except to in so many words that if they could any new facts, or if in any way th locate the guilty parties and thus the innocent from the guilty, he would take the matter up, and if he power, of which there may be gra would restore the discharged men places in the army. He insisted, that he did not have the time, nor inclination, to talk the matter over ally.

He directed, therefore, that the pe wished to protest against his actio submit their views in writing and them in the ordinary way through department. He reiterated to all h that his mind was made up on the justice of his order, and that he wo der no consideration, listen to mere tions, theories, or arguments.

Aware of Racial Unrest.

This decision of the president see as nearly final as anything could be, reads in spite of the fact that there traordinary condition of ferment an among colored people throughout t try.

The president was aware of the Senator Tillman was expected to Chicago tonight under police guard. expressed the greatest solicitude le might be some hot heads who would riot, resulting in bloodshed.

The case of the negro troops was d at length at the cabinet meeting toda can be stated with considerable posi that the cabinet is by no means un in sustaining the president. Several lawyers in that body, while recogni necessity of enforcing discipline in t by methods which would not be tolera civil court, think the president went In depriving veteran soldiers of the of repeated enlistments, and particu preventing their filling out the term o which would enable them to retir modest competence for the remai their lives.

This result has been held out to ev dier in the United States army as an ment for reenlisting, and the ground by several of the president's advis It is unfair to deprive a man of his li ances, which is practically what th does, without any trial, without an act on his part, and without any p even suspicion that he had any guilty acts before or after the outbreak lasted for ten minutes at midnight in t ville last August.

Gen. Ainsworth as Factor

The statement was made today in sing the case that the original orders t tigate the outrage and the subsequen were taken by Maj. Gen. Fred C. Ain military secretary of the army. He the matter to be taken up by the offic inspector general and it is the unders around the war department that he, junction with the assistant secretary prepared the papers and presented t to President Roosevelt in such a light felt compelled to take the action he
